b) Lorsqu'une station mobile désire établir la communication sur une onde longue entretenue, avec une autre station du service mobile, elle doit employer l'onde de 143 kc/s (2100 m), à moins qu'il n'en soit indiqué autrement dans la Nomenclature. Cette onde, désignée comme onde de communication générale, doit être employée:

1° Pour la production des appels et des réponses aux appels.

2° Pour la transmission des signaux préalables à la transmission du trafic.

c) Une station mobile, après avoir établi la communication avec une autre station du service mobile, sur l'onde de communication générale, peut transmettre son trafic sur une onde quelconque de la bande autorisée, à condition de ne pas troubler le travail d'une station côtière ou un travail en cours sur l'onde d'appel.

d) En règle générale, toute station mobile équipée pour le service sur ondes longues entretenues et qui n'est pas engagée dans une communication sur une autre onde doit, en vue de permettre l'échange du trafic avec d'autres stations du service mobile, revenir sur l'onde de 143 kc/s (2100m) pendant 10 minutes, du commencement de la 35ᵉ au commencement de la 45ᵉ minute de chaque heure, temps moyen de Greenwich, durant les heures prévues, selon la catégorie à laquelle appartient la station envisagée.

e) (1) Les stations côtières transmettent leurs listes de trafic à des heures déterminées, publiées dans la nomenclature, sur l'onde ou sur les ondes qui leur sont attribuées.

(2) En dehors des heures ainsi fixées pour cette transmission de leurs listes de trafic, les stations côtières peuvent appeler individuellement les stations mobiles, à toute autre heure, selon les circonstances ou le travail qu'elles ont à effectuer. Ces appels individuels peuvent être émis sur l'onde de 143 kc/s (2100m), dans les régions où il n'y a pas congestion de trafic.

f) Les dispositions particulières relatives au service assuré par les stations terrestres équipées en ondes longues entretenues sont précisées dans la nomenclature par un renvoi spécial.

ARTICLE 18.

Installations de secours.

Emergency installations.

§1. La Convention sur la sauvegarde de la vie humaine en mer détermine quels sont les navires qui doivent être pourvus d'une installation de secours, et définit les conditions à remplir par les installations de cette catégorie.

§2. Pour l'utilisation des installations de secours, toutes les prescriptions du présent Règlement doivent être observées.

ARTICLE 19.

Signaux de détresse, d'alarme, d'urgence et de sécurité.

Distress signal.

§1. Le signal de détresse consiste dans le groupe ▪ ▪ ▪ ▬ ▬ ▬ ▪ ▪ ▪ par lequel il est annoncé qui le navire, ou l'aéronef ou tout autre véhicule portant la station qui l'envoie est sous la menace d'un danger grave et imminent, et demande une assistance immédiate.

Appel de détresse.

Distress call.

§2. (1) L'appel de détresse comprend le signal de détresse transmis trois fois, suivi du mot DE et de l'indicatif d'appel de la station mobile en détresse, transmis trois fois. Cet appel a priorité absolue sur toutes autres transmissions. Toutes les stations mobiles ou terrestres qui l'entendent doivent cesser immédiatement toute transmission susceptible de troubler les appels ou les messages de détresse, et écouter sur l'onde d'émission de l'appel de détresse. Cet appel ne doit pas être adressé à une station déterminée.

(2) Les mêmes règles s'appliquent à l'appel de détresse radiotéléphonique, qui consiste dans l'expression parlée MAYDAY (correspondant à la prononciation française de l'expression "m'aider").

Message de détresse.

Distress message.

§3. Le message de détresse comprend l'appel de détresse suivi du nom du navire, de l'aéronef ou du véhicule en détresse, et des indications relatives à la position de celui-ci, à la nature de la détresse et à la nature du secours demandé.

§4. En règle générale, et quand il s'agit d'un navire, ou d'un aéronef au-dessus de ou sur la mer, la position doit être exprimée en latitude et longitude (Greenwich), en employant des chiffres pour les degrés et les minutes, accompagnés de l'un des mots NORTH ou SOUTH et de l'un des mots EAST ou WEST. Un point sépare les degrés des minutes. Eventuellement, le vrai relèvement et la distance en milles marins par rapport à un point géographique connu peuvent être donnés.

§5. L'appel et le message de détresse ne sont émis qu'avec l'autorisation du Commandant ou de la personne responsable du navire, de l'aéronef ou de tout autre véhicule portant la station mobile.

§6. Une station à bord d'un navire en détresse doit transmettre l'appel de détresse sur l'onde de 500 kc/s (600m) de préférence du type A2 ou B. Cet appel doit être suivi aussitôt que possible du message de détresse.

§7. L'appel de détresse et le message de détresse doivent être répétés par intervalles, jusqu'à ce qu'une réponse soit reçue, et notamment pendant les périodes de silence prévues à l'Article 17, §2. Les intervalles doivent, toutefois, être suffisamment longs, pour que les stations qui se préparent à répondre à l'appel aient le temps de mettre leurs appareils émetteurs en marche. Dans le cas où la station de bord en détresse ne reçoit pas de réponse à un appel de détresse ou à un message de détresse transmis sur l'onde de 500 kc/s (600m), l'appel et le message peuvent être répétés sur toute autre onde disponible, à l'aide de laquelle l'attention pourrait être attirée.

§8. De plus, une station mobile qui constate qu'une autre station mobile est en détresse peut transmettre le message de détresse, à condition que:

a) la station en détresse ne soit pas à même de le transmettre elle-même;

b) le Commandant (ou son remplaçant) du navire, aéronef ou autre véhicule portant la station intervenante juge que d'autres secours sont nécessaires.

§9. (1) Les stations qui reçoivent un message de détresse d'une station mobile se trouvant, sans doute possible, dans leur voisinage, doivent en accuser réception immédiatement (voir §§15 et 16 ci-dessous), en prenant soin de ne pas troubler la transmission de l'accusé de réception du dit message effectuée par d'autres stations.

(2) Les stations qui reçoivent un message de détresse d'une station mobile qui, sans doute possible, n'est pas dans leur voisinage doivent laisser s'écouler un court laps de temps avant d'en accuser réception, afin de permettre à des stations plus proches de la station mobile en détresse de répondre et d'accuser réception sans brouillage.

Distress traffic.

§10. Le trafic de détresse comprend tous les messages relatifs au secours immédiat nécessaire à la station mobile en détresse.

§12. La direction du travail de détresse appartient à la station mobile en détresse ou à la station mobile qui, par application des dispositions du §8, littera a), a produit l'appel de détresse. Ces stations peuvent céder la direction du travail de détresse à une autre station.

§13. Toutes les stations qui sont dans la zone des communications de détresse, mais qui ne prennent pas part à ces communications, doivent s'abstenir d'utiliser l'onde de détresse, jusqu'à ce que le travail de détresse soit terminé. Aussitôt ce travail établi sur l'onde de détresse, les stations mobiles qui n'y participent pas peuvent continuer leur service normal sur les autres ondes autorisées du type A1, si, en opérant ainsi, rien ne les empêche de bien percevoir le trafic de détresse.

§14. (1) Lorsque le travail de détresse est terminé et que l'observation du silence n'est plus nécessaire, la station qui a eu la direction de ce travail transmet, sur l'onde de détresse, un message adressé à CQ, indiquant que le travail de détresse est terminé. Ce message affecte la forme suivante:

Indicatif d'appel CQ (trois fois), mot DE, indicatif d'appel de la station qui transmet le message, signal de détresse, heure de dépôt du message, nom et indicatif d'appel de la station mobile qui était en détresse, mots "trafic détresse terminé".

(2) Ce message est répété, s'il y a lieu, sur les autres ondes sur lesquelles le travail de détresse a eu lieu.

Accusé de recéption d'un message de détresse.

Acknowledging of distress message.

Répétition d'un appel ou d'un message de détresse.

§15. L'accusé de réception d'un message de détresse est donné sous la forme suivante:

Indicatif d'appel de la station mobile en détresse (trois fois), mot DE, indicatif d'appel de la station qui accuse réception (trois fois), groupe RRR, signal de détresse.

§16. Toute station mobile qui donne l'accusé de réception d'un message de détresse doit faire connaître aussitôt que possible son nom et sa position (sous la forme indiquée au §4), en prenant soin de ne pas troubler d'autres stations mieux placées pour apporter un secours immédiat à la station en détresse

§17. Si une station mobile employant des ondes entretenues, non comprises dans la bande de 485 à 515 kc/s (620–580m), entend un message de détresse émis sur l'onde de 500 kc/s (600m), en dehors des périodes de silence imposées sur l'onde de 500 kc/s (600m) et si le navire, aéronef ou autre véhicule portant cette station n'est pas à même de fournir du secours, la dite station doit prendre toutes les dispositions possibles pour attirer l'attention d'autres stations mobiles dans le voisinage, qui travaillent sur des ondes non comprises dans la bande susmentionné.

Repetition of distress signals.

§18. Des répétitions de l'appel de détresse ou du message de détresse, par des stations mobiles autres que la station en détresse, ne sont permises que sur l'autorisation du Commandant (ou de son remplaçant) des dites stations, tout en prenant soin de ne pas produire du brouillage, par des répétitions inutiles.

§19. Une station qui répète un appel de détresse ou un message de détresse y ajoute, à la fin, le mot DE suivi de son propre indicatif d'appel, transmis trois fois.

§20. Dans le cas où une station reçoit un appel de détresse ou un message de détresse, mais n'est pas en mesure de fournir du secours et est portée à croire qu'il n'a pas été accusé réception du message de détresse, elle doit répéter ce message à toute puissance, sur l'onde de détresse, et prendre toutes les dispositions nécessaires pour aviser les autorités qui peuvent intervenir utilement.

§21. La composition du signal d'alarme automatique doit répondre aux conditions suivantes:

a) Ce signal doit pouvoir être émis à la main ou par un appareil automatique sans difficulté, avec une précision, quant à la mesure du temps, qui ne doit pas être plus grande que celle d'une montre ou d'une horloge indiquant les secondes.

b) Sa composition doit être nettement distincte et facilement reconnue par une personne ignorant le Code Morse, et elle doit pouvoir se prêter à la création facile et à bon marché d'un récepteur automatique qui:

1° répond au signal d'alarme, même lorsque de nombreux postes travaillent, et aussi quand il y a du brouillage atmosphérique;

2° n'est pas mis en action par des signaux puissants ou des atmosphériques, lorsque ceux-ci ne sont pas accompagnés du signal d'alarme;

3° possède une sensibilité égale à celle d'un récepteur détecteur-cristal relié à la même antenne;

4° avertit quand son fonctionnement cesse d'être normal.

c) Ladite composition doit être différente du signal employé pour le réglage et le fonctionnement du variomètre.

d) Avant qu'un récepteur automatique d'alarme soit approuvé pour l'usage des vaisseaux se trouvant sous la dépendance d'une Administration, celle-ci doit être convaincue, par des expériences pratiques faites dans des conditions de brouillage convenables, que l'appareil satisfait aux prescriptions de ce Règlement.

e) Le signal d'alarme suivant est dès maintenant reconnu: une série de douze traits transmis en une minute, la durée de chaque trait étant de quatre secondes et la durée de l'intervalle entre deux traits, de une seconde.

f) Ce signal spécial doit avoir pour seul but de faire fonctionner les appareils utilisés pour donner l'alarme. Il doit être uniquement employé pour annoncer que le signal de détresse va suivre.

g) L'adoption du type de signal d'alarme mentionné en e) n'empêche pas une Administration d'autoriser l'emploi d'un appareil automatique qui répondrait aux conditions fixées ci-dessus et qui serait actionné par le signal réglementaire de détresse (▪ ▪ ▪ ▬ ▬ ▬ ▪ ▪ ▪).

§22. (1) Le signal d'urgence consiste en plusieurs répétitions du groupe XXX, transmis en séparant bien les lettres de chaque groupe et les groupes successifs; il est émis avant un appel. Ce signal indique que la station appelante a un message très urgent à transmettre, concernant la sécurité du navire, de l'aéronef ou du véhicule qui la porte, d'un navire, aéronef ou autre véhicule en vue, ou encore la sécurité d'une personne quelconque se trouvant à bord ou en vue du bord. Dans le service radioaérien, l'expression PAN est utilisée comme signal d'urgence, en radiotéléphonie et en radiotélégraphie, lorsqu'une station d'aéronef veut signaler une avarie qui oblige l'aéronef à atterrir, sans nécessiter un secours immédiat. Dans le cas de la radiotélégraphie, les trois lettres doivent être bien séparées, afin que les signaux AN ne se transforment pas en signal P.

(2) Le signal d'urgence a la priorité sur toutes autres communications, sauf celles de détresse, et toutes les stations mobiles ou terrestres qui l'entendent doivent prendre soin de ne pas brouiller la transmission du trafic d'urgence.

(3) En règle générale, le signal d'urgence ne peut être employé que si la station mobile qui l'émet s'adresse à une station déterminée.

§23. (1) Les stations mobiles qui entendent le signal d'urgence doivent rester sur écoute pendant trois minutes, au moins. Passé ce délai, et si aucun message d'urgence n'a été entendu, elles peuvent reprendre leur service normal.

(2) Toutefois, les stations terrestres et de bord qui sont en communication sur des ondes autorisées autres que celle utilisée pour la transmission du signal d'urgence et de l'appel qui le suit peuvent continuer sans arrêt leur travail normal.

§24. Le signal d'urgence ne peut être transmis qu'avec l'autorisation du Commandant ou de la personne responsable du navire, de l'aéronef ou de tout autre véhicule portant la station mobile.

§25. Le signal de sécurité consiste en la transmission du groupe TTT, en lettres bien séparées, suivi du mot DE et de l'indicatif d'appel de la station qui l'émet. Il annonce que cette station va transmettre un message concernant la sécurité de la navigation ou donnant d'importantes informations relatives aux messages d'avertissements météorologiques.

§26. Le signal de sécurité et le message de sécurité sont transmis sur l'onde de 500 kc/s (600m) et, selon le cas, sur l'onde normale de veille des stations de bord et d'aéronef.

§27. Le signal de sécurité est transmis, une seule fois, pendant la première période de silence qui se présente (Article 17, §2) et cela vers la fin de cette période. Toutes les stations qui le perçoivent doivent rester sur écoute sur l'onde normale d'appel (stations de bord) ou sur l'onde autorisée (stations d'aéronef), jusqu'à ce que le message annoncé par le signal de sécurité soit terminé. La transmission de ce message commence immédiatement après la fin de la période de silence.

ARTICLE 20.

VACATIONS DES STATIONS DU SERVICE MOBILE.

Working hours, mobile service.

Land stations.

§1. (1) Le service des stations terrestres est, autant que possible, permanent (de jour et de nuit). Toutefois, certaines stations terrestres peuvent avoir un service de durée limitée. Chaque Administration ou entreprise privée autorisée, à laquelle entreprise le droit en est reconnu par les lois de son Pays, fixe les heures de service des stations terrestres placées sous son autorité.

(2) Les stations terrestres dont le service n'est point permanent ne peuvent prendre clôture avant d'avoir:

1° terminé toutes les opérations motivées par un appel de détresse;

2° échangé tous les radiotélégrammes originaires ou à destination des stations mobiles que se trouvent dans leur rayon d'action et ont signalé leur présence avant la cessation effective du travail.

(3) Le service des stations aéronautiques est continu pendant toute la durée du vol dans le ou les secteurs du ou des parcours, dont la station considérée assure le service des communications radioélectriques.

Stations de bord.

Ship stations.

§2. (1) Au point de vue du service international de la correspondance publique les stations de bord sont classées en trois catégories:

1re catégorie: stations ayant un service permanent;

2e catégorie: stations ayant un service déterminé, de durée limitée;

3e catégorie: stations dont la durée du service est inférieure à celle qui est prévue pour les stations classées dans la 2e catégorie et stations dont la durée du service n'est pas déterminée.

(2) Les dispositions du §1, alinéa (2), du présent Article s'appliquent aux stations de bord, strictement en ce qui concerne le service de détresse, et, autant que possible, en conformité avec l'esprit de ce qui est dit sous 2° dudit alinéa.

(3) Il appartient à chacun des Gouvernements contractants d'assurer l'efficacité du service dans les stations de bord de sa nationalité en exigeant la présence, dans ces stations, du nombre d'opérateurs nécessaire, compte tenu de sa législation en cette matière.

(4) Pendant leur navigation, les stations de bord classées dans la 2e catégorie doivent assurer le service comme suit:

a) dans le cas de courtes traversées, pendant les heures fixées par l'Administration dont elles dépendent;

b) dans les autres cas, au moins pendant la durée qui leur est attribuée dans l'Appendice 5. Il est fait mention de cette durée dans la licence.

Aircraft stations.

§3. Les stations d'aéronef sont classées en deux catégories:

1re catégorie: stations assurant le service pendant toute la durée du vol;

2e catégorie: stations dont les vacations ne sont pas déterminées.

§4. En ce qui concerne le service international de la correspondance publique des stations mobiles, le personnel de ces stations devra comporter, au moins:

a) Pour les stations mobiles de la 1re catégorie: un opérateur possesseur d'un certificat de 1re classe;

b) Pour les stations mobiles de la 2e catégorie: un opérateur possesseur d'un certificat de 1re ou de 2e classe;

c) Pour les stations mobiles de la 3e catégorie: un opérateur ayant subi avec succès l'examen pour l'obtention du certificat de 2e classe.

ARTICLE 21.

Information to appear in the license.

Renseignements à faire figurer dans la licence.

Le Gouvernement qui délivre la licence à une station de bord ou d'aéronef y mentionne la catégorie dans laquelle cette station est classée. Lorsqu'il s'agit d'une station de bord classée dans la 2e catégorie, la licence porte aussi la mention de la durée de service assignée à la station, conformément aux indications de l'Appendice 5.

ARTICLE 22.

Address of radiotelegrams.

Adresse des radiotélégrammes.

§1. (1) L'adresse des radiotélégrammes à destination des stations mobiles doit être aussi complète que possible; elle est obligatoirement libellée comme suit:

a) Nom ou désignation du destinataire, avec indication complémentaire, s'il y a lieu;

b) Nom du navire ou, dans le cas d'un aéronef, indicatif d'appel, tels qu'ils figurent dans la première colonne de la Nomenclature;

c) Nom de la station terrestre chargée de la transmission, tel qu'il figure à la Nomenclature.

(2) Toutefois, le nom et l'indicatif d'appel prévus au §1 (1) b) peuvent être remplacés, aux risques et périls de l'expéditeur, par l'indication du parcours effectué par la station mobile, ce parcours étant déterminé par le nom des ports de départ et d'arrivée ou par toute autre mention équivalente.

(3) Lors de la réexpédition, sur les voies de communication du réseau général, d'un radiotélégramme reçu d'une station mobile, la station terrestre transmet comme origine le nom de la station mobile d'où émane le radiotélégramme, tel que ce nom figure à la nomenclature, suivi du nom de ladite station terrestre.

§2. (1) Les stations mobiles autorisées à ne pas être pourvues de la Nonemclature officielle des bureaux télégraphiques peuvent faire suivre le nom du bureau télégraphique de destination du nom de la subdivision territoriale et, éventuellement, du nom du Pays de destination, si elles doutent que, sans cette adjonction, l'acheminement puisse être assuré sans hésitation.

(2) Le nom du bureau télégraphique et les indications complémentaires ne sont, dans ce cas, comptés et taxés que pour un seul mot. L'agent de la station terrestre qui reçoit le radiotélégramme maintient ou supprime ces indications, ou encore modifie le nom du bureau de destination, selon qu'il est nécessaire ou suffisant pour diriger le radiotélégramme sur sa véritable destination.

ARTICLE 23.

Order of priority in mobile service communications.

Ordre de priorité dans l'établissement des communications dans le service mobile.

L'ordre de priorité dans l'établissement des communications dans le service mobile est le suivant:

1° Appels de détresse, messages de détresse et trafic de détresse;
2° Communications précédées d'un signal d'urgence;
3° Communications précédées du signal de sécurité;
4° Communications relatives aux relèvements radiogoniométriques;
5° Toutes les autres communications.

ARTICLE 24.

Appels.

Calling.

§1. (1) En règle générale, il incombe à la station mobile d'établir la communication avec la station terrestre; elle ne peut appeler la station terrestre, dans ce but, qu'après être arrivée dans le rayon d'action de celle-ci.

(2) En principe, une station terrestre ayant du trafic pour une station mobile qui ne lui a pas signalé sa présence, ne doit appeler cette station que si elle est en droit de supposer que ladite station mobile est à sa portée et assure l'écoute.

(2) En tous cas, les stations mobiles qui, dans cette transmission, perçoivent leur indicatif d'appel doivent répondre aussitôt qu'elles le peuvent, en se conformant aux prescriptions du §1 ci-dessus et en observant entre elles, autant que possible, l'ordre dans lequel elles ont été appelées. L'heure à laquelle les stations terrestres transmettent leur liste d'appels ainsi que les fréquences et les types d'ondes qu'elles utilisent à cette fin sont mentionnés dans la nomenclature.

(3) La station terreste fait connaître à chaque station mobile intéressée la fréquence et le type d'onde qui seront utilisés pour le travail avec elle, de même que l'heure approximative à laquelle ce travail pourra commencer.

§3. Quand une station terrestre reçoit, pratiquement en même temps, des appels de plusieurs stations mobiles, elle décide de l'ordre dans lequel ces stations pourront lui transmettre leur trafic, sa décision s'inspirant uniquement de la nécessité de permettre à chacune des stations appelantes d'échanger avec elle le plus grand nombre possible de radiotélégrammes.

§4. (1) Lorsqu'une station terrestre répond à l'appel d'une station mobile, elle peut, si elle le juge nécessaire, lui demander, à l'aide des abréviations appropriées, d'indiquer le nombre de radiotélégrammes en instance.

§5. Dans les communications entre stations côtières et stations mobiles, la station mobile se conforme aux instructions données par la station côtière, dans toutes les questions relatives à l'ordre de transmission, à l'heure de transmission et à la suspension du travail. Cette prescription ne s'applique pas aux cas de détresse.

§6. Dans les échanges entre stations mobiles et sauf dans le cas de détresse, la station appelée a le contrôle du travail, comme il est indiqué au §5 ci-dessus.

§7. (1) Lorsqu'une station appelée ne répond pas à l'appel émis trois fois, à des intervalles de deux minutes, l'appel doit cesser et il ne peut être repris que 15 minutes plus tard. La station appelante, avant de recommencer l'appel, doit s'assurer que la station appelée n'est pas, à ce moment, en communication avec une autre station.

(2) L'appel peut être répété à des intervalles moins longs, s'il n'est pas à craindre qu'il viendra brouiller des communications en cours.

§8. Lorsque le nom et l'adresse de l'exploitant d'une station mobile ne sont pas mentionnés dans la nomenclature ou ne sont plus en concordance avec les indications de celle-ci, il appartient à la station mobile de donner d'office à la station terrestre à laquelle elle transmet du trafic, tous les renseignements nécessaires, sous ce rapport, en utilisant, à cette fin, les abréviations appropriées.

ARTICLE 25.

Time of filing radiotelegrams.

Heure de dépôt des radiotélégrammes.

§1. Pour indiquer l'heure de dépôt des radiotélégrammes acceptés dans les stations mobiles, le préposé se base sur le temps moyen de Greenwich, et utilise la notation suivant le cadran de 24 heures. Cette heure est toujours exprimée et transmise à l'aide de quatre chiffres (0000 à 2359).

§2. Toutefois, les Administrations des Pays situés en dehors de la Zone "A" (Appendice 6) peuvent autoriser les stations des navires longeant les côtes de leur Pays à utiliser le temps du fuseau pour l'indication, en un groupe de quatre chiffres, de l'heure de dépôt, et dans ce cas, le groupe doit être suivi de la lettre F.

ARTICLE 26.

Routing of radiotelegrams.

Direction à donner aux radiotélégrammes.

§1. (1) En principe, la station mobile qui fait usage d'ondes du type A2, A3 ou B transmet ses radiotélégrammes à la station terrestre la plus proche.

(2) Toutefois, lorsque la station mobile peut choisir entre plusieurs stations terrestres se trouvant approximativement à la même distance, elle donne la préférence à celle qui est située sur le territoire du Pays de destination ou de transit normal des radiotélégrammes à transmettre. Quand la station choisie n'est pas la plus proche, la station mobile doit cesser le travail ou changer de type ou de fréquence d'émission à la première demande faite par la station terrestre du service intéressé qui est réellement la plus proche, demande motivée par le brouillage que ledit travail cause à celle-ci.

§2. La station mobile qui emploie des ondes du type A1, comprises dans la bande autorisée, peut transmettre ses radiotélégrammes à une station terrestre qui n'est pas la plus proche. Il est, toutefois, recommandé, en ce cas, de donner la préférence à la station terrestre établie sur le territoire du Pays de destination ou du Pays qui paraît devoir assurer le plus rationnellement le transit des radiotélégrammes à transmettre.

§3. (1) Une station côtière, à laquelle une ou plusieurs ondes comprises dans la bande de 125–150 kc/s (2400–2000m) sont allouées, possède sur cette ou sur ces ondes un droit de préférence.

(2) Toute autre station du service mobile transmettant un trafic public sur cette ou sur ces ondes, et causant ainsi du brouillage à ladite station côtière, doit suspendre son travail à la demande de cette dernière.

§4. Sauf dans les cas de détresse, les communications entre stations de bord ne doivent pas troubler le travail des stations côtières. Lorsque ce travail est ainsi troublé, les stations de bord qui en sont la cause doivent cesser leurs transmissions ou changer d'onde, à la première demande de la station côtière qu'elles gênent.

§5. Si l'expéditeur d'un radiotélégramme déposé dans une station mobile a désigné la station terrestre à laquelle il désire que son radiotélégramme soit transmis, la station mobile doit, pour effectuer cette transmission à la station terrestre indiquée, attendre éventuellement que les conditions prévues aux paragraphes précédents soient remplies.

§6. (1) Une station mobile qui n'a pas de vacations déterminées doit communiquer à la station terrestre avec laquelle elle est entrée en relation l'heure de clôture et l'heure de réouverture de son service.

Toute station mobile dont le service est sur le point de fermer pour cause d'arrivée dans un port doit en avertir la station terrestre la plus proche.

ARTICLE 27.

Onde à employer en cas de détresse. Distress waves.

En cas de détresse, l'onde de 500 kc/s (600m) doit être, de préférence, utilisée en type A2 ou B. Lorsqu'il n'est pas possible d'employer un de ces types d'ondes, le type A1 ou A3 peut être utilisé. Aucune disposition du présent Règlement ne peut faire obstacle à l'emploi, par une station mobile en détresse, de tous les moyens dont elle dispose pour attirer l'attention, signaler sa situation et obtenir du secours.

ARTICLE 28.

Mesures propres à réduire les interférences. Reducing interferences.

§1. Dans le cas où des ondes autres que l'onde normale peuvent être employées, la station de bord suit les instructions de la station côtière avec laquelle elle est en correspondance. En principe, l'onde normale de 500 kc/s (600m) ne doit pas être utilisée pour la transmission de longs radiotélégrammes dans les régions où le travail radioélectrique est intense.

§2. Pendant leurs heures de service, les stations utilisant, pour leur travail, des ondes du type A2, A3 ou B et ouvertes au service international de la correspondance publique doivent rester en écoute sur l'onde de 500 kc/s (600m), sauf pendant qu'elles échangent du trafic sur d'autres ondes.

§3. En règle générale, il est recommandé de transmettre le trafic se rapportant à la correspondance publique sur des ondes du type A1 plutôt que sur des ondes du type A2 ou B.

§4. Toutes les stations du service mobile sont tenues d'échanger le trafic avec le minimum d'énergie rayonnée, nécessaire pour assurer une bonne communication.

ARTICLE 29.

Avis de non-remise. Advice of nondelivery.

§1. Lorsque, pour une cause quelconque, un radiotélégramme originaire d'une station mobile et destiné à la terre ferme ne peut pas être remis au destinataire, il est émis un avis de non-remise adressé à la station terrestre qui a reçu le radiotélégramme de la station mobile. Cette station terrestre, après vérification de l'adresse, réexpédie l'avis à la station mobile, si cela est possible, au besoin par l'intermédiaire d'une station terrestre du même Pays ou d'un Pays voisin, pour autant que la situation existante ou, éventuellement, des accords particuliers le permettent.

§2. Quand un radiotélégramme parvenu à une station mobile ne peut pas être remis, cette station en informe le bureau ou la station mobile d'origine, par un avis de service. Dans le cas d'un radiotélégramme émanant de la terre ferme, cet avis de service est transmis, autant que possible, à la station terrestre par laquelle le radiotélégramme a transité ou, le cas échéant, à une autre station terrestre du même Pays ou d'un Pays voisin, pour autant que la situation existante ou, éventuellement, des accords particuliers le permettent.

ARTICLE 30.

Period of retention of radiotelegrams at land stations.

§1. (1) Lorsque la station mobile à laquelle est destiné un radiotélégramme n'a pas signalé sa présence à la station terrestre dans le délai indiqué par l'expéditeur ou, à défaut d'une telle indication, jusqu'au matin du cinquième jour qui suit le jour du dépôt, la station terrestre en informe le bureau d'origine, qui prévient l'expéditeur. Celui-ci peut demander, par avis de service taxé, télégraphique ou postal, adressé à la station terrestre, que son télégramme soit retenu jusqu'à l'expiration du quatorzième jour à compter du jour de dépôt; en l'absence d'un tel avis, le radiotélégramme est mis au rebut à la fin du septième jour.

(2) Toutefois, il n'est pas tenu compte de l'expiration de l'un quelconque des délais visés ci-dessus, quand la station terrestre a la certitude que la station mobile entrera prochainement dans son rayon d'action.

§2. D'autre part, l'expiration des délais n'est pas attendue quand la station terrestre a la certitude que la station mobile est sortie définitivement de son rayon d'action. Si elle présume qu'aucune autre station terrestre de l'Administration ou de l'entreprise privée dont elle dépend n'est en liaison avec la station mobile, la station terrestre annule le radiotélégramme en ce qui concerne son parcours entre elle et la station mobile, et informe du fait le bureau d'origine, qui prévient l'expéditeur. Dans le cas contraire, elle le dirige sur la station terrestre présumée en liaison avec la station mobile, à condition toutefois qu'aucune taxe additionnelle n'en résulte.

§3. Lorsqu'un radiotélégramme ne peut pas être transmis à une station mobile, par suite de l'arrivée de celle-ci dans un port voisin de la station terrestre, cette dernière station peut, éventuellement, faire parvenir le radiotélégramme à la station mobile par d'autres moyens de communication.

ARTICLE 31.

Meteorological services. Time signals. Notices to navigators.

A. Services météorologiques. Signaux horaires. Avis aux navigateurs.

§1. Les messages météorologiques synoptiques de prévision et de situation générale et les signaux horaires doivent être transmis, en principe, conformément à un horaire déterminé. Les radiotélégrammes de cette classe, destinés aux stations mobiles, doivent être émis, autant que possible, aux heures où leur réception peut se faire par celles de ces stations n'ayant qu'un seul opérateur (voir Appendice 5); la vitesse de transmission doit être choisie de telle manière que la lecture des signaux soit possible à un opérateur ne possédant que le certificat de 2e classe.

Post, p. 2833.

§2. Pendant les transmissions "à tous" des signaux horaires et des messages météorologiques destinés aux stations du service mobile, toutes les stations de ce service, dont les transmissions brouilleraient la réception des signaux et messages en question, doivent observer le silence, afin de permettre à toutes les stations qui le désirent, de recevoir les dits signaux et messages.

§3. Les messages d'avertissements météorologiques et les avis intéressant la sécurité de la navigation présentant un caractère d'urgence pour les services mobiles sont transmis immédiatement et doivent être répétés à la fin de la première période de silence qui se présente (voir Article 17, §2). Ces messages et avis doivent être émis sur les fréquences attribuées au service mobile auquel ils sont destinés; leur transmission est précédée du signal de sécurité TTT.

§4. En plus des services réguliers d'information prévus dans les paragraphes précédents, les Administrations prennent les mesures nécessaires pour que certaines stations soient chargées de communiquer, sur demande, des messages météorologiques aux stations du service mobile.

§5. Dans un intérêt de brièveté et de bonne utilisation par les stations mobiles, les observations météorologiques transmises par les stations du service mobile doivent, en principe, être rédigées suivant un code météorologique international.

B. Service des stations radiogoniométriques. Radio compass stations services.

§6. Les Administrations sous l'autorité desquelles sont placées les stations radiogoniométriques n'acceptent aucune responsabilité quant aux conséquences d'un relèvement inexact.

§7. Ces Administrations notifient, pour être insérées dans la Nomenclature des stations radiotélégraphiques, les caractéristiques de chaque station radiogoniométrique, en indiquant, pour chacune d'elles, les secteurs dans lesquels les relèvements sont normalement sûrs. Tout changement en ce qui concerne ces renseignements doit être publié sans retard; si le changement est d'une nature permanente, il doit être communiqué au Bureau international.

§8. (1) En service normal, les stations, radiogoniométriques côtières doivent être à même de prendre et de fournir des relèvements aux stations de bord, soit sur la fréquence de 500 kc/s (600m) seulement, soit sur la fréquence de 375 kc/s (800m) seulement, soit indifféremment sur l'une et l'autre de ces deux fréquences.

(2) Une station d'aéronef désirant avoir un relèvement doit, pour le demander, appeler sur l'onde de 333 kc/s (900m) ou sur une onde affectée à la route aérienne sur laquelle vole l'aéronef. Dans tous les cas où une station d'aéronef, étant à proximité de stations côtières, s'adresse à celles-ci pour obtenir un relèvement, elle doit faire usage de la fréquence de ces stations côtières.

§9. La procédure à suivre dans le service radiogoniométrique est donnée à l'Appendice 8. Post, p. 2835.

C. Service des radiophares. Radiobeacon service.

§10. (1) Lorsqu'une Administration juge utile, dans l'intérêt de la navigation maritime et aérienne, d'organiser un service de radiophares, elle peut employer pour ce but:

a) des radiophares proprement dits, établis sur terre ferme ou sur des navires amarrés d'une façon permanente; ils sont à émission circulaire ou à émission directionnelle;

b) des stations fixes, des stations côtières ou des stations aéronautiques désignées pour fonctionner aussi comme radiophares, à la demande des stations mobiles.

(2) Les radiophares proprement dits emploient des ondes de 285 à 315 kc/s (1050–950m) des types A1 et A2, exclusivement.

(3) Les autres stations notifiées comme radiophares utilisent leur fréquence normale et leur type normal d'émission.

§11. Les signaux émis par les radiophares doivent permettre d'effectuer une bonne mesure au radiogoniomètre; ils doivent être choisis de manière à éviter tout doute, lorsqu'il s'agit de distinguer entre deux ou plusieurs radiophares.

§12. Les Administrations qui ont organisé un service de radiophares n'acceptent aucune responsabilité quant aux conséquences de relèvements inexacts obtenus au moyen des radiophares de ce service.

(2) Toute modification ou toute irrégularité de fonctionnement survenant dans le service des radiophares doit être publiée sans délai; si la modification ou l'irrégularité de fonctionnement est d'une nature permanente, elle doit être notifiée au Bureau international.

ARTICLE 32.

Accounting.

Comptabilité.

(2) Les comptes concernant ces taxes sont liquidés par les Administrations des Pays intéressés. Ils sont établis mensuellement par les Administrations dont dépendent les stations terrestres, et communiqués par elles aux Administrations intéressées.

§2. Dans le cas où l'exploitant des stations terrestres n'est pas l'Administration du Pays, cet exploitant peut être substitué, en ce qui concerne les comptes, à l'Administration de ce Pays.

§3. Pour les radiotélégrammes originaires des stations mobiles, l'Administration dont dépend la station terrestre débite l'Administration dont dépend la station mobile d'origine des taxes terrestres, des taxes afférentes aux parcours sur le réseau général des voies de communication—qui seront dorénavant appelées taxes télégraphiques—des taxes totales perçues pour les réponses payées, des taxes terrestres et télégraphiques perçues pour le collationnement, des taxes afférentes à la remise par exprès, par poste ou par poste-avion et des taxes perçues pour les copies supplémentaires des télégrammes multiples. Les radiotélégrammes sont traités au point de vue de la comptabilité entre la station terrestre et le bureau de destination comme des télégrammes originaires du Pays où est établie la station terrestre.

§4. Pour les radiotélégrammes à destination d'un Pays situé au delà de celui auquel appartient la station terrestre, les taxes télégraphiques à liquider conformément aux dispositions ci-dessus sont celles qui résultent soit des tableaux des tarifs afférents à la correspondance télégraphique internationale, soit d'arrangements spéciaux conclus entre les Administrations de Pays limitrophes et publiés par ces Administrations, et non les taxes qui pourraient être perçues en appliquant des minima par télégramme ou des méthodes d'arrondir les prix par télégramme de quelque manière que ce soit.

§5. Pour les radiotélégrammes et les avis de service taxés, à destination des stations mobiles, l'Administration dont dépend le bureau d'origine est débitée directement, par celle dont dépend la station terrestre, des taxes terrestres et de bord plus les taxes terrestres et de bord (des radiotélégrammes) applicables au collationnement, mais seulement dans le cas où le télégramme a été transmis à la station mobile. L'Administration dont dépend le bureau d'origine est toujours débitée, de Pays à Pays, s'il y a lieu, par la voie des comptes télégraphiques, et par l'Administration dont dépend la station terrestre, des taxes totales afférentes aux réponses payées. En ce qui concerne les taxes télégraphiques et les taxes relatives à la remise par poste ou par poste-avion et aux copies supplémentaires, il est opéré, pour ce qui regarde les comptes télégraphiques, conformément à la procédure télégraphique normale. L'Administration dont dépend la station terrestre crédite, pour autant que le radiotélégramme ait été transmis, celle dont dépend la station mobile destinataire: de la taxe de bord, s'il y a lieu, des taxes revenant aux stations mobiles intermédiaires, de la taxe totale perçue pour les réponses payées, de la taxe de bord relative au collationnement, des taxes perçues pour les copies supplémentaires des télégrammes multiples et des taxes perçues pour la remise par poste ou par poste-avion.

Accounting — Continued.

§6. Les avis de service taxés et les réponses aux télégrammes avec réponse payée sont traités, dans les comptes radiotélégraphiques, c'est-à-dire les comptes portant sur l'acheminement dans le service mobile, sous tous les rapports comme les autres radiotélégrammes.

§7. Pour les radiotélégrammes échangés entre stations mobiles,

a) par l'intermédiaire d'une seule station terrestre:

L'Administration dont dépend la station terrestre débite celle dont dépend la station mobile d'origine: de la taxe terrestre, de la taxe télégraphique territoriale, s'il y a lieu, et de la taxe de la station mobile de destination. Elle crédite l'Administration dont dépend la station mobile de destination de la taxe de bord revenant à cette station.

b) par l'intermédiaire de deux stations terrestres:

L'Administration dont dépend la première station terrestre débite celle dont dépend la station mobile d'origine de toutes les taxes perçues, déduction faite des taxes revenant à cette station mobile. L'Administration dont dépend la seconde station terrestre—qui est celle chargée de transmettre le radiotélégramme à la station mobile destinataire—débite directement l'Administration dont dépend la première station terrestre des taxes afférentes à cette transmission, mais seulement dans le cas où le radiotélégramme a été transmis à la station mobile.

§9. En principe, la liquidation des comptes afférents aux échanges entre stations mobiles se fait directement entre les exploitants de ces stations, l'exploitant dont dépend la station d'origine étant débité par celui dont dépend la station de destination.

§10. (1) Les comptes mensuels servant de base à la comptabilité spéciale des radiotélégrammes, visés aux paragraphes qui précèdent, sont établis radiotélégramme par radiotélégramme, avec toutes les indications utiles et dans un délai de trois mois à partir du mois auquel ils se rapportent. Le délai peut dépasser trois mois, quand des difficultés exceptionnelles se présentent dans le transport postal des documents entre les stations radioélectriques et les Administrations dont elles dépendent.

(2) Sauf entente contraire, les comptes mensuels servent de décompte et leur vérification, leur acceptation et leur liquidation doivent être opérées dans un délai de six mois prenant cours à la date de leur envoi, sauf quand des difficultés exceptionnelles se présentent dans le transport des documents, par suite de la très longue durée des voyages.

(3) Lorsque la constatation de différences s'oppose à l'acceptation d'un compte, le solde en est néanmoins payé dans le délai de six mois mentionné ci-dessus et les rectifications reconnues nécessaires ultérieurement sont comprises dans un compte mensuel subséquent. Les soldes des comptes qui n'ont pas été payés dans ledit délai, éventuellement augmenté du délai résultant des difficultés exceptionnelles de transport envisagées plus haut, sont productifs d'intérêts, à raison de 7% par an, à dater du lendemain du jour de l'expiration du délai de six mois, prolongé, le cas échéant, comme il est dit ci-dessus.

(4) La liquidation et le règlement des comptes présentés plus de deux ans après la date de dépôt des radiotélégrammes auxquels ces comptes se rapportent peuvent être refusés par l'Administration débitrice.

§11. Les Gouvernements se réservent la faculté de prendre entre eux et avec les exploitations privées intéressées des arrangements spéciaux, en vue de l'adoption d'autres dispositions concernant la comptabilité.

ARTICLE 33.

International Technical Consulting Committee on Radio Communication.

Comité consultatif international technique des communications radioélectriques.

Functions.

Ante, p. 2765.

§1. Le Comité consultatif international technique des communications radioélectriques, institué par l'Article 17 de la Convention, est chargé d'étudier les questions techniques et connexes qui intéressent les radiocommunications internationales et qui lui sont soumises par les Administrations ou entreprises privées participantes. Son rôle se limite à émettre des avis sur les questions qu'il aura étudiées. Il transmet ces avis au Bureau international, en vue de leur communication aux Administrations et entreprises privées intéressées.

§2. (1) Ce Comité est formé, pour chaque réunion, des experts des Administrations et entreprises privées autorisées, d'exploitation radioélectrique, qui veulent participer à ses travaux et s'engagent à contribuer, par parts égales, aux frais communs de la réunion envisagée. Les dépenses personnelles des experts sont supportées par l'Administration ou l'entreprise privée qui a délégué ces derniers.

(2) Les experts desdites entreprises privées autorisées participent aux travaux avec voix consultative. Toutefois, lorsqu'un Pays n'est pas représenté par une Administration, les experts des entreprises privées autorisées de ce Pays disposent, pour leur ensemble et quel que soit leur nombre, d'une seule voix délibérative.

§3. L'Administration des Pays-Bas est chargée d'organiser la première réunion du Comité consultatif international technique des communications radioélectriques et d'établir le programme des travaux de cette réunion.

§4. Les Administrations qui se seront fait représenter à une réunion du Comité s'entendent pour désigner l'Administration qui convoquera la réunion suivante. Les questions à examiner par le Comité sont envoyées à l'Administration organisatrice de la première réunion à venir, et c'est cette Administration qui fixe la date et le programme de ladite réunion.

§5. En principe, les réunions du Comité consultatif international technique des communications radioélectriques ont lieu de deux en deux ans.

ARTICLE 34.

International Bureau.

Bureau international.

Expenses.

§1. (1) Les dépenses supplémentaires résultant du fonctionnement du Bureau international de l'Union télégraphique, pour les besoins des services radioélectriques, ne doivent pas dépasser deux cent mille francs par an, non compris: a) les frais afférents aux travaux des Conférences, b) les frais afférents aux travaux de Comités régulièrement créés, lorsque, suivant les dispositions du Règlement général ou la décision d'une Conférence, ces frais sont à supporter par tous les Pays contractants.

(2) La somme de deux cent mille francs pourra être modifiée ultérieurement, du consentement unanime des Gouvernements contractants.

§2. L'Administration supérieure de la Confédération suisse est désignée pour organiser la Division des services radioélectriques du Bureau international de l'Union télégraphique mentionné à l'Article 16 de la Convention; elle en a la haute surveillance, contrôle les dépenses, fait les avances nécessaires et établit le compte annuel. Ce compte est communiqué à toutes les autres Administrations.

§3. Les sommes avancées par l'Administration qui contrôle le Bureau international, pour les besoins des services radioélectriques, doivent être remboursées, par les Administrations débitrices, dans le plus bref délai et, au plus tard, dans les trois mois qui suivent la date de la réception du compte. Passé ce délai de trois mois, les sommes dues sont productives d'intérêts, au profit de l'Administration créditrice, à raison de sept pour cent (7%) l'an, à compter du jour de l'expiration du délai susmentionné.

Contributions.

§4. (1) Pour la répartition des frais, les Etats contractants sont divisés en six classes, contribuant chacune dans la proportion d'un certain nombre d'unités, savoir:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1re classe | 25 unités | 4e classe | 10 unités |
| 2e " | 20 " | 5e " | 5 " |
| 3e " | 15 " | 6e " | 3 " |

(2) Les Administrations font connaître au Bureau international dans quelle classe elles désirent que leur Pays soit rangé.

(3) Les coefficients ci-dessus son multipliés, pour chaque classe, par le nombre des Etats qui en font partie, et la somme des produits ainsi obtenue fournit le nombre par lequel la dépense totale doit être divisée, pour déterminer le montant de l'unité de dépense.

I. Abréviations utilisables dans tous les services.

| Abréviation | Question | Réponse ou avis |
|---|---|---|
| QRA | Quel est le nom de votre station? | Le nom de ma station est ---- |
| QRB | A quelle distance approximative vous trouvez-vous de ma station? | La distance approximative entre nos stations est de ---- milles marins (ou --- kilomètres). |
| QRC | Par quelle entreprise privée (ou Administration d'Etat) sont liquidés les comptes de taxes de votre station? | Les comptes de taxes de ma station sont liquidés par l'entreprise privée ---- (ou par l'Administration de l'Etat ----). |
| QRD | Où allez-vous? | Je vais à ---- |
| QRE | Quelle est la nationalité de votre station? | Ma station est de nationalité ---- |
| QRF | D'où venez-vous? | Je viens de ---- |
| QRG | Voulez-vous m'indiquer ma longueur d'onde (fréquence) exacte en mètres (ou en kilocycles)? | Votre longueur d'onde exacte est de ---- mètres (ou ---- kilocycles). |
| QRH | Quelle est votre longueur d'onde (votre fréquence) exacte en mètres (ou en kilocycles)? | Ma longueur d'onde (ma fréquence) exacte est de ---- mètres (ou ---- kilocycles). |
| QRI | La tonalité de mon émission est-elle mauvaise? | La tonalité de votre émission est mauvaise. |
| QRJ | Me recevez-vous mal? Mes signaux sont-ils faibles? | Je ne peux pas vous recevoir. Vos signaux sont trop faibles. |
| QRK | Me recevez-vous bien? Mes signaux sont-ils bons? | Je vous reçois bien. Vos signaux sont bons. |
| QRL | Etes-vous occupé? | Je suis occupé (ou Je suis occupé avec ----). Prière de ne pas brouiller. |
| QRM | Etes-vous brouillé? | Je suis brouillé. |
| QRN | Etes-vous troublé par les atmosphériques? | Je suis troublé par les atmosphériques. |
| QRO | Dois-je augmenter l'énergie? | Augmentez l'énergie. |
| QRP | Dois-je diminuer l'énergie? | Diminuez l'énergie. |
| QRQ | Dois-je transmettre plus vite? | Transmettez plus vite (---- mots par minute). |
| QRS | Dois-je transmettre plus lentement? | Transmettez plus lentement (---- mots par minute). |
| QRT | Dois-je cesser la transmission? | Cessez la transmission. |
| QRU | Avez-vous quelque chose pour moi? | Je n'ai rien pour vous. |
| QRV | Dois-je transmettre une série de VVV----? | Transmettez une série de VVV----. |
| QRW | Dois-je aviser ---- que vous l'appelez? | Prière d'aviser ---- que je l'appelle. |
| QRX | Dois-je attendre? A quel moment me rappellerez-vous? | Attendez jusqu'à ce que j'aie fini de communiquer avec ---- Je vous rappellerai aussitôt (ou à ----[heure]). |
| QRY | Quel est mon tour? | Votre tour est numéro ---- (ou d'après toute autre indication). |
| QRZ | Par qui suis-je appelé? | Vous êtes appelé par ----. |
| QSA | Quelle est la force de mes signaux? (1 à 5). | La force de vos signaux est (1 à 5). |
| QSB | La force de mes signaux varie-t-elle? | La force de vos signaux varie. |
| QSC | Mes signaux disparaissent-ils totalement par intervalles? | Vos signaux disparaissent totalement par intervalles. |
| QSD | Ma manipulation est-elle mauvaise? | Votre manipulation est mauvaise. |
| QSE | Mes signaux sortent-ils nettement? | Vos signaux sont illisibles. |
| QSF | Ma transmission automatique est-elle bonne? | Vos signaux collent. |
| QSG | Dois-je transmettre les télégrammes par séries de cinq, dix (ou d'après toute autre indication)? | Votre transmission automatique disparaît. Transmettez les télégrammes par séries de cinq, dix (ou d'après toute autre indication). |
| QSH | Dois-je transmettre un télégramme à la fois en le répétant deux fois? | Transmettez un télégramme à la fois en le répétant deux fois. |
| QSI | Dois-je transmettre les télégrammes dans l'ordre alternatif, sans répétition? | Transmettez les télégrammes dans l'ordre alternatif, sans répétition. |
| QSJ | Quelle est la taxe à percevoir par mot pour ---- y compris votre taxe télégraphique intérieure? | La taxe à percevoir par mot pour ---- est de ---- francs, y compris ma taxe télégraphique intérieure. |
| QSK | Dois-je suspendre le trafic? A quelle heure me rappellerez-vous? | Suspendez le trafic. Je vous rappellerai à --- (heure). |
| QSL | Pouvez-vous me donner accusé de réception? | Je vous donne accusé de réception. |
| QSM | Avez-vous reçu mon accusé de réception? | Je n'ai pas reçu votre accusé de réception. |
| QSN | Pouvez-vous me recevoir en ce moment? Dois-je rester sur écoute? | Je ne puis vous recevoir en ce moment. Restez sur écoute. |
| QSO | Pouvez-vous communiquer avec ---- directement (ou par l'intermédiaire de ----)? | Je puis communiquer avec ---- directement (ou par l'intermédiaire de ----). |
| QSP | Voulez-vous retransmettre à ---- gratuitement? | Je retransmettrai à ---- gratuitement. |
| QSQ | Dois-je transmettre chaque mot ou groupe une seule fois? | Transmettez chaque mot ou groupe une seule fois. |
| QSR | L'appel de détresse reçu de ---- a-t-il été réglé? | L'appel de détresse reçu de ---- a été réglé par ---- |
| QSU | Dois-je transmettre sur ---- mètres (ou sur ---- kilocycles), ondes du type A1, A2, A3, ou B? | Transmettez sur ---- mètres (ou sur ---- kilocycles), ondes du type A1, A2, A3, ou B. |
| QSV | Dois-je passer sur l'onde de ---- mètres (ou de ---- kilocycles), pour la suite de nos communications, et continuer après avoir émis quelques VVV? | Je vous écoute. Passez sur l'onde de ---- mètres (ou de ---- kilocycles), pour la suite de nos communications, et continuez après avoir émis quelques VVV. |

INDICATIONS POUR REMPLIR CETTE FORMULE.

Remarque a. Chaque rapport ne fera mention que d'un seul navire ou d'une seule station, voir Remarque d.
Remarque b. Type A1, A2, A3 ou B.
Remarque c. Applicable seulement aux navires et aéronefs, doit être exprimée en latitude et longitude (Greenwich) ou par un vrai relèvement et distance en milles marins ou en kilomètres de quelque endroit bien connu.

Remarque d. Si les deux stations en communication enfreignent le Règlement, un rapport sera fait séparément pour chacune de ces stations.

Remarque e. Doit être exprimée par un groupe de quatre chiffres (0000 à 2359), temps moyen de Greenwich. Si l'infraction porte sur une période considérable, les heures devront être indiquées dans la marge du N° 14.

Remarque f. Un rapport séparé est requis pour chacune des irrégularités, à moins que les erreurs n'aient évidemment été faites par la même personne et n'aient eu lieu que dans une courte période de temps.

Tous les rapports doivent être envoyés en deux exemplaires et être établis dans la mesure du possible à la machine à écrire.

APPENDICE 8. Appendix 8.

Obtention des relèvements radiogoniométriques. Obtaining radio compass bearings.

Ante, p. 2810.

(Voir l'Art. 31 du Règlement général.)

I. Instructions générales. General instructions.

A. Avant d'appeler une ou plusieurs stations radiogoniométriques, la station mobile, pour demander son relèvement, doit rechercher dans la Nomenclature:

1°. Les indicatifs d'appel des stations à appeler pour obtenir les relèvements radiogoniométriques qui l'intéressent.

2°. L'onde sur laquelle les stations radiogoniométriques veillent, et l'onde ou les ondes sur lesquelles elles prennent les relèvements.

3°. Les stations radiogoniométriques qui, grâce à des liaisons par fils spéciaux, peuvent être groupées avec la station radiogoniométrique à appeler.

B. La procédure à suivre par la station mobile dépend de diverses circonstances. D'une façon générale, elle doit tenir compte de ce qui suit:

1°. Si les stations radiogoniométriques ne veillent pas sur la même onde, que ce soit l'onde pour l'opération du relèvement ou une autre onde, les relèvements doivent être demandés séparément à chaque station ou groupe de stations utilisant une onde donnée.

2°. Si toutes les stations radiogoniométriques intéressées veillent sur une même onde, et si elles sont en mesure de prendre des relèvements sur une onde commune—qui peut être une autre onde que l'onde de veille—il y a lieu de les appeler ensemble, afin que les relèvements soient pris par toutes ces stations à la fois, sur une seule et même émission.

3°. Si plusieurs stations radiogoniométriques sont groupées à l'aide de fils spéciaux, une seule d'entre elles doit être appelée, même si toutes sont munies d'appareils émetteurs. Dans ce cas, la station mobile doit cependant, s'il est nécessaire, mentionner dans l'appel, au moyen des indicatifs d'appel, les stations radiogoniométriques dont elle désire obtenir des relèvements.

II. Règles de procédure. Rules of procedure

A. La station mobile appelle la ou les stations radiogoniométriques sur l'onde indiquée à la nomenclature comme étant leur onde de veille. Elle transmet l'abréviation QTE, qui signifie:

"Je désire connaître mon relèvement radiogoniométrique par rapport à la station radiogoniométrique à laquelle je m'adresse"

"Je désire connaître mon relèvement radiogoniométrique par rapport à la ou les stations dont les indicatifs d'appel suivent"

ou

"Je désire connaître mon relèvement radiogoniométrique par rapport aux stations radiogoniométriques groupées sous votre contrôle", le ou les indicatifs d'appel nécessaires, et finit en indiquant, si besoin est, l'onde qu'elle va employer pour faire établir son relèvement. Après cela, elle attend des instructions.

B. La ou les stations radiogoniométriques appelées se préparent à prendre le relèvement; elles avertissent, si nécessaire, les stations radiogoniométriques avec lesquelles elles sont conjuguées. Aussitôt que les stations radiogoniométriques sont prêtes, celles parmi ces stations qui sont pourvues d'appareils émetteurs répondent à l'adresse de la station mobile, dans l'ordre alphabétique de leurs indicatifs d'appel, en donnant leur indicatif d'appel suivi de la lettre K.

Dans le cas où il s'agit de stations radiogoniométriques groupées, la station appelée prévient les autres stations du groupement et informe la station mobile dès que les stations du groupement sont prêtes à prendre le relèvement.

C. Après avoir, si nécessaire, préparé sa nouvelle onde de transmission, la station mobile répond en transmettant son indicatif d'appel, combiné éventuellement avec un autre signal, pendant un temps suffisamment prolongé pour permettre le relèvement.

D. La ou les stations radiogoniométriques qui sont satisfaites de l'opération, transmettent le signal QTE ("Votre relèvement par rapport à moi était de . . . degrés"), précédé de l'heure de l'observation, et suivi d'un groupe de trois chiffres (000 à 359) indiquant, en degrés, le relèvement vrai de la station mobile par rapport à la station radiogoniométrique.

Si une station radiogoniométrique n'est pas satisfaite de l'opération, elle demande à la station mobile de répéter l'émission indiquée en C.

E. Dès que la station mobile a reçu le résultat de l'observation, elle répète le message à la station radiogoniométrique qui, alors, annonce que la répétition est exacte ou, le cas échéant, rectifie en répétant le message. Quand la station radiogoniométrique a la certitude que la station mobile a correctement reçu le message, elle transmet le signal "fin de travail". Ce signal est alors répété par la station mobile, comme indication que l'opération est terminée.

F. Les indications relatives: a) au signal à employer pour obtenir le relèvement; b) à la durée des émissions à faire par la station mobile et c) à l'heure utilisée par la station radiogoniométrique considérée, sont données dans la Nomenclature.

Certified to be a true copy of an authenticated copy of the General Regulations and the Appendices thereto, as edited by the International Bureau of the Telegraph Union at Berne, in conformity with the authority conferred upon the Bureau by the Washington International Radiotelegraph Conference on November 25, 1927.

FRANK B KELLOGG
Secretary of State of the United States of America.

AND WHEREAS, the said Convention and General Regulations, as so edited, have been duly ratified by the Government of the United States of America and by the Governments of Austria, Belgium (including the Belgian Congo Colony and the mandated territory of Ruanda-Urundi administratively linked with the Belgian Congo), British India, Canada, Denmark, Great Britain, the Netherlands (including the Dutch East Indies, Surinam and Curacao), and Norway, and the ratifications of the said Governments have been deposited at Washington in accordance with Article 24 of the said Convention; Ratifications received and deposited.

Ante, p. 2767.

AND WHEREAS, according to official notifications given to the Government of the United States, the said Convention and General Regulations have been ratified also by the Governments of Finland, Hungary, Italy and Morocco; Ratifications officially notified.

NOW, THEREFORE, be it known that I, Calvin Coolidge, President of the United States of America, have caused the said Convention and General Regulations, as edited by the International Telegraph Bureau at Berne, to be made public to the end that the same and every Article and clause thereof may be observed and fulfilled with good faith by the United States and the citizens thereof. Proclamation.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

DONE at the city of Washington this first day of January, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and fifty-third.

INTERNATIONAL RADIOTELEGRAPH CONVENTION

International Radiotelegraph Convention.

CONCLUDED AMONG

Contracting Governments.

Union of South Africa, French Equatorial Africa and other colonies, French West Africa, Portuguese West Africa, Portuguese East Africa and the Portuguese Asiatic possessions, Germany, Argentine Republic, Commonwealth of Australia, Austria, Belgium, Bolivia, Brazil, Bulgaria, Canada, Chile, China, Republic of Colombia, Spanish Colony of the Gulf of Guinea, Belgian Congo, Costa Rica, Cuba, Curacao, Cyrenaica, Denmark, Dominican Republic, Egypt, Republic of El Salvador, Eritrea, Spain, Estonia, United States of America, Finland, France, Great Britain, Greece, Guatemala, Republic of Haiti, Republic of Honduras, Hungary, British India, Dutch East Indies, French Indo-China, Irish Free State, Italy, Japan, Chosen, Taiwan, Japanese Sakhalin, the Leased Territory of Kwantung and the South Sea Islands under Japanese Mandate, Republic of Liberia, Madagascar, Morocco (with the exception of the Spanish Zone), Mexico, Monaco, Nicaragua, Norway, New Zealand, Republic of Panama, Paraguay, the Netherlands, Peru, Poland, Portugal, Rumania, Kingdom of the Serbs, Croats, and Slovenes, Siam, Italian Somaliland, Sweden, Switzerland, Surinam, Syro-Libanese Territories, Republic of San Marino, Czechoslovakia, Tripolitania, Tunis, Turkey, Uruguay, and Venezuela.

The undersigned, plenipotentiaries of the Governments of the countries enumerated above, having met in conference at Washington, have, by common accord and subject to ratification, concluded the following Convention:

ARTICLE 1

Definitions.

Definitions

In the present Convention:

Terms specified.

The term "radio communication," applies to the transmission by radio of writing, signs, signals, pictures, and sounds of all kinds by means of Hertzian waves.

The term "radio communication station" or simply "station" means a station equipped to carry on radio communications.

The term "fixed station" means a station permanently located and communicating with one or more stations similarly located.

The term "mobile station" means a station capable of moving and which ordinarly does move.

The term "land station" means a station other than a mobile station used for radio communication with mobile stations.

The term "mobile service" means the radio communication service carried on between mobile stations and land stations, and by mobile stations communicating among themselves.

The term "international service" means a radio communication service between a station in one country and a station in another country, or between a land station and a mobile station located outside the limits of the country in which the land station is situated, or between two or more mobile stations on or over the high seas. An internal or national radio communication service which is likely to cause interference with other services outside the limits of the country in which it operates is considered as an international service from the viewpoint of interference.

The term "general communication system" means all the existing telegraph and telephone channels of communication, wire and radio, open to public service, but excluding the radio communication channels of the mobile service.

The term "public service" means a service for the use of the general public.

The term "limited service" means a service which may be used only by specified persons or for specific purposes.

The term "public correspondence" means all radio communications which a station, by reason of being open to public service, must accept from the public for transmission.

The term "private enterprise" means any person, company, or corporation which operates one or more stations for radio communication.

The term "radiotelegram" means a telegram originating in or destined to a mobile station, transmitted by radio over all or part of its route.

ARTICLE 2

Scope of the Convention.

Scope of the Convention

§1. The contracting Governments undertake to apply the provisions of the present Convention to all radio communication stations established, or operated by the contracting Governments, and open to the international service of public correspondence. They undertake likewise, to apply these provisions to the special services covered by the Regulations annexed to the present Convention.

§2. They agree, moreover, to take or to propose to their respective legislatures the necessary measures to impose the observance of the provisions of the present Convention and the Regulations annexed thereto upon individuals and private enterprises authorized to establish and operate radio communication stations in the international service, whether or not open to public correspondence.

§3. The contracting Governments recognize the right of two contracting Governments to organize radio communications, between themselves, provided only that they conform to all provisions of the present Convention and the Regulations annexed thereto.

ARTICLE 3

Intercommunication

Intercommunication.

§1. (1) So far as international communications between fixed stations are concerned, each contracting Government reserves entire freedom with relation to the organization of the service and the determination of the correspondence to be exchanged by the stations carrying on these communications.

(2) When, however, these fixed stations carry on an international service of public correspondence, either from country to country or with stations in the mobile service, they must conform, respectively, for each of these two classes of communications, to the provisions of the present Convention and of the Regulations annexed thereto.

§2. With regard to communications between stations participating in the mobile service, stations carrying on such communications must, within the limits of their normal operations, exchange radiotelegrams reciprocally without regard to the radio system adopted by them.

§3. In order not to impede scientific progress, however, the provisions of the preceding paragraph shall not prevent the eventual use of a radio system incapable of communicating with other systems, provided that this incapacity be due to the specific nature of that system and it be not the result of devices adopted solely for the purpose of preventing intercommunication.

ARTICLE 4

Limited service

Limited service.

Notwithstanding the provisions of Article 3, a radio communication station may be assigned to a limited international service of public correspondence determined by the purpose of the correspondence or by other circumstances independent of the system employed.

ARTICLE 5

Secrecy of correspondence. False or deceptive signals

Secrecy of correspondence. False or deceptive signals.

The contracting Governments agree to take or to propose to their respective legislatures the necessary measures to prevent:

(a) The unauthorized transmission and reception by means of radio installations of correspondence of a private nature.

(b) The unauthorized divulging of the contents, or simply of the existence, of correspondence which may have been intercepted by means of radio installations.

(c) The unauthorized publication or use, of correspondence received by means of radio installations.

(d) The transmission or the placing in circulation of false or deceptive distress signals or distress calls.

ARTICLE 6

Investigation of violations.

Investigation of violations

The contracting Governments undertake to aid each other by supplying information concerning violations of the provisions of the present Convention and of the Regulations annexed thereto, as well as, if necessary, in the prosecution of persons violating these provisions.

ARTICLE 7

Connection with the general communication system.

Connection with the general communication system

Each of the contracting Governments agrees to take the necessary measures in order that land stations established on its territory and open to the international service of public correspondence shall be connected with the general communication system or at least to take steps to assure rapid and direct exchanges between these stations and the general communication system.

ARTICLE 8

Exchange of information regarding stations and service.

Exchange of information regarding stations and service

The contracting Governments shall notify each other, through the intermediary of the International Bureau of the Telegraph Union, of the names of stations open to the international service of public correspondence and of stations carrying on special services covered by the Regulations annexed to the present Convention, as well as of all data for facilitating and expediting radio communication.

ARTICLE 9

Special devices.

Special devices

Each of the contracting Governments reserves the right to prescribe or permit, in the stations covered by Article 8, independent of the installation, the data relating to which shall be published in accordance with that Article, other devices to be established and operated for special radio transmission, without publishing the details of such devices.

ARTICLE 10

Conditions to be observed by stations. Interference.

Conditions to be observed by stations. Interference

§1. The stations covered by Article 2 must, so far as practicable, be established and operated under the best conditions known to the practice of the service and must be maintained abreast of scientific and technical progress.

§2. All stations, whatever their purpose, must, so far as practicable, be established and operated so as not to interfere with the radio communications or services of other contracting Governments and of individuals or of private enterprises authorized by these contracting Governments to carry on public radio communication service.

ARTICLE 11

Priority for distress calls

Priority of distress calls.

Stations participating in the mobile service shall be obliged to give absolute priority to distress calls, regardless of their origin, to answer such calls, and to take such action with regard thereto as may be required.

Charges

Charges.

Charges applicable to radiotelegrams and the various cases in which these are allowed radio franking privileges shall be established in accordance with the provisions of the Regulations annexed to the present Convention.

ARTICLE 13

Regulations. Conferences

Regulations.

§1. The provisions of the present Convention are completed by:

(1) General Regulations which have the same force and become effective at the same time as the Convention.

(2) Supplementary Regulations which bind only the Governments which have signed them.

Conferences.

§2. The provisions of the present Convention and of the Regulations annexed thereto shall be revised by conferences of Plenipotentiaries of the contracting Governments, each conference fixing the place and the time of the following meeting.

§3. Before any deliberation each Conference shall establish Rules of Procedure setting forth the conditions under which debate shall be organized and carried on.

ARTICLE 14

Special arrangements

Special arrangements.

The contracting Governments reserve for themselves and for private enterprises duly authorized by them the right to make special arrangements on matters of service which do not interest the Governments generally. These arrangements, however, must be in conformity with the Convention and the Regulations annexed thereto so far as concerns the interference which their execution might produce with the services of other countries.

ARTICLE 15

Suspension of the service

Suspension of the service.

Each government reserves the right to suspend international radio communication service for an indefinite period, if deemed necessary either generally or only for certain connections and/or for certain kinds of radio communication, provided that it shall immediately so advise each of the other contracting Governments through the intermediary of the International Bureau of the Telegraph Union.

ARTICLE 16

International Bureau

International Bureau.

§1. The International Bureau of the Telegraph Union shall be charged with collecting, coordinating, and publishing information of all kinds relative to radio services, with examining the requests for changes in the Convention and the Regulations annexed thereto, with promulgating the amendments adopted, and generally with performing all administrative tasks with which it shall have been charged in the interest of international radio services.

Post, p. 2882.

§2. The expenses resulting from these activities shall be borne by all the contracting Governments in the proportion fixed by the General Regulations.

ARTICLE 17

International technical consulting committee, etc.
Post, p. 2881.

International technical consulting committee on radio communications

§1. An International Technical Consulting Committee on Radio Communications shall be established for the purpose of studying technical and related questions pertaining to these communications.

§2. Its composition, activities, and operations shall be defined in the General Regulations annexed to the present Convention.

ARTICLE 18

Relations with stations of noncontracting countries.

Relations with stations of non-contracting countries

§1. Each of the contracting governments reserves the right to determine the conditions under which it will accept telegrams or radiotelegrams originating in or destined to a station not subject to the provisions of the present Convention.

§2. If a telegram or a radiotelegram is accepted, it must be transmitted, and the usual charges must be applied to it.

ARTICLE 19

Adherences.

Adherences

§1. (1) Governments which are not parties to the present Convention shall be permitted to adhere to it upon their request.

(2) Such adherence shall be communicated through diplomatic channels to the contracting Government within whose territory the last Conference shall have been held and by the latter to the remaining Governments.

(3) The adherence shall carry with it to the fullest extent acceptance of all the clauses of the present Convention and admission to all the advantages stipulated therein.

§2. (1) The adherence to the Convention by the Government of a country having colonies, protectorates, or territories under sovereignty or mandate shall not carry with it the adherence of these colonies, protectorates, or territories under sovereignty or mandate, unless a declaration to that effect is made by that Government.

(2) Such colonies, protectorates, or territories under sovereignty or mandate as a whole, or each of them separately, may form the subject of a separate adherence or of a separate denunciation within the provisions of the present Article and of Article 23.

Post, p. 2843.

ARTICLE 20

Arbitration.

Arbitration

§1. In case of disagreement between two contracting Governments, regarding the interpretation or execution of the present Convention or of the Regulations provided for in Article 13, the question must, at the request of one of these governments, be submitted to arbitration. For that purpose each of the Governments involved shall choose another Government not interested in the question at issue.

§2. If agreement between the two arbitrators can not be reached the latter shall appoint another contracting Government equally disinterested in the question at issue. If the two arbitrators can not agree upon the choice of this third Government, each arbitrator shall propose a contracting Government not interested in the dispute; and lots shall be drawn between the Governments proposed. The drawing shall devolve upon the Government within whose territory the International Bureau mentioned in Article 16 operates. The decision of the arbitrators shall be by majority vote.

ARTICLE 21

Exchange of laws and regulations

Exchange of laws and regulations.

The contracting Governments shall communicate to one another, if they deem it useful, through the intermediary of the International Bureau of the Telegraph Union, the laws and regulations which have been or which may be promulgated in their countries relative to the object of the present Convention.

ARTICLE 22

Naval and military installations

Naval and military installations.

§1. The contracting Governments retain their entire liberty regarding radio installations not covered in Article 2, and especially with reference to naval and military installations.

§2. All these installations and stations must, so far as practicable, comply with the provisions of the regulations regarding help to be given in case of distress and measures to be taken to prevent interference. They must also, so far as practicable, observe such provisions of the regulations as concern the types of waves and the frequencies to be used, according to the kind of service which these stations carry on.

§3. When, however, these installations and stations are used for public correspondence or participate in the special services governed by the Regulations annexed to the present Convention, they must, in general, conform to the provisions of the Regulations for the conduct of these services.

ARTICLE 23

Execution, duration and denunciation

Execution, duration and denunciation.

§1. The present Convention shall go into effect on January 1, 1929; and shall remain in force for an indeterminate period and until one year from the day on which a denunciation thereof shall have been made.

§2. The denunciation shall affect only the Government in whose name it has been made. The Convention shall remain in force for the other contracting Governments.

Ratification

Ratification.

§1. The present Convention shall be ratified and the ratifications thereof shall be deposited in Washington with the least practicable delay.

§2. In case one or more of the Contracting Governments should not ratify the Convention it shall be none the less binding upon the Governments which shall have ratified it.

In witness whereof, the respective Plenipotentiaries have signed the Convention in a single copy, which shall remain in the archives of the Government of the United States of America and one copy of which shall be sent to each Government.

General Regulations to International Radiotelegraph Convention.

GENERAL REGULATIONS ANNEXED TO THE INTERNATIONAL RADIOTELEGRAPH CONVENTION

ARTICLE 1

Definitions.

Definitions

Supplementary.

Ante, p. 2838.

In the present Regulations, supplementing the definitions given in Article 1 of the Convention:

The term "mobile station" means any mobile station.

The term "mobile stations" means all mobile stations, whatever their location.

The term "ship station" means a station on board a vessel not permanently moored.

The term "aircraft station" means a station on board an aircraft.

The term "coast station" means a land station used for communication with ship stations. It may be a fixed station used also for communication with ship stations; it is then considered as a coast station only for the duration of its service with ship stations.

The term "aeronuatical station" means a land station used for communication with aircraft stations. It may be a fixed station used also for communication with aircraft stations; it is then considered as an aeronautical station only for the duration of its service with aircraft stations.

The term "station" means any station, without regard to its use.

The term "land station" has a general meaning; it is used when the intention is to cover at the same time communications with ship stations, with aircraft stations, and with any other mobile stations. The term then covers a coast station, in so far as concerns communication with ship stations, an aeronautical station in so far as concerns communication with aircraft stations and any station on land used for communication with any other mobile stations.

The term "broadcasting service" means a service carrying on the dissemination of radiotelephone communications intended to be received by the public, directly or by the intermediary of relay stations.

The term "fixed service" means a service carrying on radio communications of any kind between fixed points, exclusive of broadcasting and special services.

The term "mobile service" means a radio communication service carried on between mobile stations and land stations, and by mobile stations communicating with one another, exclusive of special services.

The term "special services" means the services of radiobeacons, radio compasses, transmission of time signals, notices to navigators, standard waves, transmissions having a scientific object, etc.

The term "radiobeacon" means a special station, the transmissions of which are intended to enable a receiving station to determine its bearing or a direction with respect to the radiobeacon.

The term "radio-compass station" means a station provided with special apparatus intended to determine the direction of the emissions of other stations.

The term "broadcasting station" means a station used for the dissemination of radiotelephone emissions intended to be received by the public.

The term "private experimental station" means:

1. A private station intended for experiments with a view to the development of radio technique or radio art;

2. A station used by an "amateur," i. e., by a duly authorized person interested in radio technique solely with a personal aim and without pecuniary interest.

The term "administration" means a Government administration.

ARTICLE 2

License

License.

Requirements.

§1. No radio transmitting station shall be established or operated by an individual or by a private enterprise without special license issued by the Government of the country to which the station in question is subject

§2. The holder of a license must undertake to preserve the secrecy of correspondence, both telegraph and telephone. Moreover, the effect of the license must be that the interception of radio correspondence other than that which the station is authorized to receive is forbidden, and that, in the case where such correspondence is involuntarily received, it must not be reproduced in writing, communicated to others, or used for any purpose.

§3. In order to facilitate the verification of licenses it is recommended that there be added, where necessary, to the text written in the vernacular, a translation of this text into a language more generally used in international relations.

Choice and calibration of apparatus

Choice and calibration of apparatus.

§1. The choice of radio apparatus and devices to be used by a station shall be unrestricted, provided the waves emitted comply with the provisions of these Regulations.

§2. (1) The Administrations must take the necessary measures to assure themselves that the frequency meters (wave meters) employed in the adjustment of the transmitting apparatus are as accurately calibrated as possible by comparison with their national standard instruments.

(2) In case of international disagreement, the comparisons shall be made by an absolute method of measuring frequencies.

ARTICLE 4

Classification and use of radio emissions

Classification and use of radio emissions.

§1. (1) Radio emissions shall be divided into two classes:

A. Continuous waves,

B. Damped waves,

defined as follows:

Class A.—Waves the successive oscillations of which are identical under permanent conditions.

Class B.—Waves consisting of successive trains in which the amplitude of the oscillations, after having reached a maximum, decreases gradually.

(2) Waves of Class A include the following types, which are defined below:

Type A1: Unmodulated continuous waves. Continuous waves, the amplitude or frequency of which is varied by means of telegraphic keying.

Type A2: Continuous waves modulated at audible frequency. Continuous waves, the amplitude or frequency of which is varied in a periodic manner at audible frequency, combined with telegraphic keying.

Type A3: Continuous waves modulated by speech or by music. Continuous waves, the amplitude or frequency of which is varied according to the characteristic vibrations of speech or music.

(3) The above classification, into waves of Types A1, A2, and A3, shall not prevent the use, under conditions fixed by the Administrations concerned, of modulated and/or manipulated waves, by methods not falling within the definitions of Types A1, A2, and A3.

(4) These definitions do not relate to systems of transmitting apparatus.

(5) Waves will be designated in the first place by their frequency in kilocycles per second (kc/s). Following this designation there will be indicated, in parentheses, the approximate length in meters. In the present Regulations, the approximate value of the wave length in meters is the quotient of the number 300,000 divided by the frequency expressed in kilocycles per second.

§2. Waves emitted by a station must be maintained upon the authorized frequency, as exactly as the state of the art permits, and their radiation must also be as free as practicable from all emissions not essential to the type of communication carried on.

§3. The interested administrations shall fix the tolerance allowed between the mean frequency of emissions and the recorded frequency; they shall endeavor to take advantage of technical improvements progressively to reduce this tolerance.

§4. The width of a frequency band occupied by the emission of a station must be reasonably consistent with good current engineering practice for the type of communication involved.

§5. In cases where frequency bands are assigned to a specified service, stations in that service must use frequencies sufficiently remote from the limits of these bands, so as not to produce serious interference with the work of stations belonging to services to which are allocated immediately neighboring frequency bands.

ARTICLE 5

Allocation and use of frequencies (wave lengths) and types of emission.

Allocation and use of frequencies (wave lengths) and types of emission

§1. The Administrations of the contracting countries may assign any frequency and any type of wave to any radio station within their jurisdiction upon the sole condition that no interference with any service of another country will result therefrom.

§2. These Administrations, however, agree to assign to stations, which by their nature are believed capable of causing serious international interference, frequencies and types of waves in conformity with the rules for allocation and use of waves as set forth below.

§3. The Administrations agree also to consider the table of allocation of frequency bands (see section 7) as a guide giving, for the different services, the limits which must be observed by all new stations and to which they shall adapt all existing stations with the least practicable delay, without diminishing the quality of the service which these existing stations carry on and taking into account the present state of their installations.

§4. Nevertheless, the frequencies of all broadcasting stations now working on frequencies below 300 kc/s (wave lengths above 1,000 m.) shall, in principle, not later than a year after the present Regulations become effective, be removed either to the band included between 160 and 224 kc/s (wave lengths 1,875–1,340 m.) or to the band included between 550 and 1,500 kc/s (wave lengths 545–200 m.).

§5. No new broadcasting station shall be authorized to work in the frequency band included between 160 and 224 kc/s (wave lengths 1,875–1,340 m.) unless no inconvenience therefrom will result to existing radio communication services, including broadcasting services carried on by the stations which are already using the frequencies included in this band, and stations the frequencies of which shall be changed to fall within this same band in conformity with the provision of paragraph 4 above.

§6. The power of existing broadcasting stations using frequencies below 300 kc/s (wave lengths above 1,000 m.) shall not be increased if any inconvenience will result therefrom to existing radio communication services.

§7. The following table shows the allocation of frequencies (approximate wave lengths) among the various services:

Table of allocations.

[1] The wave of 143 kc/s (2,100m) is the calling wave for mobile stations using long continuous waves.
[2] The wave of 333 kc/s (900m) is the international calling wave for air service.
[3] The wave of 500 kc/s (600m) is the international calling and distress wave. It may be used for other purposes on condition that it will not interfere with call signals and distress signals.
[4] Mobile services may use the band 550 to 1,300 kc/s (545–230m) on condition that this will not cause interference with the services of a country which uses this band exclusively for broadcasting.

Table—Continued.

| Frequencies in kilocycles per second (kc/s) | Approximate wave lengths in meters | Services |

| 28,000–30,000 | 10.7 – 10 | Amateurs and experimental. |
| 30,000–56,000 | 10 – 5.35 | Not reserved. |
| 56,000–60,000 | 5.35– 5 | Amateurs and experimental. |

NOTE.—It is recognized that short waves (frequencies from 6,000 to 23,000 kc/s approximately—wave lengths from 50 to 13m approximately) are very efficient for long distance communications. It is recommended that as a general rule this band of waves be reserved for this purpose, in services between fixed points.

Uses designated.

§8. (1) Use of Type B waves of a frequency of less than 375 kc/s (wave lengths above 800 m.) shall be forbidden beginning January 1, 1930, subject to the provisions of paragraph 1 of the present Article and except for existing land stations.

(2) No new transmitting installations using Type B waves shall be made in ships or in aircraft beginning January 1, 1930, except when such transmitters working on full power shall dissipate less than 300 watts measured at the input of the supply transformer at audible frequency.

(3) The use of Type B waves of all frequencies shall be forbidden beginning January 1, 1940, except for transmitters fulfilling the conditions as to power indicated in (2) above.

(4) No new Type B transmitting installation shall henceforth be made in a land or fixed station. Waves of this type shall be forbidden in all land stations beginning January 1, 1935.

§10. The use of Type A2 waves shall not be authorized between 100 and 150 kc/s (3,000 and 2,000 m.), except in the band 100–125 kc/s (3,000–2,400 m.), for time signals exclusively.

§11. In the band 460–550 kc/s (650–545 m.) no type of emission likely to render inoperative the distress, alarm, security, or urgent signals sent on 500 kc/s (600 m.) shall be authorized.

§12. In principle, any station carrying on a service between fixed points on a wave with a frequency below 110 kc/s (wave lengths above 2,725 m. ) must use only one frequency, chosen from the bands allocated to that service (section 7 above), for each of its transmitters capable of simultaneous operation. A station shall not be permitted to use a frequency other than that allocated, as stated above for a service between fixed points.

§13. In principle, stations shall employ the same frequencies and the same types of emission for the transmission of messages by the one-way method as for their normal service. Regional arrangements may be made, however, with a view to exempting stations concerned from the application of this rule.

§14. In order to facilitate the exchange of synoptic meteorological messages in European regions, two frequencies between 37.5 and 100 kc/s (wave lengths of 8,000–3,000 m.) shall be allocated to this service by regional arrangements. Uses.—Continued.

§15. To facilitate rapid transmission and distribution of information of value in the detection of crime and pursuit of criminals, a frequency between 37.5 and 100 kc/s (wave lengths of 8,000–3,000 m.) shall be reserved for this purpose by regional arrangements.

§16. (1) The frequencies assigned by Administrations to all new fixed land or radio broadcasting stations which they may have authorized or of which they may have undertaken the installation must be chosen in such a manner as to prevent so far as practicable interference with international services carried on by existing stations the frequencies of which have already been notified to the International Bureau. In the case of a change of the frequency of an existing fixed land or broadcasting station, the new frequency assigned to this station must comply with the above conditions.

(2) The interested Governments shall agree, in case of need, upon the determination of the waves to be assigned to the stations in question as well as upon the conditions for the use of waves so assigned. If no arrangement intended to eliminate interference can be arrived at, the provisions of Article 20 of the Convention may be applied.

§17. (1) Each administration shall promptly advise the International Bureau when it decides upon, or authorizes, the establishment of a radio communication station, the operation of which necessitates the assignment for its regular service of a particular frequency below 37.5 kc/s (wave length above 8,000 m.) in the case where the use of this frequency might cause international interference over broad areas. This notice must reach the International Bureau four months prior to the construction of the station contemplated in order to dispose of objections which any of the Administrations might raise against the adoption of the proposed frequency.

(2) In the case of a fixed short wave station intended to carry on regular service and the radiation of which would be likely to cause international interference, the Administration concerned must, as a general rule, before the completion of the station and in any case before it is open for service, notify to the International Bureau the frequency assigned to that station.

(3) Such notification, however, shall be sent only when the Administration concerned shall have ascertained that the service in question can be established within a reasonable time.

§18. (1) Each Administration may assign to amateur stations frequencies chosen from the bands allotted to amateurs in the allocation table (section 7 above). Amateur stations.

(2) The maximum power which these stations may use shall be fixed by the Administration concerned, taking into account the technical qualifications of the operators and the conditions under which the stations must work.

(3) All the general rules fixed in the Convention and in these Regulations apply to amateur stations. In particular, the frequency of the waves emitted must be as constant and as free from harmonics as the state of the art permits.

(4) In the course of their transmission, these stations must transmit their call signals at frequent intervals.

ARTICLE 6

Service of private experimental stations

Service of private experimental stations.

§1. The exchange of communications between private experimental stations of different countries shall be forbidden if the Administration of one of the interested countries has given notice of its opposition to this exchange.

§2. When this exchange is permitted the communications must, unless the interested countries have entered into other agreements among themselves, be carried on in plain language and be limited to messages bearing upon the experiments and to remarks of a private nature for which, by reason of their unimportance, recourse to the public telegraph service might not be warranted.

§3. In a private experimental station authorized to carry on transmission any person operating the apparatus, either on his own account or for another, must have proved his ability to transmit text in International Morse Code signals and to read by ear texts thus transmitted. He can be replaced only by authorized persons possessing the same qualifications.

§4. Administrations shall take such measures as they deem necessary to verify the qualifications, from a technical point of view, of all persons handling the apparatus.

ARTICLE 7

Requirements.

§1. (1) The service of every mobile radiotelegraph of radiotelephone station must be carried on by a radiotelegraph operator holding a certificate issued by the government to which the station is subject. However, in mobile stations equipped with a low-power radiotelephone installation (of a power not exceeding 300 watts input) capable of being used only for telephony, the service may be carried on by an operator holding only a radiotelephone operator's certificate.

(2) In case of the absolute unavailability of the operator in the course of a crossing, flight, or voyage, the master or the person responsible for the mobile may authorize, but only temporarily, an operator holding a certificate issued by another contracting Government to carry on the radio service. When it becomes necessary to employ as temporary operator a person not holding the prescribed certificate, his service must be limited to emergency cases. In any case, the operator or the above-mentioned person must be replaced so soon as practicable by an operator holding the certificate prescribed in the preceding paragraph.

§2. There are two classes of certificates and of special certificates for radiotelegraph operators and one class of certificates for radiotelephone operators.

Certificates for radiotelegraph operators.

Certificates for radiotelegraph operators

§3. (1) Each Government shall be free to fix the number of examinations deemed necessary to obtain a first-class certificate.

(2) The first-class certificate must state that the operator possesses the requisite qualification for obtaining the radiotelephone operator's certificate. Each government shall be free to require or not the same qualifications in the case of the second-class certificate.

Qualifications.

(3) The minimum qualifications for obtaining these certificates shall be the following:

First class.

A. First class

The first-class certificate shall state the professional and technical qualifications of the operator with regard to:

(a) Knowledge of the general principles of electricity, of the theory of radiotelegraphy and radiotelephony, and of the practical operation of all apparatus used in the mobile service;

(b) Theoretical and practical knowledge of the operation of the accessory apparatus, such as motor-generator sets, storage batteries, etc., used in the operation and adjustment of the apparatus specified in subparagraph (a).

(c) Practical knowledge necessary to make, with the means on board, the repairs of damage which may have occurred to the apparatus during a voyage.

(d) Correct transmission and correct reception by ear of code groups (mixed letters, figures, and punctuation marks) at a speed of 20 (twenty) groups per minute, and of text in native plain language, at a speed of 25 (twenty-five) words per minute. Each code group must be composed of five characters, each figure or punctuation mark counting as two characters. The average word of the text in native plain language should contain five characters.

(e) Detailed knowledge of the regulations applying to the exchange of radio communications, knowledge of documents relative to charges for radiotelegrams, knowledge of the radio-telegraph part of the Regulations for the Safety of Life at Sea, and, in the case of aerial navigation, knowledge of the special provisions regulating the aerial navigation radio service.

(f) Knowledge of the general geography of the five parts of the world, and particularly the principal wire and radio connections.

B. Second class

Second class.

The second-class certificate shall state the professional qualifications of the operator with regard to:

(a) Elementary theoretical and practical knowledge of electricity and radiotelegraphy, as well as knowledge of the adjustment and operation of apparatus used in the mobile service.

(b) Elementary theoretical and practical knowledge of the operation of accessory apparatus, such as motor-generator sets, storage batteries, etc., used in the operation and adjustment of the apparatus mentioned in subparagraph (a).

(c) Practical knowledge sufficient for making small repairs in case of damage to the apparatus.

(d) Correct transmission and correct reception by ear of code groups (mixed letters, figures, and punctuation marks) at a speed of 16 (sixteen) groups per minute and of text in native plain language at a speed of 20 (twenty) words per minute. Each code group must be composed of five characters, each figure or punctuation mark counting as two characters. The average word of the text in native plain language should contain five characters.

(e) Knowledge of the regulations applying to the exchange of radio communications, knowledge of documents regarding charges for radiotelegrams, knowledge of the radiotelegraph part of the Regulations for the Safety of Life at Sea, and, in the case of aerial navigation, knowledge of the special provisions regulating the aerial navigation radio service.

C. Special certificate

Special certificate.

(1) The radiotelegraph service of small vessels (to which the Convention for the Safety of Life at Sea is not applicable) may be carried on by operators holding a special certificate satisfying the following requirements:

(a) The operators of such of these mobile stations as engage in the international service of public correspondence and in the general work of mobile stations must be capable of carrying on radio communications at the sending and receiving speed required for obtaining a second-class certificate.

(b) When these stations do not participate in this service but normally act in case of distress, and work on a particular wave without thereby disturbing other radio services, it devolves upon each interested government to fix the conditions for obtaining the certificate.

(2) As an exception it is provisionally conceded that the government of New Zealand may issue a special certificate, for which it shall fix the requirements, to operators of small ships of its nationality which do not go far from the coast of that country and which engage only to a limited extent in the international service of public correspondence and in the general work of mobile stations.

§4. (1) Before becoming chief operator of a ship station of the first class (Article 20, section 2) a first-class operator must have had at least one year of experience as operator on board a ship or in a coast station.

(2) To become chief operator of a ship station of the second class (Article 20, section 2) a first-class operator must have had at least six months' experience as operator on board a ship or in a coast station.

(3) In order to carry on the service as a first-class operator in an aircraft, the operator must have had the number of flying hours in the radio service fixed by the Administration which issues the certificate.

§5. Operators who have successfully passed the examination for a second-class certificate shall received from their Government temporary certificates authorizing them to embark as chief operators in vessels of the third class (Article 20, section 2). After having had six months' service on board ship they may receive the final second-class certificate authorizing them to carry out similar duties in vessels of the second class.

Certificates for radiotelephone operators.

(2) This certificate shall state the professional qualifications of the operator with regard to:

(c) Knowledge of the regulations applying to the exchange of radiotelephone communications and the part of the radiotelegraph regulations relating to safety of life.

(3) Holders of radiotelephone operators' certificates can only be employed in ships, aircraft, etc., fitted with a low-power radiotelephone installation (300 watts input at maximum) and only for the telephone service.

(4) Radiotelephone operators in the aeronautical service must have had a minimum number of hours of flight on board an aircraft fixed by the Administration concerned.

(5) The holder of a first class radiotelegraph operators' certificate as well as the holder of a second class radiotelegraph operators' certificate possessing a radiotelephone operator's certificate may carry on the radiotelephone service in any mobile station.

§7. Each Administration shall take the necessary measures to require operators to observe the secrecy of correspondence and to prevent to the greatest possible extent the fraudulent use of certificates.

§8. The interested Governments shall take the necessary steps so that certificates issued under former regulations shall remain valid for the holders of those certificates who are able generally to meet the new requirements for issue.

§9. The provisions of the present Article shall become obligatory not later than three years after the present Regulations become effective.

ARTICLE 8

Authority of the master

Authority of master.

§1. The radio service of a mobile station shall be placed under the supreme authority of the master or of the person responsible for the vessel, aircraft, or other mobile station.

§2. The master or person responsible, as well as all persons who may have knowledge of the text or simply of the existence of radio telegrams, or of any information whatever obtained by means of the radio service, shall be bound to maintain and ensure the secrecy of correspondence.

ARTICLE 9

General procedure in the mobile service

General procedure in the mobile service.

§1. In the mobile service, the following detailed procedure shall be obligatory, except in the case of distress calls or of distress correspondence, to which the provisions of Article 19 are applicable. Post, p. 2869.

§2. (1) Before proceeding with a transmission, the sending station must make sure that no excessive interference will be caused to other communications in progress within its range on the frequency to be used; if there is probablity of such interference occurring, it shall await the first break in the transmission with which it might interfere.

(2) If, in spite of this precaution, a radio transmission in progress is interrupted by the call, the latter must cease at the first request of a land station open to the international service of public correspondence or by any aeronautical station whatsoever. The station requesting this cessation must indicate the approximate duration of the suspension imposed upon the station whose call has been stopped.

§3. In mobile service radiotelegraph correspondence the following procedure shall be used for calling a station:

(1) (a) The calling station shall make the call by transmitting not more than three times the call signal of the station called and the word DE, followed not more than three times by its own call signal.

(b) In making this call the calling station shall use the wave on which the station called keeps watch.

(2) The station called shall reply by transmitting not more than three times the call signal of the calling station, the word DE, its own call signal, and, if it is ready to receive traffic, the letter K (invitation to transmit), followed if deemed useful, by the appropriate abbreviation and by a number indicating the strength of the signals received.

(3) If the station called is unable to receive, it shall replace in the reply formula the letter K by the signal . _ . . . (wait), followed by a number indicating in minutes the probable duration of the wait. If it is probable that this delay will exceed ten minutes, the delay must be explained.

(4) When there are several radiotelegrams to be transmitted in the same direction, they may be transmitted in series with the consent of the station which is to receive them.

(5) This latter station, in giving its consent, shall indicate the number of radiotelegrams which it is ready to receive in a series, and this indication shall be followed by the letter K.

(6) In principle, a radiotelegram containing more than 100 words shall be considered as forming a series, or shall terminate a series then under way.

(7) As a general rule, long radiotelegrams in plain language, code, or cipher, shall be transmitted in sections, each section containing 50 words in the case of plain language and 20 words or groups where code or cipher is used.

(8) At the end of each section the signal . . — — . . (?) meaning: "Have you received the radiotelegram correctly up to this point,?" shall be transmitted. If the section has been correctly received, the receiving station shall send the letter K and the transmission of the radiotelegram shall be continued.

9 (a) The transmission of a radiotelegram shall be terminated by the signal . — . — . (end of transmission) followed by the call signal of the sending station and the letter K.

(b) In case of transmission in series, the call signal of the sending station and the letter K shall be sent only at the end of the series.

10 (a) Acknowledgment of receipt of a radiotelegram shall be sent by means of the letter R followed by the number of the radiotelegram; this acknowledgment of receipt shall be preceded by the following formula: call signal of the sending station, word DE, call signal of the receiving station.

(b) Acknowledgment of receipt of a series of radiotelegrams shall be sent by means of the letter R followed by the number of radiotelegrams received as well as by the numbers of the first and of the last telegram composing the series. This acknowledgment of receipt shall be preceded by the formula given above.

(11) The conclusion of work between two stations shall be indicated by each of them, by means of the signal . . . — . — (end of work) followed by its own call signal.

§4. (1) If the calling station intends to transmit its traffic with a type of wave and/or on a frequency other than those employed for the call, it shall send after its own call signal the service indications defining the type of wave and/or the frequency which it proposes to use for its transmission. The absence of these service indications shall signify that it does not intend to change the type of wave or frequency.

(2) If the station called wishes the calling station to send on a type of wave and/or frequency other than those used for the call, it shall add to the reply formula service indications defining the type of wave and/or the frequency which it desires to be used. The absence of these service indications shall signify that it does not desire that the type of wave and/or the frequency used for the call be changed.

(3) If the calling station has indicated that it is going to use for transmission a type of wave and/or a frequency other than those with which the call was made, the station called in the reply formula shall precede the letter K by abbreviations, indicating that from then on it will listen on the type of wave and/or the frequency announced and that it itself, will use the said type of wave and/or frequency for the entire period of communication.

(4) If the calling station is a land station which, according to the provisions of the present regulations, may employ a wave other than those which it is possible for the mobile station to transmit, it may after having established contact, use this wave to transmit its traffic. In such case the procedure shall be as follows:

(a) The land station shall call the mobile station by using the wave on which the latter is keeping watch; and after having obtained an answer shall inform it by means of the appropriate abbreviation that it must listen thereafter on the wave which it intends to use.

(b) If the mobile station can receive the wave indicated, it shall send the letter K. If not, it shall inform the land station by means of the appropriate abbreviation that it is impossible to receive the proposed wave and the two stations shall agree to adopt another working wave.

(5) The land station shall continue to use the wave which it has employed until after the transmission of the signal . . . — . — (end of work), followed by its call signal. This signal, followed by its call signal, shall be repeated by the mobile station on the international calling wave assigned to its service.

(6) When the land station which receives a request to change the type of wave and/or the frequency can not, or does not desire to comply with this request, it shall not transmit the signal K, but shall propose, by employing the appropriate abbreviations, the use of another type of wave and/or another frequency.

§5. (1) On the wave of 500 kc/s (600 m.) (or on an authorized wave, in the case of communications with an aircraft station), the periods of continuous work between two stations must not exceed approximately ten minutes; after each of these periods a pause must be observed in order to permit, if necessary, another station to send a priority call or to transmit a priority message.

(2) On the other waves assigned to the maritime mobile service the length of the period of continuous work shall be controlled by the coast station. In the case of communications between two ship stations, the receiving station shall determine the length of the periods of continuous work.

(3) In communications between aircraft stations the length of the periods of continuous work shall be controlled by the receiving aircraft station, subject to the intervention, for that purpose, of the aeronautical station. In communications between aeronautical stations and aircraft stations, the aeronautical station shall control the length of the periods of continuous work.

§6. When a station receives a call without being certain that such call is intended for it, it shall not reply until the call has been repeated and is understood. When, on the other hand, a station receives a call which is addressed to it, but is uncertain of the call signal of the calling station, it must answer immediately using the signal . . — — . . instead of the call signal of this latter station.

§7. (1) When it is necessary to make test signals in order to adjust the apparatus before proceeding with a call or a transmission, the signals must not be made for more than about ten seconds and they must be composed of a series of V's followed by the call signal of the sending station.

(2) If a station sends test signals at the request of another station to permit the latter to adjust its receiving apparatus, these signals must likewise be composed of a series of V's in which the call signal of the transmitting station shall appear several times.

ARTICLE 10

General call to all mobile stations

General call to all mobile stations.

§1. Stations desiring to enter into communication with mobile stations, without, however, knowing the names of the mobile stations which are within their range of action, may use the signal of inquiry CQ, in place of the call signal of the station called in the calling formula, this formula being followed by the letter K (general call for all mobile stations with request for reply).

§2. In regions where traffic is heavy, the use of the call CQ followed by the letter K shall be forbidden except in combination with urgent signals.

§3. The call CQ not followed by the letter K (general call for all mobile stations without request for reply) shall be employed for radiotelegrams of general information, time signals, regular meteorological information, general safety notices, and information of all kinds intended to be read by anyone who can receive them.

ARTICLE 11

Interference.

Interference

§1. (1) The exchange of unnecessary signals shall be forbidden to mobile stations. Tests and experiments shall be allowed in these stations only to the extent that they do not disturb the service of other stations.

(2) Each Administration shall decide, with a view to their authorization, whether the proposed tests or experiments will be likely to interfere with the service of other stations.

§2. Tests and adjustments in any station, must be conducted so as not to interfere with the service of other stations engaged in authorized correspondence. The test and adjustment signals must be chosen so that no confusion can be produced with a signal, abbreviation, etc., of special meaning defined by the Regulations.

§3. Any station transmitting for tests, adjustments, or experiments must, during the course of these transmissions, send its call signals at frequent intervals.

§4. An Administration or private operating company making a complaint regarding interference must, in order to support and justify this complaint, declare that it regularly uses receiving apparatus of a type equivalent to the best employed in the current practice of the service concerned.

ARTICLE 12

Reporting of infractions.

§1. If an Administration has knowledge of a breach of the Convention or of these Regulations, committed in one of the stations of the mobile service which it has authorized, it shall determine the facts, fix the responsibility, and take the necessary measures.

§2. Infractions of the mobile service rules must be reported by the stations detecting them to the Administration to which they are subject by means of a form similar to that shown in Appendix 2.

Post, p. 2890.

§3. In the case of repeated infractions on the part of the same station, representations must be made to the Administration of the country to which the station is subject.

ARTICLE 13

Publication of service documents.

Publication of service documents

§1. The International Bureau shall draw up and publish the following service documents:

(a) A table and a chart to be annexed to the nomenclature of ship stations indicating the zones and the hours of service on board vessels of the second class (see Appendices 5 and 6).

Post, pp. 2894, 2895.

(b) An alphabetical list of call signals of all fixed, land, and mobile stations assigned a call signal from the international series. This list shall be drawn up without regard to nationality; it shall be preceded by a table of allocation of call signals naming the countries to which one or more series of call signals are assigned, under the conditions provided in Article 14.

Post, p. 2864.

(c) Nomenclature of all fixed, land, and mobile stations having a call signal from the international series, whether or not open to public correspondence, and a nomenclature of broadcasting stations.

Nomenclatures.

§2. The nomenclature relating to each class of station shall be published in separate parts as follows:

I. Fixed and land stations

I. Fixed and land stations.

(1) Nomenclature of stations by countries, the names of the countries being arranged in alphabetical order and the names of the stations of the same country being, in their turn, arranged in alphabetical order under the name of that country. This nomenclature shall be preceded by an alphabetical index indicating the names of the stations, the call signals, the characteristic signs and the numbers of the pages where the details regarding these stations may be found.

(2) The word RADIO is printed separately after the name of each coast station.

II. Stations carrying on special services

II. Stations carrying on special services.

(1) Nomenclature of stations by countries with an alphabetical index similar to the one in the preceding part. The stations mentioned in this nomenclature shall be those which carry on special services for the needs of maritime and aerial navigation (radio compasses, radiobeacons, time signals, notices to navigators, regular meteorological information, press news addressed to all, etc.).

(2) The words GONIO and PHARE, respectively, shall be shown following the name of radio compass stations and radiobeacon stations.

III. Ship stations

III. Ship stations.

Nomenclature of stations arranged in alphabetical order, without considering nationality, and mentioning in abbreviated form the name of the country to which each station belongs.

IV. Aircraft stations

IV. Aircraft stations.

Nomenclature of stations arranged in alphabetical order, without considering nationality, and mentioning in abbreviated form the name of the country to which each station belongs.

V. Broadcasting stations

V. Broadcasting stations.

Nomenclature of stations by countries with alphabetical index similar to that of Parts I and II.

Supplements to be published.

§3. Supplements to the list of call signals and to the respective nomenclatures containing additions, modifications and deletions published in alphabetical order. These supplements shall be monthly, and recapitulative.

Nomenclature of fixed and land stations

Nomenclature of fixed and land stations.

Data required.

§4. (1) The descriptive list of fixed and land stations must include the following data:

(a) Name of the station;

(b) Call signal;

(c) Exact geographical position of the transmitting antenna, indicated by territorial subdivision and by the longitude and latitude in degrees, minutes and seconds, longitude being calculated with respect to the meridian of Greenwich;

(d) Types of waves and transmitting frequencies (wave lengths) for which adjustments are made, the normal transmitting wave being underlined;

(e) Normal radiated power expressed in meter-amperes, or, lacking this, the height of the antenna and intensity of the current at the base of the antenna;

(f) Nature of services carried on;

(g) Hours of service (Greenwich Mean Time);

(h) Where necessary in the case of land stations, name of the private company which establishes statements of charges;

(i) Land station charge or charges;

(j) Special information concerning time of call for the transmission of traffic lists or for the transmission of radiotelegrams without acknowledgement of receipt or with deferred acknowledgment of receipt.

(2) The internal telegraph charge of the country to which the land station is subject and the charge applied by that country to telegrams addressed to countries bordering on it, shall be indicated in the nomenclature.

Nomenclature of stations carrying on special services.

Additional data.

§5. In addition to the data concerning fixed and land stations the information published must mention:

Radiocompass stations.

A. For radiocompass stations:

(a) Whether or not the station is provided with transmitting apparatus, and if not, the sending station with which it is connected;

(b) The wave on which the radiocompass station must be called; the wave on which mobile stations must send the signals provided for the taking of bearings; the wave on which the radiocompass station (or the sending station connected with it) must transmit true bearings obtained, and the sectors in which bearings will normally be accurate;

(c) When necessary, the normal radiated power expressed in meter amperes of the sending station connected with it, or, lacking this, the height of the antenna, and intensity of the current at the base of the antenna.

Radiobeacon stations.

B. For radiobeacon stations:

(a) Characteristic signals of the stations;

(b) Whether, in addition to its radiobeacon emission, the station can transmit or receive normal communications;

(c) Where necessary, the names of the stations with which communication must be made in order to correspond with the radiobeacon if the latter is not able to send or receive communications;

(d) Sectors in which the emissions of the radiobeacon will give normally accurate bearings.

Time signal stations.

C. For stations transmitting time signals:

The scheme of signals used and times of transmission.

Navigator or meteorological service stations.

D. For stations transmitting notices to navigators or regular meteorological observations:

The times of transmission, and if necessary, the designation of the document or documents in which the details concerning these transmissions are to be found.

Nomenclature of ship stations.

Data required.

§6. The descriptive list of stations must contain the following data:

(a) Name of the vessel followed by the call signal in case of similarity of names;

(b) Call signal;

(c) Country to which the station is subject (abbreviated indication);

(d) Types of waves and transmitting frequencies (wave lengths) for which adjustments are made, the normal transmitting wave being underlined;

(e) Normal radiated power expressed in meter amperes; or, lacking this, the height of the antenna and intensity of the current at the base of the antenna;

(f) Nature of services carried on (if the station is equipped with a radiocompass this should be indicated) and the hours of service;

(g) Name of the Administration or private enterprise to which statements of charges must be addressed;

(h) Ship charge.

§7. In the case of similarity of names between two ship stations of the same nationality, as well as in cases where statements of charges must be sent directly to the owner of the ship, mention shall be made of the name of the shipping company to which the ship belongs or of the shipowner.

Nomenclature of aircraft stations

Nomenclature of aircraft stations.

§8. The descriptive list of stations must include the following data:

Data required.

(a) Call signal of the station and, if necessary, the name of the aircraft;

(b) Name of the country to which the station is subject (abbreviated indication);

(c) Mark and type of the aircraft;

(d) Types of waves and transmitting frequencies (wave length) for which adjustments are made, the normal transmitting wave being underlined;

(e) Customary route or port of registry of the aircraft;

(f) Nature of services carried on and hours of service; if the station is equipped with radiocompass this should be indicated;

(g) Name of the Administration or private enterprise with which statements of charges must be exchanged;

(h) Where necessary, the aircraft station charge.

Nomenclature of broadcasting stations

Nomenclature of broadcasting stations.

§9. The descriptive list of stations must include the following data:

Data required.

(a) Name of the station;

(b) Where necessary, the call signal;

(c) Exact geographical position of the transmitting antenna, indicated by territorial subdivision and by longitude and latitude in degrees, minutes and seconds, the longitude being calculated with respect to the Meridian of Greenwich;

(d) Transmitting frequency (wave length) of emission;

(e) Normal radiated power expressed in meter amperes; or, lacking this, the height of the antenna and intensity of the current at the base of the antenna;

(f) Optionally, days and hours of emission; the hours shall be indicated in Greenwich Mean Time and countries using Summer Time (Daylight Saving) must indicate the hour for each of the two periods of the year;

(g) Name of the Administration or private enterprise which carries on the transmission.

Symbols indicating the kind and scope of the service of stations

Symbols of kind and scope of stations' service.

§10. The following symbols shall be used in service documents:

PG Station open to public correspondence.
PR Station open to limited public correspondence.
N Station having a continuous day and night service.

Y Station opened from sunrise to sunset.
X Station having no fixed hours of service.
Z1 Ship station of the second class, with 8 hours of service.
Z2 Ship station of the second class, with 16 hours of service.
FA Aeronautical station.
FC Coast station.
FS Land station established for the sole purpose of safety of life.
FX Station carrying on communication service between fixed points.
RF Fixed radiobeacon station.
RG Radio compass station.
RS Receiving station only, connected with the general communication system.
RW Rotating radiobeacon station.

Post, p. 2891.

§11. The general form of these various nomenclatures is shown in Appendix 3. Administrations or private enterprises must adopt identical formulae for the descriptive lists of stations to be sent to the International Bureau.

Call signals.

Call signals

Ante, p. 2838.

§1. Fixed, land, and mobile stations covered by section 1 of Article 2 of the Convention as well as private experimental stations must have a call signal from the international series assigned to each country in the allocation table below. In this table, the first letter or the first letters of the call signals shall identify the nationality of the stations.

Call signal requirements.

§2. The call signals shall consist of:

(a) Three letters in the case of fixed and land stations;

(b) four letters in the case of ship stations;

(c) five letters in the case of aircraft stations;

(d) the letter or letters indicating the nationality and a single figure followed by a group of not more than three letters, for private experimental stations.

§3. In the aircraft radio service, after communication has been established by means of the five-letter calling signal the aircraft station may employ an abbreviated signal composed of:

(a) In radiotelegraphy, the first and last letters of the complete five letter signal.

(b) In radiotelephony, all or part of the name of the owner of the aircraft (company or individual) followed by the two last letters of the registration mark.

§4. (1) The twenty-six letters of the alphabet may be used to form call signals; accented letters are excluded.

(2) The following combinations of letters, however, may not be used as call signals:

(a) Combinations beginning with A or B, these two letters being reserved for the geographical portion of the International Code of Signals.

(b) Combinations which might be confused with distress signals or with other signals of the same nature.

(c) Combinations reserved for the abbreviations to be used in radio transmissions.

(d) With reference to aircraft stations, combinations including the letter W as the second letter.

§5. (1) Each country shall select the call signals of its stations from the international series assigned to it and shall inform the International Bureau of the call signal assigned to each of them.

(2) The International Bureau shall ensure that the same call signal is not adopted by more than one station and that the call signals which could be mistaken for distress signals or other signals of similar nature are not allotted to any station.

ARTICLE 15

Inspection of stations

Inspection of stations.

§1. Mobile stations having their port of registry in a colony, possession or protectorate may be considered as subject to the authority of such colony, possession or protectorate, as regards the granting of licenses.

§2. The duly authorized Administrations of the countries where a mobile station calls may demand the production of the license; this must be kept in such a way that it may be produced without delay. Where the license is not produced or when manifest irregularities are detected, these Administrations may proceed to the inspection of the radio installations in order to be assured that they satisfy the conditions imposed by the present Regulations.

§3. (1) When an Administration has found it necessary to pursue the course indicated in section 2 above, it shall immediately so inform the Administration to which the mobile station in question is subject. In addition to this, the procedure specified in Article 12 is followed when necessary.

(2) The official of the Administration who has inspected the station must, before leaving it, make known his findings to the Master or to the person responsible (Article 8) or to their representative.

§4. With regard to technical and operating conditions which mobile stations holding licenses must satisfy, in the international radio service, the contracting Governments undertake not to impose upon foreign mobile stations temporarily located within their territorial waters or temporarily located upon their territories, conditions more severe than are contemplated in the present Regulations. These provisions do not affect in any way the provisions which, coming within the scope of the Convention for the Safety of Life at Sea, are not covered by the present Regulations.

ARTICLE 16

Conditions to be observed by mobile stations.

Conditions to be observed by mobile stations

§1. (1) Mobile stations must be established in such a way as to conform with reference to frequencies and types of waves, to the general provisions constituting the subject matter of Article 5. In accordance with these provisions, the use by mobile stations of damped waves (Type B) of a frequency below 375 kc/s (wave length above 800 m.), shall be forbidden beginning January 1, 1930.

(2) In addition, no new installations of transmitters of Type B waves shall be made in mobile stations beginning January 1, 1930, except when these transmitters working on full power shall expend less than 300 watts measured at the input of the supply transformer at audible frequency.

(3) Finally, the use of Type B waves of all frequencies shall be forbidden beginning January 1, 1940, except for transmitters fulfilling the same conditions regarding power as above.

§2. (1) Every station installed on board a vessel or an aircraft following a maritime route, such vessel or aircraft being compulsorily equipped with radio apparatus in accordance with an international agreement, must be able to send and receive on a wave of 500 kc/s (600 m.) Type A2 or B. Ship stations must, in addition, be able to use the wave of 375 kc/s (800 m.), Type A2 (or B subject to the provisions of section 1 above).

(2) Aircraft stations must be able to send and receive the wave of 333 kc/s (900 m.) Types A2 or A3 (or B subject to the provisions of section 1 above).

§3. (1) In addition to the fixed waves stipulated above, mobile stations equipped to send waves of Types A1, A2 or A3 may use all the waves authorized in Article 5.

(2) The use of waves of Type B shall be authorized only for the following frequencies (wave lengths):

| Kc/s | Meters | Kc/s | Meters |
|---|---|---|---|
| 375 | 800 | 500 | 600 |
| 410 | 730 | 665 | 450 |
| 425 | 705 | 1,000 | 300 |
| 454 | 660 | 1,364 | 220 |

(3) The use of the Type B wave of 665 kc/s (450 m.) shall be forbidden henceforth in regions where this wave may interfere with broadcasting.

(4) The use of the Type B wave of 1000 kc/s (300 m.) for traffic shall be forbidden, henceforth, between 6:00 P. M. and midnight, local time, and shall be absolutely forbidden, at all times, beginning January 1, 1930 at the latest. This same Type B wave of 1000 kc/s (300 m.) may, however, continue in use indefinitely without restriction as to hours by stations on board fishing vessels, for radiocompass bearings among themselves, provided they do not interfere with broadcasting.

§4. All apparatus in mobile stations established for the transmission of Type A1 waves between 125 and 150 kc/s (2400–2000 m.) must permit the use of at least three frequencies chosen from this band, and must permit a rapid change from one to another of these frequencies.

§5. (1) All stations on ships compulsorily equipped with radio apparatus must be able to receive the wave of 500 kc/s (600 m.) and in addition all the waves necessary for the proper accomplishment of the service which they carry on.

(2) Beginning January 1, 1932 they must be able to receive easily and efficiently on the same frequencies, waves of Types A1 and A2.

§6. Transmitting apparatus used in the mobile service must be provided with devices permitting reduction of power. This provision shall not apply to transmitters, the input power of which does not exceed 300 watts.

§7. Receiving apparatus must be such that the current which it produces in the antenna shall be as small as possible and shall not disturb neighboring stations.

§8. The transmitting and receiving apparatus of all mobile stations must be such as to allow changing of frequency as rapidly as possible. All installations must be such that communications once being established the time necessary to change from transmission to reception and vice versa shall be as short as practicable.

ARTICLE 17

Calling and listening waves

Calling and listening waves.

§1. (1) In the band between 360 and 515 kc/s (830–580 m.) the only Type B waves permitted shall be the following: 375, 410, 425, 454 and 500 kc/s (800, 730, 705, 660, and 600 m.).

(2) The general calling wave, which must be used by all ships compulsorily equipped and by coast stations, shall be 500 kc/s (600 m.) (A1, A2 or B).

(3) Besides the wave 500 kc/s (600 m.) the use of waves of all types between 485 and 515 kc/s (620–580 m.) shall be forbidden.

(4) The wave of 500 kc/s (600 m.) shall be the international calling and distress wave. It may be used, but with discretion, for other purposes, if it does not interfere with distress, urgent, safety, or call signals.

(5) Coast stations must be able to use at least one wave besides that of 500 kc/s (600 m.). This additional wave shall be underlined in the nomenclature to indicate that it is the normal working wave of the station. The additional waves thus chosen may be the same as those of ship stations or may be different. In any case, the working waves of the coast stations must be chosen in such a way as to avoid interference with neighboring stations.

(6) Besides the normal working waves underlined in the nomenclature, coast and ship stations may use in the authorized band additional waves which they deem suitable. These waves shall be given in the nomenclature without being underlined.

§2. (1) In order to increase safety of life at sea (ships) and over the sea (aircraft), all stations in the mobile maritime service must, during their hours of service, take the necessary measures to assure the watch on the distress wave (500 kc/s–600 m.) for three minutes twice per hour, beginning at the 15th minute and at the 45th minute after each hour Greenwich Mean Time.

(2) Stations carrying on a service of radiotelegraph correspondence, press news, etc., with ships at sea must observe silence during the intervals indicated above. Only the transmissions provided for in Article 19, sections 25 to 27, may be made during these intervals.

(3) As an exception, however, land and ship stations equipped to correspond by means of continuous waves may continue to work during these periods; if they are in a position to maintain at the same time a satisfactory watch on the distress wave as provided for in paragraph (1) of the present section.

§3. The following rules must be observed in the operation of stations in the mobile service using Type A1 waves of the band 100 to 160 kc/s (3000–1875 m.) which is assigned to the mobile service.

a) Every coast station carrying on communications on a long continuous wave must listen on the wave of 143 kc/s (2100 m.) unless it is otherwise indicated in the nomenclature. The coast stations shall transmit all its traffic on the wave or waves especially assigned to it.

b) When a mobile station desires to establish communication on a long continuous wave with another station of the mobile service, it must employ the wave of 143 kc/s (2100 m.) unless it is otherwise indicated in the nomenclature. This wave, designated as the general communication wave, must be employed:

(1) For calls and answers thereto.

(2) For sending signals preliminary to the transmission of traffic.

c) A mobile station after having established communication on the general communication wave, with another station in the mobile service, may transmit its traffic on any wave in the authorized band on condition that it does not disturb the work of a coast station or work in progress on the calling wave.

d) As a general rule, every mobile station, equipped for service on long continuous waves and not engaged in communication on another wave, must, in order to permit the exchange of traffic with other stations of the mobile service, return to the wave of 143 kc/s (2100 m.) for 10 minutes from the beginning of the 35th minute to the beginning of the 45th minute of each hour, Greenwich Mean Time, during the specified hours, according to the class to which the station in question belongs.

e) (1) Coast stations shall transmit their traffic lists at specified times, published in the nomenclature, on the wave or waves which are assigned to them.

(2) Besides the times thus fixed for this tranmission of their traffic lists, coast stations may call mobile stations individually, at any other time, according to circumstances or according to work which they have to carry on. These individual calls may be made on the wave of 143 kc/s (2100 m.) in regions where there is no congestion of traffic.

f) The special provisions concerning the service carried on by land stations using long continuous waves shall be shown in detail in a special reference in the nomenclature.

ARTICLE 18

Emergency installations.

Emergency installations

§1. The Convention for the Safety of Life at Sea determines which ships must be provided with emergency installations and defines the conditions to be fulfilled by installations of this class.

§2. In the use of emergency installations, all the provisions of the present Regulations must be observed.

ARTICLE 19

Distress, alarm, urgent and safety signals

Distress signal

Distress signal.

§1. The distress signal shall consist of the group . . . — — — . . . which indicates that the ship, aircraft, or other mobile station sending it, is threatened by grave and imminent danger, and requests immediate assistance.

Distress call

Distress call.

§2. (1) The distress call shall consist of the distress signal sent three times, followed by the word DE and the call signal of the mobile station in distress, sent three times. This call has absolute priority over all other transmissions. All mobile or land stations hearing it must immediately cease all transmissions capable of interfering with the distress calls or messages and must listen on the wave used for the distress call. This call must not be addressed to a particular station.

(2) The same rules apply to the radiotelephone distress call which consists of the spoken expression MAYDAY, (corresponding to the French pronunciation of the expression "m'aider" [help me].)

Distress message

Distress message.

§3. The distress message shall include the distress call followed by the name of the ship, aircraft, or other mobile station in distress, and information concerning its position, the nature of the distress and the kind of assistance desired.

§4. As a general rule and when a ship or aircraft on or over the sea is involved the position must be expressed in latitude and longitude (Greenwich) using figures for degrees and minutes, accompanied by one of the words NORTH or SOUTH, and by one of the words EAST or WEST. A period shall separate the degrees from the minutes. Where necessary, the true bearing and the distance in nautical miles from a known geographic point may be given.

§5. The distress call and message shall be sent only by the authority of the master or person responsible for the ship, aircraft, or other mobile station.

§6. A ship in distress shall transmit the distress call on the wave of 500 kc/s (600 m.), preferably of Type A2 or B. This call must be followed as soon as possible by the distress message.

§7. The distress call and message must be repeated at intervals until an answer has been received, especially during the periods of silence specified in Article 17, section 2. The intervals must, however, be long enough for stations preparing to reply to the call to have time to start their sending apparatus. In the case where the ship in distress receives no answer to a distress call or message sent on the 500 kc/s (600 m.) wave, the call and the message may be repeated on any other available wave on which attention might be attracted.

§8. Furthermore, a mobile station which is aware that another mobile station is in distress may transmit the distress message on condition that:

(b) The master (or his relief) of the vessel, aircraft, or other mobile station believes that further help is necessary.

§9. (1) Stations which receive a distress message from a mobile station which unquestionably is in their immediate vicinity, must at once acknowledge receipt thereof (see sections 15 and 16 below), taking care not to interfere with the transmission of the acknowledgments of receipt of the said message sent by other stations.

(2) Stations which receive a distress message from a mobile station which unquestionably is not in their immediate vicinity, must listen for a short period before acknowledging receipt thereof in order to permit the stations nearer to the mobile station in distress to answer and acknowledge receipt without interference.

Distress traffic.

Distress traffic

§10. Distress traffic shall include all messages relative to immediate relief of the mobile station in distress.

§12. The control of distress communications devolves upon the mobile station in distress or upon the mobile station which, by application of the provisions of section 8, subparagraph (a), sent the distress call. These stations may delegate the control of the distress communications to another station.

§13. All stations which are within the range of the distress communications but which do not take part in them must refrain from using the distress wave until the distress communications are finished. As soon as these communications are established on the distress wave, mobile stations not taking part in them may continue their normal service on other authorized waves of Type A1, if by so doing they are still able effectively to receive the distress traffic.

§14. (1) When distress communications are ended and silence is no longer necessary, the station which has controlled these communications shall send a message on the distress wave addressed to CQ, indicating that the distress communications are ended. This message shall take the following form:

Call CQ (three times), word DE, call signal of the station transmitting the message, distress signal, time of filing the message, name and call signal of the mobile station which was in distress, words "distress traffic ended."

(2) This message shall be repeated, where necessary, on the other waves on which the distress traffic has been sent.

Acknowledging receipt of distress message.

Acknowledgment of receipt of a distress message—Repetition of a distress call or message

§15. Acknowledgment of receipt of a distress message shall be made in the following form:

Call signal of the mobile station in distress (three times), word DE, call signal of the station acknowledging receipt (three times), group RRR, distress signal.

§16. Every mobile station which acknowledges receipt of a distress message must make its name and position known as soon as possible (in the form shown in Paragraph 4), taking care not to interfere with other stations more favorably situated to render immediate relief to the station in distress.

§17. If a mobile station employing continuous waves not included in the band 485 to 515 kc/s (620–580 m.) hears a distress message sent on the wave of 500 kc/s (600 m.), during other than the obligatory silence periods on the wave of 500 kc/s (600 m.), and if the ship, aircraft or other mobile station is not in a position to render assistance, the said station must take all possible steps to attract the attention of other mobile stations in the vicinity, which are working on waves not included in the band mentioned above.

Repetition of distress signals.

§18. Repetition of the distress call or message, by mobile stations other than the one in distress, shall be permitted only on authorization from the master (or his relief) of said stations, taking care not to cause interference by useless repetition.

§19. A station repeating a distress call or message shall add to the end thereof the word DE followed by its own call signal transmitted three times.

§20. In a case where a station receives a distress call or message but is not in a position to render assistance and has reason to believe that there has been no acknowledgment of receipt of the distress message, it must repeat the message on full power on the distress wave and take all the necessary steps to advise the authorities who are capable of useful intervention.

Automatic alarm signal.

§21. The composition of the automatic alarm signal must comply with the following conditions:

(a) It must be possible to send this signal by hand or by an automatic apparatus, without difficulty and with a precision as to the measure of time, which must not be greater than that of a watch or a clock indicating seconds.

(b) Its composition must be clear, distinct, and easily recognized by a person ignorant of the Morse Code; and it must be adaptable to the easy and cheap manufacture of an automatic receiving apparatus which:

1. Shall respond to the alarm signal even when numerous stations are working as well as when there is atmospheric interference;
2. Shall not be started by powerful signals or by atmospherics when these are not accompanied by the alarm signal;
3. Shall possess a sensitiveness equal to that of a crystal receiver-detector connected with the same antenna;
4. Shall give warning when its operation ceases to be normal.

(c) The said composition must be different from the signal used for adjustment and functioning of the variometer.

(d) Before an automatic alarm receiver shall be approved for use in ships under the jurisdiction of an Administration, the Administration must be satisfied by practical tests made under suitable conditions of interference, that the apparatus complies with the provisions of these Regulations.

(e) The following alarm signal shall hereafter be recognized:
A series of twelve dashes sent in one minute, the duration of each dash being four seconds and the duration of the interval between two dashes, one second.

(f) This special signal must have for its sole purpose, the operation of the apparatus used to give the alarm. It must be used solely to announce that the distress signal is about to follow.

(g) The adoption of the type of alarm signal mentioned in (e) shall not prevent an Administration from authorizing the use of an automatic apparatus which would comply with the conditions fixed above and would be operated by the regulation distress signal, (• • • — — — • • •).

Urgent signal.

§22. (1) The urgent signal shall consist of several repetitions of the group XXX, sent by distinctly separating the letters of each group and the successive groups; it shall be sent before a call. This signal shall indicate that the calling station has a very urgent message to transmit concerning the safety of the ship, aircraft, or other vehicle in which it is located; of a ship, aircraft, or other vehicle in sight; or finally, of the safety of any person on board or in sight therefrom. In the aircraft radio service the indication PAN shall be used as an urgent signal, by radiotelephony and by radiotelegraphy, when an aircraft station wishes to give notice of damage which compels the aircraft to land without requiring immediate assistance. In the case of radiotelegraphy, the three letters must be well separated in order that the signals AN be not transmitted as the signal P.

(2) The urgent signal shall have priority over all other communications except those of distress, and all mobile or land stations which hear it must avoid interfering with the transmission of such urgent traffic.

(3) As a general rule, the urgent signal may be employed only if the sending mobile station addresses it to a specific station.

§23. (1) Mobile stations which hear the urgent signal must continue to listen for at least three minutes. At the expiration of this period and if no urgent message has been heard, mobile stations may resume their normal service.

(2) Land and ship stations nevertheless, which are in communication on authorized waves, other than that used for the transmission of the urgent signal and of the call which follows it, may continue their normal work without interruption.

§24. The urgent signal shall be transmitted only with the authorization from the master or the person responsible for the ship, aircraft, or other mobile station.

Safety signal.

Safety signal

§25. The safety signal shall consist of the transmission of the group TTT, with the letters well separated, followed by the word DE and by the call signal of the station sending it. It shall indicate that this station is about to transmit a message concerning the safety of navigation or giving important information relative to meteorological warning messages.

§26. The safety signal and the safety message shall be sent on the wave of 500 kc/s. (600 m.) and if necessary, on the normal listening wave of ship and aircraft stations.

§27. The safety signal shall be sent once during the first silent period (Article 17, section 2) and near the end of that period. All stations hearing it must continue to listen on the normal calling wave (ship stations) or on the authorized wave (aircraft station) until the message preceded by the safety signal shall have ended. The transmission of this message shall begin immediately after the end of the silent period.

ARTICLE 20

Working hours service.

Working hours of stations in the mobile service

Land stations.

Land stations

§1. (1) The service of land stations is, so far as practicable, continuous (day and night). Certain land stations, however, may have a service of limited duration. Each Administration or authorized private enterprise whose right so to do is recognized by the laws of its own country, shall fix the hours of service for land stations subject to its jurisdiction.

(2) Land stations whose service is not continuous may not close before having:

1. Finished all operations resulting from a distress call;

2. Exchanged all radiotelegrams originating in, or destined to, mobile stations which are situated within their range of action and have indicated their presence before the actual cessation of work.

(3) The service of aeronautical stations shall be continous during the entire period of flight in the sector or sectors of the route or routes, for which the station is question carries on the service of radio communications.

Ship stations.

§2. (1) From the point of view of the international service of public correspondence, ship stations shall be divided into three classes:

1st class: stations carrying on a continuous service.

2nd class: stations carrying on a designated service of limited duration.

3rd class: stations, whose duration of service is less than that specified for the stations in the second class and stations whose duration of service is undetermined.

(2) The provisions of section 1, paragraph 2, of the present Article shall apply strictly to ship stations, so far as concerns distress service and, so far as practicable, in conformity with the spirit of the provisions of (2) of the said paragraph.

(3) It shall be the duty of each of the contracting Governments to ensure the effectiveness of the service in ship stations of its nationality by requiring the presence in such stations of the necessary number of operators, account being taken of its own legislation on this subject.

(4) During navigation, ship stations of the second class must carry on service as follows:

(a) In the case of short voyages, during the hours fixed by the Administration to which they are subject;

(b) In other cases, at least during the hours assigned to them in Appendix 5. Mention of these hours shall be made in the license.

Aircraft stations

Aircraft stations.

§3. Aircraft stations shall be divided into two classes:

1st class: stations carrying on service during the entire period of flight.

2nd class: stations not having fixed hours of service.

§4. So far as concerns the international service of public correspondence of mobile stations, the personnel of these stations must include at least:

(c) For mobile stations of the 3rd class, an operator who has passed the examination for the 2nd class certificate.

ARTICLE 21

Information to appear in the license

Information to appear in the license.

The Government which issues the license to a ship station or aircraft station shall mention therein the class in which it is placed. For a ship station in the second class, the license shall also mention the period of service assigned to the station in conformity with Appendix 5.

ARTICLE 22

Address of radiotelegrams

Address of radiotelegrams.

§1. The address of radiotelegrams destined for mobile stations must be as complete as possible; it must be composed of the following:

(a) Name or designation of the addressee, with any additional information, if necessary.

(b) Name of the ship or, in the case of an aircraft, the call signal as published in the first column of the nomenclature.

(c) Name of the land station charged with the transmission, as it appears in the nomenclature.

(2) The name and call signal provided for under section 1 (1) (b), however, may be replaced at the sender's risk by the designation of the route followed by the mobile station, this route being determined by the names of the ports of departure and of destination, or by any other equivalent information.

(3) When a radiotelegram received from a mobile station is relayed over the general communication system, the land station shall transmit as origin the name of the mobile station whence the radiotelegram emanates as this name appears in the nomenclature, followed by the name of the said land station.

§2. (1) Mobile stations authorized to be without the official nomenclature of telegraph offices may follow the name of the telegraph office of destination by the name of the territorial sub-division and, if necessary, by the name of the country of destination, if it is doubted whether, without this addition, the routing will be made without delay.

(2) The name of the telegraph office and the supplementary information shall in this case be counted and charged for only as a single word. The agent of the land station receiving the radiotelegram shall retain or delete this information, or again modify the name of the office of destination as may be necessary or sufficient to route the radiotelegram to its proper destination.

ARTICLE 23

Order of priority in mobile service communications.

Order of priority in the establishment of communications in the mobile service

The order of priority in the establishment of communications in the mobile service shall be as follows:

1. Distress calls, distress messages, and distress traffic.
2. Communications preceded by an urgent signal.
3. Communications preceded by the safety signal.
4. Communications relative to radiocompass bearings.
5. All other communications.

ARTICLE 24

Calling.

Calling

§1. (1) As a general rule, responsibility for establishing communication with the land station rests with the mobile station; the latter may call the land station, for this purpose, only after arriving within the range of action of said station.

(2) In principle, a land station having traffic for a mobile station which has not indicated its presence, must call this station only if it has reason to believe that the said mobile station is within range and is keeping watch.

§2. (1) Land stations may, however, transmit their traffic list, consisting of the call signals of all mobile stations for which they have traffic on hand, at fixed intervals which have been established by agreements between the Governments concerned. Land stations which transmit their calls on the wave of 500 kc/s (600 m.) shall transmit the call signals of their traffic list in alphabetical order; land stations which use continuous waves shall transmit these call signals in the most convenient order.

(2) In all cases, mobile stations which, during this transmission, hear their call signal must answer so soon as practicable, complying with provisions of section 1, and following so far as practicable the order in which they were called. The time at which land stations transmit their traffic lists as well as the frequencies and types of waves which they use for this purpose shall be indicated in the nomenclature.

(3) The land station shall inform each mobile station concerned of the frequency and type of wave to be used for work with it, as well as of the approximate time at which the traffic may begin.

§3. When a land station receives calls from several mobile stations at practically the same time, it shall decide the order in which these stations may transmit their traffic to it, its decision being based only on the requirement of permitting each calling station to exchange with it the greatest possible number of radiotelegrams.

§4. (1) When a land station answers a call from a mobile station it may, if deemed necessary, ask the mobile station, by means of appropriate abbreviations, to indicate the number of radiotelegrams on hand.

(2) If information concerning the position, route, speed or ports of call of the ship, aircraft or other mobile station appears necessary to the land station, the latter asks for it by means of a free service advice, addressed to the master, or to the person in charge of the ship, aircraft or other mobile station who furnishes it or not at his discretion. The mobile station must give such information to the land station only when it has been requested and furnished as stated above.

§5. In communication between coast and mobile stations, the mobile stations shall follow the instructions of the coast station, in all questions relating to the order and time of transmission, as well as to the suspension of work. This provision shall not apply to cases of distress.

§6. In communication between mobile stations, except in cases of distress, the station called shall control the work as indicated in section 5 above.

§7. (1) When a station called does not answer to a call sent three times at intervals of two minutes, the call must cease and it may be resumed only after an interval of fifteen minutes. The calling station, before resuming the call, must make certain that the station called is not at that moment in communication with another station.

(2) The call may be repeated at shorter intervals if it is not likely to interfere with communications in progress.

§8. When the name and address of the management of a mobile station are not shown in the nomenclature or are no longer in accord with the data given in the latter, it devolves upon the mobile station to furnish the land station to which it sends traffic all the necessary information, using for this purpose the appropriate abbreviations.

ARTICLE 25

Time of filing radiotelegrams

Time of filing radiotelegrams.

§1. To indicate the time of filing radiotelegrams accepted in mobile stations, the person in charge shall employ Greenwich Mean Time, and shall use a notation according to the twenty-four hour system. This time shall always be expressed and sent by means of four figures (0000 to 2359).

§2. The Administrations of countries located outside zone "A" (Appendix 6), however, may authorize ship stations following the coasts of their countries to use zone time to indicate, by a group of four figures, the time of filing, and in this case the group must be followed by the letter F.

Post, p. 2895.

ARTICLE 26

Routing of radiotelegrams.

§1. (1) In principle, a mobile station using waves of Type A2, A3 or B shall send its radiotelegrams to the nearest land station.

(2) When, however, the mobile station may choose among several land stations, situated at approximately the same distance it shall give the preference to that located on the territory of the country of destination, or of the normal transit of the radiotelegrams to be sent. When the station chosen is not the nearest, the mobile station must cease work or change the type or frequency of the emission upon the first request made by the land station in the interested service which is actually the nearest, the request being based upon the interference which the work in question causes the latter.

§2. A mobile station using Type A1 waves included in the authorized band may transmit its radiotelegrams to a land station which is not the nearest. It is, however, recommended in this case that preference be given to the land station established on the territory of the country of destination or of the country which it appears could most reasonably effect the transit of the radiotelegrams to be sent.

§3. (1) A coast station, to which one or more waves included in the band 125–150 kc/s (2400–2000 m.) are allocated, shall have the right of preference on such wave or waves.

(2) Any other station in the mobile service transmitting public traffic on such wave or waves and thereby causing interference to the said coast station must suspend its work at the request of the latter.

§4. Except in the case of distress, communications between ship stations must not interfere with the work of coast stations. When this work is thus interfered with, the ship stations causing it must stop sending or change waves, upon the first request of the coast station with which they interfere.

§5. If the sender of a radiotelegram filed in a mobile station has designated the land station to which he desires his radiotelegram sent, the mobile station must in order to effect this transmission to the designated land station, wait if necessary until the conditions specified in the preceding paragraphs shall have been fulfilled.

§6. (1) A mobile station which does not have fixed working hours must inform the land station with which it is in communication the time of closing and the time of reopening its service.

(2) Every mobile station whose service is about to close by reason of arrival in port must notify the nearest land station.

ARTICLE 27

Distress waves.

Wave to be used in case of distress

In case of distress, the wave of 500 kc/s (600 m.) must be used preferably with Type A2 or B. When it is not possible to use one of these types of waves, Type A1 or A3 may be used. No provision of the present Regulations shall prevent the use by a mobile station in distress of any means at its disposal to attract attention, indicate its position, and obtain assistance.

ARTICLE 28

Reducing interference.

Measure for reducing interference

§1. In the case where waves other than the normal wave may be used, the ship station shall follow the instructions of the coast station with which it is in communication. In principle, the normal wave of 500 kc/s (600 m.) must not be used for the transmission of long radiotelegrams in regions where the radio work is heavy.

§2. During their hours of service, stations using for their work waves of Type A2, A3 or B, and open to the international service of public correspondence, must continue to listen on the wave of 500 kc/s (600 m.), except when they are exchanging traffic on other waves.

§3. As a general rule, it is recommended that public correspondence traffic be transmitted on waves of Type A1, rather than on waves of Type A2 or B.

§4. All stations in the mobile service are bound to exchange traffic with the minimum of radiated energy necessary to insure good communication.

ARTICLE 29

Advice of non-delivery

Advice of nondelivery.

§1. When for any reason, a radiotelegram originating in a mobile station and destined to land can not be delivered to the addressee, a notice of nondelivery shall be addressed to the land station which received the telegram from the mobile station. This land station, after verification of the address, shall if possible, retransmit the notice to the mobile station, if need be through the intermediary of a land station of the same country or of a neighboring country, insofar as existing conditions or special agreements, if any, permit.

§2. When a radiotelegram received at a mobile station cannot be delivered, that station shall so inform the office or mobile station of origin by a service advice. In the case of a radiotelegram coming from land this service advice shall be sent, whenever possible, to the land station through which the radiotelegram passed or, if necessary, to another land station of the same country or of a neighboring country, insofar as existing conditions or special agreements, if any, permit.

ARTICLE 30

Period of retention of radiotelegrams at land stations

Period of retention of radiotelegrams at land stations.

§1. (1) When the mobile station to which a radiotelegram is destined has not indicated its presence to the land station within the period of delay indicated by the sender, or, in the absence of such indication, until the morning of the fifth day following the date of filing, the land station shall so inform the office of origin which shall notify the sender. The latter may ask by telegraphic or postal paid service advice addressed to the land station that his telegram be held until the expiration of the fourteenth day, counting from the day of filing; in the absence of such an advice the radiotelegram shall be cancelled after the seventh day.

(2) The expiration of any of the periods mentioned above shall, however, be ignored if the land station is certain that the mobile station will soon come within its range.

§2. On the other hand, the expiration of those periods shall not be awaited when the land station is certain that the mobile station has definitely gone out of range. If it presumes that no other land station of the administration or of the private enterprise to which it is subject is in communication with the mobile station, the land station shall cancel the radiotelegram insofar as concerns the routing between it and the mobile station, and shall so inform the office of origin which shall inform the sender. In the contrary case, the radiotelegram shall be directed to the land station which is presumed to be in communication with the mobile station, provided, however, that no additional charge results therefrom.

§3. When a radiotelegram cannot be sent to a mobile station due to the arrival of the latter in a port near the land station, the latter station may, if necessary, forward the radiotelegram to the mobile station by other means of communication.

ARTICLE 31

Special services

Meteorological services. Time signals. Notices to navigators.

A. Meteorological services. Time signals. Notices to navigators

§1. Synoptic meteorological messages regarding forecasting and general surveys and time signals must, in principle, be transmitted in conformity with a fixed schedule. Radiotelegrams of this class intended for mobile stations must be sent, so far as practicable, at times which will make their reception possible to those stations having only one operator (see Appendix 5); speed of tranmission must be so chosen that reading of the signals will be possible to an operator possessing only a second-class certificate.

§2. During transmissions "to all stations" of time signals and of meteorological messages intended for stations of the mobile service, all stations in that service the transmissions of which might interfere with the reception of the signals and messages in question, must keep silent in order to permit all stations so desiring to receive these signals and messages.

§3. Meteorological warning messages and notices concerning the safety of navigation of an urgent nature for the mobile services shall be transmitted immediately and must be repeated at the end of the first silent period which occurs (see Article 17, section 2). These messages and advices must be sent on the frequencies assigned to the mobile service to which they are destined; their transmission must be preceded by the safety signal TTT.

§4. In addition to the regular information services contemplated in the preceding paragraphs, the Administrations shall take the necessary measures so that certain stations shall be charged with sending, upon request, meteorological messages to stations in the mobile service.

§5. In the interest of brevity and of proper usage by mobile stations, the meteorological observations sent by stations in the mobile service must, in principle, be written in an international meteorological code.

Radiocompass stations service.

B. Service of radiocompass stations

§6. The Administrations to the jurisdiction of which radiocompass stations are subject accept no responsibility for the consequences of an inexact bearing.

§7. These Administrations shall report, for insertion in the nomenclature of radiotelegraph stations, the characteristics of each radiocompass station by indicating, for each one, the sectors in which bearings are normally exact. All changes concerning this information must be published without delay; if the change is of a permanent nature it must be communicated to the International Bureau.

§8. (1) In normal service, coast radiocompass stations must be capable of taking and furnishing bearings to ship stations either on the frequency of 500 kc/s (600 m.) only, or on the frequency of 375 kc/s (800 m.) only, or interchangeably on one or the other of these two frequencies.

(2) An aircraft station desiring its bearings must, in order to request them, call on the 333 kc/s (900 m.) wave or on a wave assigned to the aerial route in which it is flying. In cases where an aircraft station, while in the vicinity of coast stations, calls them in order to obtain a bearing, it must use the frequency of these coast stations.

Post, p. 2896.

C. Radiobeacon Service

Radiobeacon service.

§10. (1) When an Administration deems it useful in the interests of maritime and aerial navigation, to organize a radiobeacon service, it may use for this purpose:

(a) Radiobeacons properly so-called, established on land or on vessels permanently moored; their emissions may be either circular or directional.

(b) Fixed stations, coast stations or aeronautical stations designated to function also as radiobeacons, upon request of mobile stations.

(2) Radiobeacons properly so-called shall use waves of 285 kc/s to 315 kc/s (1050–950 m.) of Types A1 and A2 exclusively.

(3) Other stations designated as radiobeacons shall use their normal transmission frequency and their normal type of emission.

§11. Signals sent by radiobeacons must permit efficient functioning of the radiocompass; they must be chosen in such a way as to eliminate all doubt, when the question arises, of distinguishing between two or more radiobeacons.

§12. The Administrations which have organized a radiobeacon service accept no responsibility for the consequences of inexact bearings obtained by means of the radiobeacons of that service.

§13. (1) The Administrations shall report, for insertion in the nomenclature of radiotelegraph stations, the characteristics of each radiobeacon properly so-called, and of each station designated to function as a radiobeacon, including, if necessary, indications of the sectors in which bearings will normally be exact.

(2) Any modification or irregularity in operation occurring in the radiobeacon service must be published without delay; if the modification or the irregularity of operation is of a permanent nature, it must be communicated to the International Bureau.

ARTICLE 32

Accounting

Accounting.

(2) Accounts concerning these charges shall be liquidated by the Administrations of the countries concerned. They shall be established monthly by the Administrations to which the land stations are subject and sent by them to the Administrations concerned.

§2. In the case where the operation of the land stations is not by the Administration of the country, the operating company of these stations may be substituted, in so far as accounts are concerned, for the Administration of that country.

§3. For radiotelegrams originating in mobile stations, the Administration to which the land station is subject shall debit the Administration to which the mobile station of origin is subject with the land station charges, with charges accruing from transmission over the general communication system—which will hereafter be called telegraph charges—with the total charges collected for prepaid replies, with the land station and telegraph charges collected for collation, with charges accruing from transmission by special delivery, by mail or air mail, and with charges collected for additional copies of multiple telegrams. Radiotelegrams shall be treated, from the point of view of accounting between the land station and the office of destination, as telegrams originating in the country where the land station is located.

§4. For radiotelegrams destined to a country beyond that to which the land station is subject, the telegraph charges to be liquidated in accordance with the above provisions are those which result either from the table of rates, relating to international telegraph correspondence, or from special arrangements concluded between the Administrations of neighboring countries and published by these Administrations and not the charges which might be collected by applying the minimum per telegram or by methods of arriving at the cost per telegram in any other manner.

§5. For radiotelegrams and for paid service advices destined to mobile stations, the Administration to which the office of origin is subject shall be debited directly by the one to which the land station is subject, with the land station and ship charges plus the land station and ship charges (for radiotelegrams) applicable to collation, but only in the case where the telegram has been sent to the mobile station. The Administration to which the office of origin is subject shall always be debited, from country to country, if necessary, through the medium of telegraph accounts and by the Administration to which the land station is subject, with the total charges accruing from prepaid replies. Concerning telegraph charges and charges relative to transmission by mail or air mail, and to additional copies, the procedure, in so far as concerns telegraph accounts, shall be in accordance with the normal telegraph procedure. The Administration to which the land station is subject shall, when the radiotelegram has been sent, credit the Administration to which the mobile station of destination is subject, with the ship charge, if any, with the charges due to the intermediary mobile stations, with the total charge collected for prepaid replies, with the ship charge for collation, with the charges collected for additional copies of multiple telegrams, and with the charges collected for transmission by mail or by air mail.

§6. Paid service advices and prepaid replies to telegrams, shall be treated in all respects like other radiotelegrams in so far as radiotelegraph charges are concerned; i. e. accounts relating to routing in the mobile service.

(a) Through the intermediary of a single land station:

The Administration to which the land station is subject shall debit the one to which the mobile station of origin is subject, with the land station charge, with the territorial telegraph charge if need be, and with the charge of the mobile station of destination. It shall credit the Administration to which the mobile station of destination is subject with the ship charge due that station.

(b) Through the intermediary of two land stations:

The Administration to which the first land station is subject shall debit the one to which the mobile station of origin is subject with all charges collected after deduction of the charge accruing to that mobile station. The Administration to which the second land station is subject—which is the one charged with transmitting the radiotelegram to the mobile station of destination—shall directly debit the Administration to which the first land station is subject with the charges accruing from this transmission, but only in the case where the radiotelegram has been sent to the mobile station.

§8. For radiotelegrams which, at the request of the sender, are routed through one or two intermediary mobile stations, each of the latter shall debit the mobile station of destination in the case of a radiotelegram destined to a mobile station, or the mobile station of origin when the radiotelegram originates in a mobile station, with the ship charge due it for transit.

Accounting—Continued.

§9. In principle, the liquidation of accounts accruing from communications between mobile stations shall be made directly between the companies operating these stations, the operating company to which the station of origin is subject being debited by that to which the station of destination is subject.

§10. (1) Monthly statements serving as the basis of the special accounting for radiotelegrams, covered in the preceding paragraphs, shall be established radiotelegram by radiotelegram with all useful information and within a period of three months beginning with the month to which they relate. This period may exceed three months when exceptional difficulties arise in the transportation of the documents by mail between the radio stations and the Administrations to which they are subject.

(2) Except in the case of an agreement to the contrary, monthly accounts shall serve as a check, and their verification, acceptance and liquidation must be effected within a period of six months from the date of their sending, except when exceptional difficulties arise in the transportation of documents due to exceptionally long duration of voyages.

(3) When the detection of differences prevents the acceptance of an account, the amount thereof shall nevertheless, be paid within the period of six months mentioned above, and such rectifications as are subsequently found necessary shall be included in a subsequent monthly statement. The amounts of the accounts which have not been liquidated within the said period, or the period as lengthened as the result of exceptional transportation difficulties mentioned above, shall bear interest at seven per cent per annum, from the date following the expiration of the six months' period, or, as the case may be, of the period prolonged as shown above.

(4) Liquidation or rectification of accounts presented more than two years after the filing date of radiotelegrams to which the accounts refer, may be refused by the debtor Administration.

§11. The Governments reserve the right to make special agreements among themselves and with private operating companies concerned, for the purpose of adopting other provisions relative to accounting.

ARTICLE 33

International technical consulting committee on radio communication

International Technical Consulting Committee on Radio Communication.

Functions.
Ante, p. 2842.

§1. The International Technical Consulting Committee on Radio Communication, established by Article 17 of the Convention, shall be charged with the study of technical and allied questions which relate to international radio communication and which shall have been submitted to it by the participating Administrations or private enterprises. Its function shall be limited to giving advice on questions which it will have studied. It shall transmit this advice to the International Bureau, with a view to its being communicated to the Administrations and private enterprises concerned.

§2. (1) This Committee shall be formed, for each meeting, of experts of the Administrations and authorized private radio operating companies, who wish to participate in its work and who undertake to contribute, in equal parts, to the common expenses of the contemplated meeting. The personal expenses of the experts shall be borne by the Administration or private enterprise which has appointed them.

(2) The experts of such authorized private enterprises shall participate in the work with the right to deliberate but not to vote. When, however, a country is not represented by an Administration, the experts of the authorized private enterprises of that country shall have a right, as a whole and regardless of their number, to a single vote.

§3. The Administration of the Netherlands shall be charged with organizing the first meeting of the International Technical Consulting Committee on Radio Communication and with drawing up the program of work for this meeting.

§4. The Administrations which shall have been represented at a meeting of the Committee shall agree on the designation of the Administration which shall call the following meeting. Questions to be studied by the Committee shall be sent to the Administration organizing the next meeting and that Administration shall determine the date and program of the meeting.

§5. In principle, the meetings of the International Technical Consulting Committee on Radio Communication shall take place every two years.

ARTICLE 34

International bureau

International Bureau. Expenses. Ante, p. 2841.

§1. (1) The additional expenses resulting from the work of the International Bureau of the Telegraph Union on behalf of the radio services, must not exceed 200,000 francs a year, exclusive of: (a) The expenses appertaining to the work of conferences: (b) The expenses appertaining to the work of regularly created committees when, in accordance with the provisions of the General Regulations or of a decision of a conference these expenses shall be borne by all the contracting countries.

(2) The sum of 200,000 francs may be modified later by unanimous consent of the contracting Governments.

§2. The supreme administration of the Swiss Confederation shall be designated to organize the division of radio services of the International Bureau of the Telegraph Union mentioned in Article 16 of the Convention; it shall have the complete supervision thereof, control its expenses, make the necessary advances, and establish the annual account. This account shall be communicated to all the other Administrations.

§3. The amounts advanced for the needs of the radio service by the Administration which controls the International Bureau, must be repaid by the debtor Administration with the least possible delay, and, at the latest, within three months from the date the account is received. After this period of three months, the amounts due shall bear interest in favor of the creditor Administration at seven per cent per annum counting from the date of expiration of the period mentioned.

Contributions.

§4. (1) For the division of the expenses, the contracting States shall be divided into six classes, each contributing on the basis of a certain number of units namely:

| | Units |
|---|---|
| 1st class | 25 |
| 2nd class | 20 |
| 3rd class | 15 |
| 4th class | 10 |
| 5th class | 5 |
| 6th class | 3 |

(2) The Administrations shall inform the International Bureau of the class in which they wish their countries to be placed.

(3) The above coefficients shall be multiplied for each class by the number of States therein and the sum of the products thus obtained gives the number by which the total expenses shall be divided, to determine the amount of the unit of expense.

Effective date. Ante, p 2841.

In conformity with the provisions of Article 13 of the Washington Convention, the present General Regulations will go into effect January 1, 1929.

Signatures to the General Regulations.

In witness whereof the respective plenipotentiaries have signed these General Regulations in one copy which will remain filed in the archives of the Government of the United States of America and one copy of which will be delivered to each Party.

Done at Washington, November 25, 1927.

Q CODE [1]

Q Code.

I. Abbreviations to be used in all services

Abbreviations in all services.

| Abbreviation | Question | Answer |
|---|---|---|
| QRA | What is the name of your station? | The name of my station is ------ |
| QRB | At what approximate distance are you from my station? | The approximate distance between our stations is ------ nautical miles (or ------ kilometers). |
| QRC | By what private company (or government administration) are the accounts for charges of your station liquidated? | The accounts for charges of my station are liquidated by the ------ private company (or by the government administration of ------). |
| QRD | Where are you going? | I am going to ------ |
| QRE | What is the nationality of your station? | The nationality of my station is ------ |
| QRF | Where do you come from? | I come from ------ |
| QRG | Will you indicate to me my exact wave length in meters (or frequency in kilocycles)? | Your exact wave length is ------ meters (or ------ kilocycles). |
| QRH | What is your exact wave length in meters (frequency in kilocycles)? | My exact wave length is ------ meters (frequency ------ kilocycles). |
| QRI | Is my tone bad? | Your tone is bad. |
| QRJ | Are you receiving me badly? Are my signals weak? | I can not receive you. Your signals are too weak. |
| QRK | Are you receiving me well? Are my signals good? | I receive you well. Your signals are good. |
| QRL | Are you busy? | I am busy. Or, (I am busy with ------). Please do not interfere. |
| QRM | Are you being interfered? | I am being interfered with. |
| QRN | Are you troubled by atmospherics? | I am troubled by atmospherics. |
| QRO | Must I increase power? | Increase power. |
| QRP | Must I decrease power? | Decrease power. |
| QRQ | Must I send faster? | Send faster (------ words per minute). |
| QRS | Must I send more slowly? | Send more slowly (------ words per minute). |
| QRT | Must I stop sending? | Stop sending. |
| QRU | Have you anything for me? | I have nothing for you. |
| QRV | Must I send a series of V's? | Send a series of V's. |
| QRW | Must I advise ------ that you are calling him? | Please advise ------ that I am calling him. |
| QRX | Must I wait? When will you call me again? | Wait until I have finished communicating with ------. I will call you immediately (or at ------ o'clock). |
| QRY | Which is my turn? | Your turn is No. ------ (or according to any other indication). |
| QRZ | By whom am I being called? | You are being called by ------ |
| QSA | What is the strength of my signals (1 to 5)? | The strength of your signals is ------ (1 to 5). |
| QSB | Does the strength of my signals vary? | The strength of your signals varies. |
| QSC | Do my signals disappear entirely at intervals? | Your signals disappear entirely at intervals. |
| QSD | Is my keying bad? | Your keying is bad. |
| QSE | Are my signals distinct? | Your signals are unreadable. |
| QSF | Is my automatic transmission good? | Your signals run together. |
| QSG | Must I transmit the telegrams by a series of 5, 10 (or according to any other indication)? | Your automatic transmission fades out. |
| QSH | Must I send one telegram at a time, repeating it twice? | Transmit the telegrams by a series of 5, 10 (or according to any other indication). |
| QSI | Must I send the telegrams in alternate order without repetition? | Transmit one telegram at a time, repeating it twice. |
| QSJ | What is the charge to be collected per word for ------ including your internal telegraph charge? | Send the telegrams in alternate order without repetition. |
| QSK | Must I suspend traffic? At what time will you call me again? | The charge to be collected per word for ------ is ------ francs, including my internal telegraph charge. |
| QSL | Can you give me acknowledgment of receipt? | Suspend traffic. I will call you again at ------ (o'clock). |
| QSM | Have you received my acknowledgment of receipt? | I give you acknowledgment of receipt. |
| QSN | Can you receive me now? Must I continue to listen? | I have not received your acknowledgment of receipt. |
| QSO | Can you communicate with ------ directly (or through the intermediary of ------)? | I cannot receive you now. Continue to listen. |
| QSP | Will you relay to ------ free of charge? | I can communicate with ------ directly (or through the intermediary of ------). |
| QSQ | Must I send each word or group once only? | I will relay to ------ free of charge. |
| QSR | Has the distress call received from ------ been attended to? | Send each word or group once only. |
| QSU | Must I send on ------ meters (or ------ kilocycles) waves of type A1, A2, A3, or B? | The distress call received from ------ has been attended to by ------ |
| | | Send on ------ meters (or on ------ kilocycles), waves of Type A1, A2, A3 or B. I am listening for you. |

I. Abbreviations to be used in all services—Continued

| Abbreviation | Question | Answer |
|---|---|---|
| QSV | Must I shift to the wave of ------ meters (or of ------ kilocycles), for the balance of our communications, and continue after having sent several V's? | Shift to wave of ------ meters (or of ------ kilocycles) for the balance of our communications and continue after having sent several V's. |
| QSW | Will you send on ------ meters (or on ------ kilocycles) waves of Type A1, A2, A3 or B? | I will send on ------ meters (or ------ kilocycles) waves of Type A1, A2, A3 or B. Continue to listen. |
| QSX | Does my wave length (frequency) vary? | Your wave length (frequency) varies. |
| QSY | Must I send on the wave of ------ meters (or ------ kilocycles) without changing the type of wave? | Send on the wave of ------ meters (or ------ kilocycles) without changing the type of wave. |
| QSZ | Must I send each word or group twice? | Send each word or group twice. |
| QTA | Must I cancel telegram No. ------ as if it had not been sent? | Cancel telegram No. ------ as if it had not been sent. |
| QTB | Do you agree with my word count? | I do not agree with your word count; I shall repeat the first letter of each word and the first figure of each number. |
| QTC | How many telegrams have you to send? | I have ------ telegrams for you or for ------ |
| QTD | Is the word-count which I am confirming to you accepted? | The word count which you confirm to me is accepted. |
| QTE | What is my true bearing? (or) | Your true bearing is ------ degrees (or) |
| | What is my true bearing relative to? | Your true bearing relative to ------ is ------ degrees at ------ (o'clock). |
| QTF | Will you give me the position of my station based on the bearings taken by the radiocompass stations which you control? | The position of your station based on the bearings taken by the radiocompass stations which I control is ------ latitude ------ longitude. |
| QTG | Will you transmit your call signal for one minute on a wave length of ------ meters (or ------ kilocycles) in order that I may take your bearing by radiocompass? | I am sending my call signal for one minute on the wave length of ------ meters (or ------ kilocycles) in order that you may take my bearing by radiocompass. |
| QTH | What is your position in latitude and longitude (or according to any other indication)? | My position is ------ latitude ------ longitude (or according to any other indication). |
| QTI | What is your true course? | My true course is ------ degrees. |
| QTJ | What is your speed? | My speed is ------ knots, or ------ kilometers per hour. |
| QTK | What is of the true bearing of ------ relative to you? | The true bearing of ------ relative to me is ------ degrees at ------ (o'clock). |
| QTL | Send radio signals to enableme to determine my bearing with respect to the radio beacon. | I am sending radio signals to permit you to determine your bearing with respect to the radiobeacon. |
| QTM | Send radio signals and submarine sound signals to enable me to determine my bearing and my distance. | I am sending radio signals and submarine sound signals to permit you to determine your bearing and your distance. |
| QTN | Can you take the bearing of my station (or of ------) relative to you? | I cannot take the bearing of your station (or of ------) relative to my station. |
| QTP | Are you going to enter the dock (or the port)? | I am going to enter the dock (or the port). |
| QTR | What is the exact time? | The exact time is ------ |
| QTS | What is the true bearing of your station relative to me? | The true bearing of my station relative to you is ------ at ------ (o'clock). |
| QTU | What are the hours during which your station is open? | My station is open from ------ to ------ | Aircraft service.

II. Abbreviations more especially used in the aircraft radio service

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| QAA | At what time do you expect to arrive at ------? | I expect to arrive at ------ at ------ (o'clock). |
| QAB | Are you en route to ------? | I am en route to ------ or Go to ------ |
| QAC | Are you returning to ------? | I am returning to ------ or Return to ------ |
| QAD | At what time did you leave ------? (place of departure). | I left ------ (place of departure) at ------ (o'clock). |
| QAE | Have you news of ------ (call signal of the aircraft station)? | I have no news of ------ (call signal of the aircraft station). |
| QAF | At what time did you pass ------? | I passed ------ at ------ (o'clock). |
| QAH | What is your height? | My height is ------ meters (or according to any other indication). |
| QAI | Has any aircraft signaled in my neighborhood? | No aircraft has signaled in your neighborhood. |
| QAJ | Must I look for another aircraft in my neighborhood? | Look for another aircraft in your neighborhood (or) Look for ------ (call signal of the aircraft station) which was flying near ------ (or in the direction of ------) at ------ (o'clock). |
| QAK | On what wave are you going to send the meteorological warning messages? | I am going to send the meteorological warning messages on wave length of ------ meters (or ------ kilocycles). |
| QAL | Are you going to land at ------? | I am going to land at ------ or Land ------ |
| QAM | Can you give me the latest meteorological message concerning weather for ------ (place of observation)? | Here is the latest meteorological message concerning weather for ------ (place of observation). |

II. Abbreviations more especially used in the aircraft radio service—Continued

| Abbreviation | Question | Answer |
|---|---|---|
| QAN | Can you give me the latest meteorological message concerning surface wind for _____ (place of observation)? | Here is the latest meteorological message concerning surface wind for _____ (place of observation). |
| QAO | Can you give me the latest meteorological message concerning upper wind for _____ (place of observation)? | Here is the latest meteorological message concerning upper wind for _____ (place of observation). |
| QAP | Must I continue to listen for you (or for _____) on _____ meters (or _____ kilocycles)? | Continue to listen for me (or for _____) on _____ meters (or _____ kilocycles). |
| QAQ | Will you hasten the reply to message No. _____ (or in accordance with any other indication)? | I hasten the reply to message No. _____ (or in accordance with any other indication). |
| QAR | Must I reply to _____ for you? | Reply to _____ for me. |
| QAS | Must I send message No. _____ (or in accordance with any other indication) to_____? | Send message No. _____ (or in accordance with any other indication) to _____ |
| QAT | Must I continue to send? | Listen before sending; you are interfering; or Listen before sending; you are sending at the same time as _____ |
| QAU | What is the last message received by you from _____? | The last message received by me from _____ is_____. |
| QAV | Are you calling me?_____ or Are you calling _____ (call signal of the aircraft station)? | I am calling you. or I am calling _____ (call signal of the aircraft station). |
| QAW | Must I cease listening until _____ (o'clock)?_ | Cease listening until _____ (o'clock). |
| QAX | Have you received the urgent signal sent by _____ (call signal of the aircraft station)? | I received the urgent signal sent by _____ (call signal of the aircraft station) at _____ (o'clock). |
| QAY | Have you received the distress signal sent by _____ (call signal of the aircraft station)? | I received the distress signal sent by _____ (call signal of the aircraft station) at _____ (o'clock). |
| QAZ | Can you receive in spite of the storm?_____ | I can no longer receive. I am going off watch because of the storm. |

III. Miscellaneous Abbreviations

Miscellaneous abbreviations.

| Abbreviation | Meaning |
|---|---|
| C | Yes. |
| N | No. |
| P | Announcement of private telegram in the mobile service (to be used as a prefix). |
| W | Word or words. |
| AA | "All after _____" (to be used after a question mark to request a repetition). |
| AB | "All before _____" (to be used after a question mark to request a repetition). |
| AL | "All that has just been sent" (to be used after a question mark to request a repetition). |
| BN | "All between_____" (to be used after a question mark to request a repetition). |
| BQ | Announcement of reply to a request for rectification. |
| CL | "I am closing my station." |
| CS | Call signal (to be used to ask repetition of a call signal). |
| DB | "I cannot give you a bearing, you are not in the calibrated sector of this station." |
| DC | "The minimum of your signal is suitable for the bearing." |
| DF | Your bearing at _____ (o'clock) was _____ degrees, in the doubtful sector of this station with a possible error of two degrees. |
| DG | Please advise me if you note an error in the bearing given. |
| DI | Bearing doubtful in consequence of the bad quality of your signal. |
| DJ | Bearing doubtful because of interference. |
| DL | Your bearing at _____ (o'clock) was _____ degrees in the doubtful sector of this station. |
| DO | Bearing doubtful. Ask for another bearing later, or at _____ (o'clock). |
| DP | Beyond 50 miles, possible error of bearing can attain two degrees. |
| DS | Adjust your transmitter, the minimum of your signal is too broad. |
| DT | I cannot furnish you with a bearing; the minimum of your signal is too broad. |
| DY | This station is bilateral, what is your approximate direction in degrees relative to this station? |
| DZ | Your bearing is reciprocal. (To be used only by the central station of a group of radiocompass stations when it is addressed to other stations of the same group.) |
| ER | "Here _____" (to be used before the name of the mobile station in the sending of route indications). |
| GA | "Resume sending." (to be used more especially in the fixed service). |
| JM | "If I may send, make a series of dashes. To stop my transmission, make a series of dots." (not to be used on 600 meters (500 kilocycles)). |
| MN | Minute or minutes (to be used to indicate the duration of a wait). |
| NW | "I resume transmission." (to be used more especially in the fixed service). |
| OK | "We are in agreement." |
| RQ | Announcement of a request for rectification. |
| SA | Announcement of the name of an aircraft station (to be used in the sending of indications of passage). |
| SF | Announcement of the name of an aeronautic station. |
| SN | Announcement of the name of a coast station. |
| SS | Announcement of the name of a ship station (to be used in the transmission of indications of passage). |
| TR | Announcement of the request or of the sending of indications concerning a mobile station. |
| UA | "Are we in agreement?" |
| WA | "Word after _____" (to be used after a question mark to request a repetition). |
| WB | "Word before _____" (to be used after a question mark to request a repetition). |

III. Miscellaneous abbreviations—Continued

| Abbreviation | Meaning |
|---|---|
| XS | Atmospherics. |
| YS | "See your service advice." |
| ABV | "Shorten the traffic by using the International Abbreviations" or "Repeat (or I repeat) the figures in abbreviation form." |
| ADR | Address (to be used after a question mark to request a repetition). |
| CFM | "Confirm" or "I confirm." |
| COL | "Collate" or "I collate." |
| ITP | "The punctuation counts." |
| MSG | Announcement of telegram concerning ship service only (to be used as a prefix). |
| PBL | Preamble (to be used after a question to request a repetition). |
| REF | "Referring to ------" or "Refer to ------." |
| RPT | "Repeat" or "I repeat" only (to be used to ask or to give repetition of all or part of the traffic by making the corresponding indication after the abbreviation). |
| SIG | Signature (to be used after a question mark to request a repetition). |
| SVC | Announcement of a service telegram concerning private traffic (to be used as a prefix). |
| TFC | Traffic. |
| TXT | Text (to be used after a question mark to request a repetition). |

APPENDIX 2

Appendix 2.

Report of Infraction of the Radiotelegraph Convention or of the Service Regulations

Report of infractions.

(See Art. 12 of the General Radiotelegraph Regulations)

Ante, p. 2860.

| PARTICULARS CONCERNING STATION VIOLATING THE REGULATIONS | |
|---|---|
| 1. Name, if known (in block letters) (Note a) | |
| 2. Call signal (in block letters) | |
| 3. Nationality, if known | |
| 4. Wave employed (Kc/s or m) | |
| 5. System (Note b) | |
| 6. Name (in block letters) | |
| 7. Call signal (in block letters) | |
| 8. Nationality | |
| 9. Approximate position (Note c) | |
| PARTICULARS CONCERNING THE VIOLATION | |
| 10. Name (Note d) of station in communication with the station committing the violation | |
| 11. Call signal of station in communication with the station committing the violation | |
| 12. Time (Note e) and date | |
| 13. Nature of violation (Note f) | |

14. Extracts from log and other documents supporting the report (to be continued on reverse side, if necessary) Time:

15. Certificate:

I certify that the above report represents, to the best of my information and belief, a complete and accurate account of what took place.

Date ---------- 19----.

This report must be signed by the operator who has reported the violation, and countersigned by the master of the ship or aircraft, or by the chief of the land station.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR FILLING IN THIS FORM

Note a: Only one ship or station to be dealt with in each report, see Note d.

Note b: Type A1, A2, A3, or B.

Note c: Applicable to ships and aircraft only; must be expressed either in latitude and longitude (Greenwich) or by a true bearing and distance in nautical miles or in kilometers from some well-known place.

Note d: If both communicating stations violate the regulations, a separate report shall be made for each of the stations.

Note e: Must be expressed by a group of four figures (0000 to 2359) Greenwich Mean Time. If the violation covers a considerable period the violation must be shown in No. 14.

Note f: A separate report is required for each violation unless the faults are obviously all made by the same person and have occurred within a short time.

All reports must be forwarded in duplicate and when practicable must be typewritten. (Indelible pencil and carbon paper may be used.)

APPENDIX 8

Obtaining radiocompass bearings.

Procedure for obtaining radiocompass bearings

Ante, p. 2878.

(See Art. 31 of the General Regulations)

General instructions.

I. General instructions

A. Before calling one or more radiocompass stations, the mobile station, in order to request its bearing, must refer to the nomenclature for:

1. The call signals of the stations to be called to obtain the radiocompass bearings desired.

2. The wave on which the radiocompass stations listen, and the wave or waves on which they take bearings.

3. The radiocompass stations which, connected by special wires, may be grouped with the radiocompass station to be called.

B. The procedure to be followed by the mobile station depends on varying circumstances. Generally, the following must be taken into account:

1. If the radiocompass stations do not listen on the same wave, whether it be the wave on which bearings are taken or another wave, the bearings must be requested separately from each station or group of stations using a given wave.

2. If all the radiocompass stations concerned listen on the same wave, and if they are able to take bearings on a common wave—which may be a wave other than the listening wave—they should all be called together, in order that the bearings may be taken by all these stations at the same time, on one and the same transmission.

3. If several radiocompass stations are grouped by means of special wires, only one of them must be called even if all are furnished with transmitting apparatus. In this case, the mobile stations must, however, if it is necessary, specify in the call by means of the call signals, the radiocompass stations whose bearings they wish to obtain.

Rules of procedure.

II. Rules of procedure

A. The mobile station shall call the radiocompass station or stations on the wave indicated in the nomenclature as being their listening wave. It shall transmit the abbreviation QTE which means:

"I wish to know my radiocompass bearing with respect to the radiocompass station which I am calling"

or

"I wish to know my radiocompass bearing with respect to the station or stations whose call signals follow"

or

"I wish to know my radiocompass bearing with respect to the radio compass stations grouped under your control" the call signal or signals necessary, and shall close by indicating, if necessary, the wave which it is going to use to determine its bearing. It shall then await instructions.

B. The radiocompass station or stations called shall prepare to take the bearing; they shall, if necessary, notify the radiocompass stations with which they are connected. As soon as the radiocompass stations are ready, such of these stations as are provided with sending apparatus shall reply to the mobile station in the alphabetical order of their call signals, by giving their call signal followed by the letter K.

In the case of radiocompass stations which are grouped, the station called shall notify the other stations of the group and shall inform the mobile station as soon as the stations of the group are ready to take the bearing.

C. After having, if necessary, changed to its new transmitting wave, the mobile station shall reply by sending its call signal combined, when need be, with another signal, during a length of time sufficiently prolonged to permit the bearing to be taken.

D. The radiocompass station or stations which are satisfied with the operation shall transmit the signal QTE ("Your bearing with respect to me was ------ degrees"), preceded by the time of the observation and followed by a group of three figures (000 to 359), showing in degrees the true bearing of the mobile station with respect to the radiocompass station.

If a radiocompass station is not satisfied with the operation, it shall request the mobile station to repeat the transmission indicated under C.

E. As soon as the mobile station has received the result of the observation, it shall repeat the message to the radiocompass station, which shall then state that the repetition is exact or, when necessary, shall correct it by repeating the message. When the radiocompass station is certain that the mobile station has correctly received the message, it shall transmit the signal "end of work." This signal shall then be repeated by the mobile station, as an indication that the operation is finished.

F. The data concerning (a) the signal to be used to obtain the bearings, (b) the duration of the transmission to be made by the mobile station, and (c) the time used by the radiocompass station in question shall be given in the nomenclature.

PROCLAMATIONS.

BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

April 4, 1927.

A PROCLAMATION.

Protection of migratory birds.

Preamble.
Vol. 40, p. 755.
Vol. 39, p. 1702.

WHEREAS, The Secretary of Agriculture, by virtue of the authority vested in him by section three of the Migratory Bird Treaty Act (40 Stat., 755), has submitted to me for approval, regulations further amendatory of the regulations approved and proclaimed July 31, 1918, which the Secretary of Agriculture has determined to be suitable amendatory regulations permitting and governing the hunting, taking, capture, killing, possession, sale, purchase, shipment, transportation, carriage, and export of said birds and parts thereof and their nests and eggs, as follows:

Vol. 42, p. 2240, amended.

Regulation 3, Means by which Migratory Game Birds may be Taken, is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

Means for taking birds.

REGULATION 3.—MEANS BY WHICH MIGRATORY GAME BIRDS MAY BE TAKEN.

Restrictions modified.
Post, p. 2942.

The migratory game birds specified in Regulation 4 hereof may be taken during the open season with a gun only, not larger than No. 10 gauge, fired from the shoulder, except as specifically permitted by regulations 7, 8, 9, and 10 hereof; they may be taken during the open season from the land and water, with the aid of a dog, the use of decoys, and from a blind or floating device; but nothing herein shall be deemed to permit the use of an airplane, powerboat, sailboat, boat under sail, floating device towed by powerboat or sailboat, or any sinkbox (battery), except that sinkboxes (batteries) may be used in the taking of waterfowl in coastal sounds and bays (including Back Bay, Princess Anne County, State of Virginia) and other coastal waters if placed not less than 700 yards from the shore line of the mainland at ordinary high tide and not less than 700 yards from any island at ordinary high tide, and not less than 700 yards from any other sinkbox (battery); and nothing herein shall be deemed to permit the use of an airplane, or a powerboat, sailboat, or other floating device for the purpose of concentrating, driving, rallying, or stirring up migratory waterfowl.

Regulation 4, Open Seasons on and Possession of Certain Migratory Game Birds, is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

Open seasons.

REGULATION 4.—OPEN SEASONS ON AND POSSESSION OF CERTAIN MIGRATORY GAME BIRDS.

Time prescribed.
Vol. 44, p. 2614, amended.

For the purpose of this regulation, each period of time herein prescribed as an open season shall be construed to include the first and last days thereof.

Waterfowl, etc.

Waterfowl (except wood duck, eider ducks, and swans), rails, coot, gallinules, woodcock, Wilson snipe or jacksnipe, and mourning doves may be taken each day from half an hour before sunrise to sunset during the open seasons prescribed therefor in this regulation by the means and in the numbers permitted by regulations 3 and 5 hereof, respectively, and when so taken may be possessed any day in any State, Territory, or District during the period constituting the open season where killed and for an additional period of 10 days next succeeding said open season, but no such birds shall be possessed in a State, Territory, or District at a time when such State, Territory, or District prohibits the possession thereof.

Waterfowl (except wood duck, eider ducks, and swans), coot, gallinules, and Wilson snipe or jacksnipe.—The open seasons for waterfowl (except wood duck, eider ducks, and swans), coot, gallinules, and Wilson snipe or jacksnipe shall be as follows:

Geographical limitations.
Post, pp. 2905, 2922, 2956.

In Louisiana the open season shall be from November 1 to January 31.

Regulation 5, Bag Limits on Certain Migratory Game Birds, is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

REGULATION 5.—BAG LIMITS ON CERTAIN MIGRATORY GAME BIRDS.

Bag limits.

Vol. 44, p. 2607, amended.

A person may take in any one day during the open seasons prescribed therefor in regulation 4 not to exceed the following numbers of migratory game birds, which numbers shall include all birds taken by any other person who for hire accompanies or assists him in taking migratory birds:

Ducks (except wood duck and eider ducks).—Twenty-five in the aggregate of all kinds.

Geese.—Eight in the aggregate of all kinds.

Brant.—Eight.

Rails and gallinules (except sora and coot).—Twenty-five in the aggregate of all kinds, but not more than 15 of any one species.

Sora.—Twenty-five.

Coot.—Twenty-five.

Wilson snipe or jacksnipe.—Twenty.

Woodcock.—Four.

Doves (mourning).—Twenty-five.

Regulation 6, Shipment, Transportation, and Possession of Certain Migratory Game Birds, is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

REGULATION 6.—SHIPMENT, TRANSPORTATION, AND POSSESSION OF CERTAIN MIGRATORY GAME BIRDS.

Shipment, transportation, and possession restrictions.

Waterfowl (except wood duck, eider ducks, and swans), rails, coot, gallinules, woodcock, Wilson snipe or jacksnipe, and mourning doves and parts thereof legally taken may be transported in or out of the State where taken during the respective open seasons in that State, and may be imported from Canada during the open season in the Province where taken, in any manner, but not more than the number thereof that may be taken in two days by one person under these regulations shall be transported by one person in one calendar week out of the State where taken; any such migratory game birds or parts thereof in transit during the open season may continue in transit such additional time immediately succeeding such open season, not to exceed 5 days, necessary to deliver the same to their destination, and may be possessed in any State, Territory, or District during the period constituting the open season where killed, and for an additional period of 10 days next succeeding said open season; and any package in which migratory game birds or parts thereof are transported shall have the name and address of the shipper and of the consignee and an accurate statement of the numbers and kinds of birds contained therein clearly and conspicuously marked on the outside thereof; but no such birds shall be transported from any State, Territory, or District to or through another State, Territory, or District, or to or through a Province of the Dominion of Canada, contrary to the laws of the State, Territory, or District, or Province of the Dominion of Canada in which they were taken or from which they are transported; nor shall any such birds be transported into any State, Territory, or District from another State, Territory, or District, or from any State, Territory, or District into any Province of the Dominion of Canada at a time when such State, Territory, or District, or Province of the Dominion of Canada prohibits the possession or transportation thereof.

Vol. 44, p. 2608, amended.

Approval of regulations.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, CALVIN COOLIDGE, PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, DO HEREBY APPROVE AND PROCLAIM the foregoing amendatory regulations.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

DONE at the City of Washington this 4th day of April in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twenty-seven, [SEAL] and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and fifty-first.

PROCLAMATION

Copyrights. Preamble. Vol. 35, p. 1075.

WHEREAS it is provided by the Act of Congress approved March 4, 1909, entitled "An Act to Amend and Consolidate the Acts Respecting Copyright", that the copyright secured by the Act, except the benefits under Section 1 (e) thereof as to which special conditions are imposed, shall extend to the work of an author or proprietor who is a citizen or subject of a foreign state or nation, only upon certain conditions set forth in Section 8 of the said Act, to wit:

Vol. 35, p. 1077.

(a) When an alien author or proprietor shall be domiciled within the United States at the time of the first publication of his work; or

(b) When the foreign state or nation of which such author or proprietor is a citizen or subject grants, either by treaty, convention, agreement, or law, to citizens of the United States the benefit of copyright on substantially the same basis as to its own citizens, or copyright protection substantially equal to the protection secured to such foreign author under this Act or by treaty; or when such foreign state or nation is a party to an international agreement which provides for reciprocity in the granting of copyright, by the terms of which agreement the United States may, at its pleasure, become a party thereto:

AND WHEREAS it is provided by Section 1 (e) of the said Act of Congress, approved March 4, 1909, that the provisions of the Act "so far as they secure copyright controlling the parts of instruments serving to reproduce mechanically the musical work, shall include only compositions published and copyrighted after this Act goes into effect, and shall not include the works of a foreign author or composer unless the foreign state or nation of which such author or composer is a citizen or subject grants, either by treaty, convention, agreement or law, to citizens of the United States similar rights";

AND WHEREAS the President is authorized by the said Section 8 to determine by proclamation made from time to time the existence of the reciprocal conditions aforesaid, as the purposes of the Act may require;

Action by Czechoslovakia.

AND WHEREAS satisfactory official assurances have been received that on and after March 1, 1927 citizens of the United States have been entitled to obtain copyright for their works in Czechoslovakia which is substantially equal to the protection afforded by the copyright laws of the United States, including rights similar to those provided by Section 1 (e) of the Copyright Act of the United States, approved March 4, 1909.

Benefits extended to citizens of Czechoslovakia, including musical reproductions.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, CALVIN COOLIDGE, President of the United States of America do declare and proclaim

Vol. 35, pp. 1077, 1075.

That on and after March 1, 1927 the conditions specified in Sections 8 (b) and 1 (e) of the Act of March 4, 1909, existed and were fulfilled in respect to the citizens of Czechoslvakia and that on and after March 1, 1927 citizens of Czechoslovakia have been entitled to all the benefits of the Act of March 4, 1909, including Section 1 (e) thereof and the Acts amendatory of the said Act.

Conditions.

PROVIDED that the enjoyment by any work of the rights and benefits conferred by the Act of March 4, 1909, and the Acts amendatory thereof, shall be conditional upon compliance with the requirements and formalities prescribed with respect to such works by the copyright laws of the United States.

AND PROVIDED FURTHER that the provisions of Section 1 (e) of the Act of March 4, 1909, in so far as they secure copyright controlling the parts of instruments serving to reproduce mechanically musical works shall apply only to compositions published after July 1, 1909, and registered for copyright in the United States which have not been reproduced within the United States prior to April 27, 1927 on any contrivance by means of which the work may be mechanically performed.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the City of Washington this 27th day of April in the year of Our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twenty-seven and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and fifty-first.

A PROCLAMATION

Siuslaw National Forest, Oreg.

Preamble.

Whereas, by proclamations, the President of the United States has, at various times, created certain national forests, within the State of Oregon; and

Whereas, in order to provide for a proper adjustment of the claims of the State to lands within such national forests, in satisfaction of its common school grant, a memorandum of agreement was entered into under date of March 24, 1925, between the Secretary of the Department of Agriculture and the Governor of the State of Oregon, whereby it was agreed that the said State should relinquish all its title or claim under its grant in aid of common schools to lands included within said national forests, being the whole or parts of certain sections sixteen and thirty-six, and be allowed to select other lands equivalent in acreage and value lying along and within the boundaries of the Siuslaw National Forest, which are located in such position that, when eliminated therefrom, all of said selected lands will lie outside the new exterior boundaries of said national forest; and

Whereas, it appears that the public interests would be promoted by modifying Executive order of June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and eight, affecting the Siuslaw National Forest, so as to exclude the areas first hereinafter described, and also so as to allow the State of Oregon, in furtherance of the aforesaid agreement, to file applications to select the lands agreed upon, and hereinafter described, as indemnity in satisfaction of the aforesaid portions of its common school grant;

Area diminished. Vol. 30, p. 36.

Now, therefore, I, CALVIN COOLIDGE, President of the United States of America, by virtue of the power in me vested by the act of Congress approved June fourth, eighteen hundred and ninety-seven, entitled "An Act Making appropriations for sundry civil expenses of the Government for the fiscal year ending June thirtieth, eighteen hundred and ninety-eight, and for other purposes", do proclaim that the boundaries of the Siuslaw National Forest are hereby modified to exclude therefrom the following areas, to-wit:

Description.

In T. 23 S., R. 11 W., W. M., S½ NE¼ and SW¼ SE¼ Sec. 16, NE¼ and N½ NW¼ Sec. 36.

Lands to be selected by Oregon as indemnity for school grant within the National Forest.

And I do also proclaim, under authority of the aforesaid act of June fourth, eighteen hundred and ninety-seven, that the said Executive order is hereby further modified so as to admit of immediate application to select by the State of Oregon, as indemnity in partial satisfaction of its common school grant and in furtherance of the before mentioned agreement of March 24, 1925, and not otherwise, of the following described lands within the said Siuslaw National Forest, to-wit:

In T. 24 S., R. 11 W., all Secs. 1 and 2, E½, Lots 3, 4, SE¼ NW¼ and E½ SW¼ Sec. 3, Lots 1, 2, 3, 4, S½ NW¼, SW¼ and W½ SE¼ Sec. 4, all Secs, 5, 6, 7 and 8, NW¼ NE¼, S½ NE¼, NW¼, N½ SW¼, SW¼ SW¼, W½ W½ SE¼ SW¼, NW¼ SE¼, E½ SW¼ SE¼, E½ W½ SW¼ SE¼ Sec. 9, NW¼ and NE¼ SE¼ Sec. 10, N½ and N½ SE¼ Sec. 11, N½ NE¼, SE¼ NE¼ and NW¼ Sec. 12, W½ NE¼, NW¼, N½ SW¼, NW¼ SE¼ and Lots 1, 2 and 3 Sec. 17, NE¼, NE¼ NW¼, N½ SE¼ and Lots 1, 2, 3, 4, 6 and 7 Sec. 18.

Applications subject to conditions of Water Power Act.
Vol. 41, p. 1075.

Provided, That applications to select by the State of Oregon hereunder any of the above described lands which are embraced in a power site classification shall be subject to the conditions imposed by Sec. 24 of the Federal water power act of June 10, 1920 (41 Stat., 1063);

Selected lands eliminated from Siuslaw National Forest.

And provided further, that all applications to select by the State of Oregon hereunder must be filed within ninety days from the date of this proclamation, and the lands embraced in selections made by the State of Oregon hereunder to the extent that such selections receive the final approval of the Secretary of the Interior, be, and the same are, hereby declared eliminated from the Siuslaw National Forest, such eliminations to become effective from the date of such approvals.

In Witness Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed:

A PROCLAMATION

Tariff on Swiss cheese.
Preamble.
Statutory authorization.
Vol. 42, p. 941.

Whereas in and by section 315 (a) of Title III of the act of Congress approved September 21, 1922, entitled "An act to provide revenue, to regulate commerce with foreign countries, to encourage the industries of the United States, and for other purposes," it is, among other things, provided that whenever the President, upon investigation of the differences in costs of production of articles wholly or in part the growth or product of the United States and of like or similar articles wholly or in part the growth or product of competing foreign countries, shall find it thereby shown that the duties fixed in this act do not equalize the said differences in costs of production in the United States and the principal competing country he shall, by such investigation, ascertain said differences and determine and proclaim the changes in classifications or increases or decreases in rates of duty provided in said act shown by said ascertained differences in such costs of production necessary to equalize the same;

Vol 42, p. 942.

Whereas in and by section 315 (c) of said act it is further provided that in ascertaining the differences in costs of production, under the provisions of subdivisions (a) and (b) of said section, the President in so far as he finds it practicable, shall take into consideration (1) the differences in conditions in production, including wages, costs of material, and other items in costs of production of such or similar articles in the United States and in competing foreign countries; (2) the differences in the wholesale selling prices of domestic and foreign articles in the principal markets of the United States; (3) advantages granted to a foreign producer by a foreign government, or by a person, partnership, corporation, or association in a foreign country; and (4) any other advantages or disadvantages in competition;

Whereas under and by virtue of said section of said act, the United States Tariff Commission has made an investigation to assist the President in ascertaining the differences in costs of production of and of all other facts and conditions enumerated in said section with respect to the article described in paragraph 710 of Title I of said tariff act of 1922, namely, cheese by whatever name known, having the eye formation characteristic of the Swiss or Emmenthaler type, being wholly or in part the growth or product of the United States, and of and with respect to a like or similar article wholly or in part the growth or product of competing foreign countries;

Vol. 42, p. 892.

Whereas in the course of said investigation a hearing was held, of which reasonable public notice was given and at which parties interested were given reasonable opportunity to be present, to produce evidence, and to be heard;

And whereas the President upon said investigation of said differences in costs of production of said article wholly or in part the growth or product of the United States and of the like or similar article wholly or in part the growth or product of competing foreign countries, has thereby found that the principal competing country is Switzerland and that the duty fixed in said title and act does not equalize the differences in costs of production in the United States and in said principal competing country, namely, Switzerland, and has ascertained and determined the increased rate of duty necessary to equalize the same.

Increasing duty on specified type of cheese to equalize differences in costs of production.

Now, therefore, I, Calvin Coolidge, President of the United States of America, do hereby determine and proclaim that the increase in the rate of duty provided in said act shown by said ascertained differences in said costs of production necessary to equalize the same is as follows:

Rate.

An increase in said duty on cheese by whatever name known, having the eye formation characteristic of the Swiss or Emmenthaler type (within the limit of total increase provided for in said act), from 5 cents per pound, but not less than 25 per centum ad valorem to 7½ cents per pound, but not less than 37½ per centum ad valorem.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

A PROCLAMATION

Kaniksu National Forest, Idaho and Wash.
Vol. 37, p. 1777; Vol. 43, p. 1953.

Whereas, the exchange between the United States and the State of Idaho, authorized by proclamations of March 3, 1913, and June 4, 1924, affecting the Kaniksu National Forest, in Idaho, has been consummated; and

Whereas, it appears that the public good will be promoted by excluding the areas selected by the State of Idaho under such exchange with other lands from the Kaniksu National Forest, in Idaho, and restoring the public lands subject to disposition therein to entry by ex-service men in advance of the general public in accordance with existing law; and

Whereas it appears that certain lands immediately heretofore forming a part of the Kaniksu National Forest in Idaho, should be transferred to and made a part of the Pend Oreille National Forest, in Idaho;

Boundaries modified.

Now, therefore, I, CALVIN COOLIDGE, President of the United States of America, by virtue of the power in me vested by the act of Congress approved June fourth, eighteen hundred and ninety-seven (30 Stat., 11 at 34 and 36), entitled "An Act Making appropriations for sundry civil expenses of the Government for the fiscal year ending June thirtieth, eighteen hundred and ninety-eight, and for other purposes", do proclaim that the boundaries of the Kaniksu National Forest are hereby changed and that they are now as shown on the diagram hereto annexed and forming a part hereof; and that this proclamation and that changing the boundaries of the Pend Oreille National Forest, which I have also signed this same day, are made and are intended to be and shall be considered as one act to become effective simultaneously.

Post, p. 2012.

Excluded lands opened to entry for 91 days to ex-service men of World War.
Vol. 41, p. 434; Vol. 42, pp. 358, 1067.

And I do further proclaim and make known that pursuant to Public Resolution No. 29 of February fourteenth, nineteen hundred and twenty (41 Stat., 434), as amended January twenty-first and December twenty-eighth, nineteen hundred and twenty-two (42 Stat., 358, 1067), it is hereby ordered that the public lands in the excluded areas, subject to valid rights, shall be opened only to entry under the homestead and desert-land laws by qualified ex-service men of the war with Germany, under the terms and conditions of said resolutions and the regulations issued thereunder, for a period of 91 days, beginning with the 63rd day from and after the date hereof, and thereafter, any of said lands remaining unentered will be subject to appropriation under any public land law applicable thereto by the general public. Subsequent to the date hereof and prior to the date of restoration to general disposition as herein provided, no rights may be acquired to the restored lands by settlement in advance of entry or otherwise except strictly in accordance herewith.

Unentered lands opened to settlement thereafter.

Advance settlement restricted.

In Witness Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Whereas, the exchange between the United States and the State of Idaho, authorized by proclamation of March 3, 1913, affecting the Pend Oreille National Forest, in Idaho, has been consummated; and

Whereas, it appears that the public good will be promoted by excluding the area acquired by the State of Idaho under such exchange, with other non-public lands, from the Pend Oreille National Forest, and by including in said national forest certain lands immediately heretofore reserved as a part of the Kaniksu National Forest in Idaho.

Area modified. Vol. 30, p. 36.

Now, therefore, I, CALVIN COOLIDGE, President of the United States of America, by virtue of the power in me vested by the Act of Congress approved June fourth, eighteen hundred and ninety-seven (30 Stat., 11 at 34 and 36), entitled, "An Act Making appropriations for sundry civil expenses of the Government for the fiscal year ending June thirtieth, eighteen hundred and ninety-eight, and for other purposes", do proclaim that the boundaries of the Pend Oreille National Forest are hereby changed and that they are now as shown on the diagram hereto annexed and forming a part hereof; and that this proclamation and that changing the boundaries of the Kaniksu National Forest, which I have also signed this same day, are made and are intended to be and shall be considered as one act to become effective simultaneously.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Calvin Coolidge, President of the United States, by virtue of the authority in me vested, do hereby proclaim and make known that the following described lands to be used for highway purposes only, and subject to the conditions hereinafter mentioned, are hereby transferred and conveyed to the people of Porto Rico:

Description.

Such strip or parcel of land within the Municipality of San Juan, now occupied as naval or military reservations, as may be needed to develop or construct a boulevard 15 meters wide, 7.50 meters on each side of the center line thereof, extending from "Plaza de Colon" to "San Antonio" bridge, such boulevard to follow, in a general way the upper bank of the embankment along the sea shore line all through Puerta de Tierra district, and in the direction given below, taking as a reference map for such purpose Department of Interior map of Porto Rico, approved by Lawrence Graham, Commissioner, in November, 1909, on which are shown all federal and insular reserves, as well as private property, corresponding to the district of Puerta de Tierra, a more particular description of the center line of said proposed boulevard being as follows:

The origin of the center line of the proposed boulevard is on Salvador Brau Street; thence along a tangent N 87° 03′ E, a distance of 53.10 meters; thence along a 35° 30′ curve to the right of a radius of 50 meters a distance of 6.96 meters to a point on the east boundary of Norzagaray Street in its intersection with Salvador-Brau Street where the military reservation begins.

Starting along this point thence along the 35° 30′ curve previously described another distance of 6.96 meters; thence along a tangent S 77° 00′ E a distance of 76.21 meters; thence along a 17° 32′ curve to the right of a radius of 100 meters a distance of 27.92 meters; thence along a tangent S 61° 00′ E a distance of 5.79 meters; thence along a 61° 04′ curve to the left of a radius of 30 meters a distance of 30.24 meters; thence along a tangent N 61° 15′ E a distance of 13.97 meters; thence along a 29° 26′ curve to the right of a radius of 60 meters a distance of 13.84 meters; thence along a tangent N 74° 28′ E a distance of 60.00 meters; thence along a 21° 58′ curve to the right of a radius of 80 meters a distance of 18.55 meters; thence along a tangent N 87° 45′ E a distance of 106.02 meters; thence along a 17° 32′ curve to the left of a radius of 100 meters a distance of 21.26 meters; thence along a tangent N 75° 34′ E a distance of 181.51 meters; thence along a 25° 10′ curve to the right of a radius of 70 meters a distance of 16.46 meters; thence along a tangent N 89° 03′ E a distance of 90.51 meters; thence along a 1° 44′ curve to the left of a radius of 1,000 meters a distance of 14.54 meters; thence along a tangent N 88° 13′ E a distance of 26.55 meters; thence along an 8° 44′ curve to the right of a radius of 200 meters a distance of 13.73 meters; thence along a tangent S 87° 51′ E a distance of 207.27 meters; thence along a 44° 48′ curve to the right of a radius of 40 meters a distance of 20.90 meters; thence along a tangent S 57° 55′ E a distance of 81.16 meters; thence along an 8° 44′ curve to the right of a radius of 200 meters a distance of 16.29 meters; thence along a tangent S 53° 15′ E a distance of 68.54 meters; thence along an 8° 44′ curve to the left of a radius of 200 meters a distance of 21.12 meters; thence along a tangent S 59° 18′ E a distance of 119.07 meters; thence along a 35° 30′ curve to the left of a radius of 50 meters a distance of 16.08 meters; thence along a tangent S 77° 44′ E a distance of 10.41 meters; thence along an 8° 44′ curve to the right of a radius of 200 meters a distance of 17.86 meters; thence along a tangent S 72° 37′ E a distance of 39.19 meters; thence along a 5° 50′ curve to the left of a radius of 300 meters a distance of 1.75 meters; thence along a tangent S 72° 57′ E a distance of 186.31 meters; thence along a 17° 32′ curve to the left of a radius of 100 meters a distance of 25.31 meters; thence along a tangent S 87° 27′ E a distance of 59.51 meters; thence along a 3° 30′ curve to the right of a radius of 500 meters a distance of 16.29 meters; thence along a tangent S 85° 35′ E a distance of 8.34 meters; thence along a 5° 50′ curve to the left of a radius of 300 meters a distance of 16.14 meters; thence along a tangent S 88° 40′ E a distance of 162.02 meters; thence along a 99° 17′ curve to the left of a radius of 20 meters a distance of 13.31 meters; thence along a tangent N 53° 12′ E a distance of 30.15 meters; thence along a 99° 17′ curve to the right of a radius of 20 meters a distance of 13.26 meters; thence along a tangent S 88° 49′ E a distance of 51.81 meters; thence along an 8° 44′ curve to the right a radius of 200 meters a distance of 11.52 meters; thence along a tangent S 85° 31′ E a distance of 97.23 meters; thence along a 17° 32′ curve to the right of a radius of 100 meters a distance of 22.86 meters; thence along a tangent S 72° 25′ E a distance of 92.52 meters; thence along a 15° 28′ curve to the right of a radius of 113.38 meters a distance of 27.14 meters; thence along a tangent S 58° 42′ E a distance of 58.28 meters; thence along an 8° 44′ curve to the left of a radius of 200 meters a distance of 18.50 meters; thence along a tangent S 64° 00′ E a distance of 263.52 meters; thence along a 35° 30′ curve to the right of a radius of 50 meters a distance of 27.52 meters where the military reservation ends; thence along a tangent S 32° 28′ E a distance of 156.59 meters; thence along a 61° 04′ curve to the right of a radius of 30 meters a distance of 30.86 meters; thence along a tangent S 26° 28′ W a distance of 91.33 meters to the center line of the Avenida Ponce de Leon or Military Road.

The last mentioned distance namely 91.33 meters ends in a point where the new avenue meets the existing road 379 meters west of the entrance of San Antonio Bridge, the total length of the propoesd new avenue being 2,884.08 meters.

Conditions of transfer prescribed.

The transfer of the lands above described is made subject to the following conditions:

(a) In the event that said lands shall cease to be used as a public road or boulevard or devoted to any other than highway purposes, the same shall revert to the United States without notice or action brought.

(b) All contracts and specifications with respect to this roadway shall be furnished the Commanding Officer, U. S. Troops in Porto Rico, who shall have the right to approve or reject same.

(c) The Commanding Officer, U. S. Troops in Porto Rico, shall have authority, after due notice, to close such portion of the road as he may deem unsafe for traffic during target practice or military maneuvers or exercises on the Escambron tract.

(d) The grade at the starting point at the junction of Norzagaray Street with Salvador Brau Street, shall be such as to insure an approach to Fort San Cristobal via Norzagaray Street equally as good as the present one.

(e) The moat drain of Fort San Cristobal may be cut not to exceed 2 meters back of the present break and will be faced with concrete.

(f) The road leading to Princesa Battery gate may be removed provided a new road is constructed to place same at least 75 yards in length with an even grade up to said gate; the road to be metal surfaced and of standard width.

(g) All buildings which may be disturbed shall be removed to or replaced at such locations as may be designated by the Commanding Officer, U. S. Troops in Porto Rico. A woven wire fence on concrete posts will be placed one meter from the road along the Service Company area and in front of the non-commissioned officers' quarters on the north of the road with such gates as may be necessary.

(h) If it becomes necessary to remove either the 1,000 or 800 yard firing points of the present range, they shall be replaced by extending them to the north, using rock crib or its equivalent.

(i) The construction of the road through the Naval Radio Station shall in no way interfere with the operation of such station and shall be approved by the Commanding Officer thereof.

(j) A retaining wall of proper construction will be erected wherever it becomes necessary on account of removal of earth in the vicinity of Princesa Battery and east thereof to the end of Fort Abanico.

(k) The people of Porto Rico shall convey to the United States, for use by the Navy Department, the southwest corner of the Radio Station, bounded by points 77, 78 and 79, and of the masonry building thereon, as shown on blueprint map of route of proposed road.

(l) The people of Porto Rico shall construct a new laundry building satisfactory to the Commanding Officer of the Radio Station and in a location also satisfactory to him to replace the old building which must be razed.

(m) The people of Porto Rico shall construct a retaining wall and fence along the Radio Station property, the fence to have two small gates to be placed in locations designated by the Commanding Officer of the Radio Station.

(n) The people of Porto Rico shall remove the present northwest radio mast to a position where its guys will be clear of the proposed road, the new position of said radio mast to be satisfactory to the Commanding Officer of the Radio Station.

(o) If any of the conditions heretofore set out are violated, the Commanding Officer, U. S. Troops in Porto Rico, shall have the right and authority to stop construction of the road.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the City of Washington this 11th day of June in the year of our Lord, nineteen hundred and twenty-seven, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and fifty-first.

BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

A PROCLAMATION

Tariff on cresylic acid.
Preamble.
Statutory authorization.

Whereas in and by section 315 (a) of Title III of the act of Congress approved September 21, 1922, entitled "An act to provide revenue, to regulate commerce with foreign countries, to encourage the industries of the United States, and for other purposes," it is, among other things, provided that whenever the President, upon investigation of the differences in costs of production of articles wholly or in part the growth or product of the United States and of like or similar articles wholly or in part the growth or product of competing foreign countries, shall find it thereby shown that the duties fixed in this act do not equalize the said differences in costs of production in the United States and the principal competing country he shall, by such investigation, ascertain said differences and determine and proclaim the changes in classifications or increases or decreases in rates of duty provided in said act shown by said ascertained differences in such costs of production necessary to equalize the same; Vol. 42, p. 941.

Whereas in and by section 315 (c) of said act it is further provided that in ascertaining the differences in costs of production, under the provisions of subdivisions (a) and (b) of said section, the President, in so far as he finds it practicable, shall take into consideration (1) the differences in conditions in production, including wages, costs of material, and other items in costs of production of such or similar articles in the United States and in competing foreign countries; (2) the differences in the wholesale selling prices of domestic and foreign articles in the principal markets of the United States; (3) advantages granted to a foreign producer by a foreign government, or by a person, partnership, corporation, or association in a foreign country; and (4) any other advantages or disadvantages in competition; Vol. 42, p. 942.

Whereas, under and by virtue of said section of said act, the United States Tariff Commission has made an investigation to assist the President in ascertaining the differences in costs of production of and of all other facts and conditions enumerated in said section with respect to the article provided for in paragraph 27 of Title I of said tariff act of 1922 in the clause for all distillates of coal tar, blast-furnace tar, oil-gas tar, and water-gas tar, which on being subjected to distillation yield in the portion distilling below two hundred and fifteen degrees centigrade a quantity of tar acids equal to or more than 75 per centum of the original distillate, namely, cresylic acid, being wholly or in part the growth or product of the United States, and of and with respect to a like or similar article wholly or in part the growth or product of competing foreign countries; Vol. 42, p. 861.

Whereas in the course of said investigation hearings were held, of which reasonable public notice was given and at which parties interested were given reasonable opportunity to be present, to produce evidence, and to be heard;

Whereas the President upon said investigation of said differences in costs of production of such cresylic acid wholly or in part the growth or product of the United States and of the like or similar article wholly or in part the growth or product of competing foreign countries, has thereby found—

That the principal competing country is Great Britain;

That the duties fixed in said title and act do not equalize the differences in costs of production in the United States and in said principal competing country, namely, Great Britain;

That the differences in costs of production in the United States and the principal competing country are less than the amount of the present duties at the rates of 40 per centum ad valorem based upon the American selling price (as defined in subdivision (f) of section 402, Title IV of said act), of any similar competitive article manufactured or produced in the United States, and 7 cents per pound, decreased by the maximum decrease authorized in section 315 of said act. Vol. 42, p. 950. Vol. 42, p. 941.

Decreasing duty on cresylic acid to equalize differences in costs of production.

Now, therefore, I, Calvin Coolidge, President of the United States of America, do hereby determine and proclaim that the rates of duty shown by said differences in costs of production of cresylic acid provided for in paragraph 27 of Title I of said act in the clause for all distillates of coal tar, blast-furnace tar, oil-gas tar, and water-gas tar, which on being subjected to distillation yield in the portion distilling below two hundred and fifteen degrees centigrade a quantity of tar acids equal to or more than 75 per centum of the original distillate, in the United States and in the principal competing country necessary to equalize such differences (within the limit of total decrease provided for in said act) are the rates of 20 per centum ad valorem based upon the American selling price) as defined in subdivision (f) of section 402, Title IV of said act), of any similar competitive article manufactured or produced in the United States, and 3½ cents per pound.

Rates.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington this twentieth day of July in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twenty-seven, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and fifty-second.

Virgin Islands. Preamble.

Statutory provisions. Vol. 41, p. 997.

WHEREAS, an Act of Congress, entitled the "Merchant Marine Act, 1920", approved June 5, 1920, contains the following provisions:

"Sec. 21. That from and after February 1, 1922, the coastwise laws of the United States shall extend to the island territories and possessions of the United States not now covered thereby, and the board is directed prior to the expiration of such year to have established adequate steamship service at reasonable rates to accommodate the commerce and the passenger travel of said islands and to maintain and operate such service until it can be taken over and operated and maintained upon satisfactory terms by private capital and enterprise; Provided, That if adequate shipping service is not established by February 1, 1922, the President shall extend the period herein allowed for the establishment of such service in the case of any island territory or possession for such time as may be necessary for the establishment of adequate shipping facilities therefor."

A PROCLAMATION

Sequoia National Forest, Calif. Preamble. Vol. 44, p. 818.

Whereas, the act of Congress approved July 3, 1926 (44 Stat., 818), transferred a portion of the Sequoia National Forest to the Sequoia National Park and part of said park to such forest;

And Whereas, it appears that the public good will be promoted by excluding from the said Sequoia National Forest certain areas, and releasing the lands in such areas affected thereby from certain withdrawals made in 1918 and 1921 in aid of legislation to change the boundaries of the Sequoia National Park, and by restoring the public lands subject to disposition in the excluded areas to entry in the manner prescribed by existing law;

Area diminished. Vol. 30, p. 36.

Now, Therefore, I, CALVIN COOLIDGE, President of the United States of America, by virtue of the power in me vested by the act of Congress approved June 4, 1897 (30 Stat., 11, at 34–36), do proclaim that the boundaries of the Sequoia National Forest are hereby changed to exclude the areas indicated as eliminations on the diagram hereto annexed and forming a part hereof.

Executive orders revoked.

Vol. 36, p. 847; Vol. 37, p. 497.

And I do also proclaim that Executive Orders Nos. 2906 and 3395 of July 8, 1918, and January 28, 1921, respectively, withdrawing certain lands under the act of June 25, 1910 (36 Stat., 847), as amended August 24, 1912 (37 Stat., 497), are hereby revoked in so far as they affect any lands within the areas excluded from the forest under this proclamation.

Excluded lands opened to entry for 91 days to ex-service men of World War. Vol. 41, p. 434; Vol. 42, pp. 358, 1067.

And I do further proclaim and make known that, pursuant to Public Resolution No. 29 of February 14, 1920 (41 Stat., 434), as amended January 21, and December 28, 1922 (42 Stat., 358, 1067), the public lands in the excluded areas, subject to valid rights and the provisions of existing withdrawals, shall be opened only to entry under the homestead and desert land laws by qualified ex-service men of the war with Germany, under the terms and conditions of such resolution and the regulations issued thereunder, for a period of 91 days beginning with the 63rd day from and after the date hereof, and thereafter any of said lands remaining unentered will be subject to appropriation under any public land law applicable thereto by the general public.

Unentered lands opened to settlement thereafter.

Advance settlement restricted.

Subsequent to the date hereof and prior to the date of restoration to general disposition as herein provided, no rights may be acquired to the restored lands by settlement in advance of entry, or otherwise except strictly in accordance herewith.

In Witness Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the City of Washington this 19th day of August in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twenty-seven, and of the Independence of the United States of America, the one hundred and fifty-second.

A PROCLAMATION

National Fire Prevention Week, 1927.
Preamble.

For a number of years it has been our custom as a nation to observe as National Fire Prevention Week the week in which the anniversary of the great Chicago fire of 1871 occurs. During those periods public attention has been concentrated upon the seriousness of America's fire waste problem through the press, schools, civic organizations and numerous other groups. The results last year were particularly gratifying for in eighty cities of more than 20,000 population no fire loss was sustained during the Week and in many others the destruction by fire was considerably less than their weekly average for the year.

Reports for the current year indicate that some progress is being made toward checking this tremendous source of waste. It is probable that more attention is being directed to this problem by public spirited officials and citizens than ever before. Numerous organizations, national and local, are devoting much study and effort to it with gratifying results. However, the situation still remains so acute that there should be no diminution in our effort to rid the country of the menace of fire.

Recommending week of October 9 to 15, 1927, to be observed as.

Therefore, I, Calvin Coolidge, President of the United States of America, do hereby designate the week of October 9 to 15, 1927 as National Fire Prevention Week. Each community throughout the land should lay plans for an appropriate observance of Fire Prevention Week and make it the starting point for a program to continue throughout the year. Special attention should be devoted to the prevention of fires in rural districts and in our forests. Because of their limited protective facilities they are often at the mercy of the flames when fire originates. I recommend to all of our citizens that they lay particular emphasis upon the elimination of fire hazards in their homes and places of business and I urge that state and local officials take steps to discover and remedy any defects which may exist in buildings frequented by the public.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

A PROCLAMATION.

Thanksgiving Day, 1927.
Preamble.

Under the guidance and watchful care of a Divine and beneficent Providence this country has been carried safely through another year. Almighty God has continued to bestow upon us the light of His countenance, and we have prospered. Not alone have we enjoyed material success, but we have advanced in wisdom and in spiritual understanding. The products of our fields and our factories and of our manifold activities have been maintained on a high level. We have gained in knowledge of the higher values of life. There has been advancement in our physical well-being. We have increased our desire for the things that minister to the mind and to the soul. We have raised the mental and moral standards of life.

We have had the blessings of peace and of honorable and friendly relations with our sister nations throughout the world. Disasters visiting certain of our States have touched the heart of a sympathetic nation, which has responded generously out of its abundance. In continuing to remember those in affliction we should rejoice in our ability to give them relief.

Now that these twelve months are drawing to a close, it is fitting that, as a nation, and as individuals, in accordance with time-honored and sacred custom, we should consider the manifold blessings granted to us. While in gratitude we rejoice, we should humbly pray that we may be worthy of a continuation of Divine favor.

Thursday, November 24, 1927, designated as Thanksgiving Day.

Wherefore, I, Calvin Coolidge, President of the United States, do hereby set apart and designate Thursday, the twenty-fourth day of November, next, as a day of thanksgiving and prayer, and recommend and urge that on that day our people lay aside their usual tasks, and by the family fireside and in their accustomed places of public worship give thanks to Him who holds us all in the hollow of His hand.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

DONE at the City of Washington this twenty-sixth day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and [SEAL] twenty-seven, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and fifty-second.

A PROCLAMATION

Tariff on phenol. Preamble. Statutory authorization.

Whereas in and by section 315 (a) of Title III of the act of Congress approved September 21, 1922, entitled "An act to provide revenue, to regulate commerce with foreign countries, to encourage the industries of the United States, and for other purposes," it is, among other things, provided that whenever the President, upon investigation of the differences in costs of production of articles wholly or in part the growth or product of the United States and of like or similar articles wholly or in part the growth or product of competing foreign countries, shall find it thereby shown that the duties fixed in this act do not equalize the said differences in costs of production in the United States and the principal competing country he shall, by such investigation, ascertain said differences and determine and proclaim the changes in classifications or increases or decreases in rates of duty provided in said act shown by said ascertained differences in such costs of production necessary to equalize the same;

Vol. 42, p. 941.

Vol. 42, p. 942.

Whereas in and by section 315 (c) of said act it is further provided that in ascertaining the differences in costs of production, under the provisions of subdivisions (a) and (b) of said section, the President, in so far as he finds it practicable, shall take into consideration (1) the differences in conditions in production, including wages, costs of material, and other items in costs of production of such or similar articles in the United States and in competing foreign countries; (2) the differences in the wholesale selling prices of domestic and foreign articles in the principal markets of the United States; (3) advantages granted to a foreign producer by a foreign government, or by a person, partnership, corporation, or association in a foreign country; and (4) any other advantages or disadvantages in competition;

Whereas under and by virtue of said section of said act, the United States Tariff Commission has made an investigation to assist the President in ascertaining the differences in costs of production of and of all other facts and conditions enumerated in said section with respect to the article provided for in paragraph 27 of Title I of said tariff act of 1922 by name and in the clause for all distillates of coal tar, blast-furnace tar, oil-gas tar, and water-gas tar, which on being subjected to distillation yield in the portion distilling below one hundred and ninety degrees centigrade a quantity of tar acids equal to or more than 5 per centum of the original distillate, namely, phenol, being wholly or in part the growth or product of the United States, and of and with respect to a like or similar article wholly or in part the growth or product of competing foreign countries; Vol. 42, p. 861.

Whereas in the course of said investigation a hearing was held, of which reasonable public notice was given and at which parties interested were given reasonable opportunity to be present, to produce evidence, and to be heard;

Whereas the President upon said investigation of said differences in costs of production of such phenol wholly or in part the growth or product of the United States and of the like or similar article wholly or in part the growth or product of competing foreign countries, has thereby found—

That the principal competing country is Great Britain;

That the duties fixed in said title and act do not equalize the differences in costs of production in the United States and in said principal competing country, namely, Great Britain;

That the differences in costs of production in the United States and the principal competing country are less than the amount of the present duties at the rates of 40 per centum ad valorem based upon the American selling price (as defined in subdivision (f) of section 402, Title IV of said act), of any similar competitive article manufactured or produced in the United States, and 7 cents per pound, decreased by the maximum decrease authorized in section 315 of said act. Vol. 42, p. 950.

Decreasing duty on designated tar distillates.

Now, therefore, I, Calvin Coolidge, President of the United States of America, do hereby determine and proclaim that the rates of duty shown by said differences in costs of production of phenol provided for in paragraph 27 of Title I of said act by name and in the clause for all distillates of coal tar, blast-furnace tar, oil-gas tar, and water-gas tar, which on being subjected to distillation yield in the portion distilling below one hundred and ninety degrees centigrade a quantity of tar acids equal to or more than 5 per centum of the original distillate, in the United States and in the principal competing country necessary to equalize such differences (within the limit of total decrease provided for in said act) are the rates of 20 per centum ad valorem based upon the American selling price (as defined in subdivision (f) of section 402, Title IV of said act), of any similar competitive article manufactured or produced in the United States, and 3½ cents per pound.

Rate.

Vol. 42, p. 950.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

A PROCLAMATION

Armistice Day 1927. Preamble.

WHEREAS, the 11th day of November, 1918, marked the cessation of the most destructive, sanguinary, and far-reaching war in human annals; and

Whereas, it is fitting that the recurring anniversary of this day should be commemorated with thanksgiving and prayer, and by exercises designed to further the cause of permanent peace through the maintenance of good will and friendly relations between nations; and

Vol. 44, p. 1982.

Whereas, by concurrent resolution of the Senate and the House of Representatives, in 1926, the President was requested to issue a proclamation for the observance of Armistice Day:

Directing display of flags, and inviting observance of, on November 11, 1927.

Now, therefore, I, Calvin Coolidge, President of the United States of America, in pursuance of the said concurrent resolution, do hereby order that the flag of the United States be displayed on all Government buildings on November 11, 1927, and do invite the people of the United States to observe the day in schools and churches, and other suitable places, with appropriate ceremonies, giving expression to our gratitude that peace exists and to our sincere desire that such amicable relations with all other peoples may continue.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the great seal of the United States.

A PROCLAMATION

Wenatchee National Forest, Wash. Preamble. Vol. 42, 1036.

Whereas, it appears that certain public lands within the area described in the act of Congress approved September 22, 1922 (42 Stat. 1036), which have been found chiefly valuable for national forest purposes, should be added to the Wenatchee National Forest in the State of Washington;

Area enlarged.

Now, Therefore, I, CALVIN COOLIDGE, President of the United States of America, by virtue of the power in me vested by the aforesaid act of Congress entitled, "An Act For the inclusion of certain lands in the Wenatchee National Forest, the Olympic National Forest, and the Snoqualmie National Forest, all in the State of Washington, and for other purposes," do proclaim that the following described lands, namely, NW¼ NW¼ Sec. 22, T. 22 N., R. 19 E., lots 2, 3 and 4 Sec. 14, T. 27 N., R. 19 E., and NE ¼ SE¼ Sec. 4, T. 26 N., R. 20 E., W. M., containing 160.96 acres, be and they are hereby added to the Wenatchee National Forest.

Description.

Prior rights, etc., not affected.

The withdrawal made by this proclamation shall, as to any land which is at this date embraced in a valid existing entry under the public land laws, be subject to and shall not interfere with or defeat legal rights under such entry so long as it is legally maintained.

In Witness Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

A PROCLAMATION

Tariff on magnesite. Preamble. Vol. 42, p. 941. Statutory authorization.

Whereas in and by section 315 (a) of Title III of the act of Congress approved September 21, 1922, entitled "An act to provide revenue, to regulate commerce with foreign countries, to encourage the industries of the United States, and for other purposes," it is, among other things, provided that whenever the President, upon investigation of the differences in costs of production of articles wholly or in part the growth or product of the United States and of like or similar articles wholly or in part the growth or product of competing foreign countries, shall find it thereby shown that the duties fixed in this act do not equalize the said differences in costs of production in the United States and the principal competing country he shall, by such investigation, ascertain said differences and determine and proclaim the changes in classifications or increases or decreases in rates of duty provided in said act shown by said ascertained differences in such costs of production necessary to equalize the same;

Vol. 42, p. 942.

Whereas in and by section 315 (c) of said act it is further provided that in ascertaining the differences in costs of production, under the provisions of subdivisions (a) and (b) of said section, the President, in so far as he finds it practicable, shall take into consideration (1) the differences in conditions in production, including wages, costs of material, and other items in costs of production of such or similar articles in the United States and in competing foreign countries; (2) the differences in the wholesale selling prices of domestic and foreign articles in the principal markets of the United States; (3) advantages granted to a foreign producer by a foreign government, or by a person, partnership, corporation, or association in a foreign country; and (4) any other advantages or disadvantages in competition;

Whereas, under and by virtue of said section of said act, the United States Tariff Commission has made an investigation to assist the President in ascertaining the differences in costs of production of and of all other facts and conditions enumerated in said section with respect to the articles described in paragraph 204 of Title I of said tariff act of 1922, namely, crude magnesite and caustic calcined magnesite, being wholly or in part the growth or product of the United States, and of and with respect to like or similar articles wholly or in part the growth or product of competing foreign countries;

Vol. 42, p. 869.

Whereas in the course of said investigation hearings were held, of which reasonable public notice was given and at which parties interested were given reasonable opportunity to be present, to produce evidence, and to be heard;

And whereas the President upon said investigation of said differences in costs of production of said articles wholly or in part the growth or product of the United States and of like or similar articles wholly or in part the growth or product of competing foreign countries has thereby found—

That the principal competing country for crude magnesite is Greece;

That the principal competing country for caustic calcined magnesite is British India;

And that the duties fixed in said title and act do not equalize the differences in costs of production in the United States and in said principal competing countries, namely, Greece and British India, and has ascertained and determined the increased rates of duty necessary to equalize the same.

Increasing duty on magnesite to equalize differences in costs of production.

Now, therefore, I, Calvin Coolidge, President of the United States of America, do hereby determine and proclaim that the increases in the rates of duty provided in said act shown by said ascertained differences in said costs of production necessary to equalize the same are as follows:

Rates.
Crude magnesite.

An increase in said duty on crude magnesite (within the limit of total increase provided for in said act) from five-sixteenths of 1 cent per pound to fifteen thirty-seconds of 1 cent per pound;

Caustic calcined magnesite.

And an increase in said duty on caustic calcined magnesite (within the limit of total increase provided for in said act) from five-eighths of 1 cent per pound to fifteen-sixteenths of 1 cent per pound.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Tariff on cherries, sulphured, or in brine.
Preamble.
Statutory authorization.
Vol. 42, p. 941.

Whereas in and by section 315 (a) of Title III of the act of Congress approved September 21, 1922, entitled "An act to provide revenue, to regulate commerce with foreign countries, to encourage the industries of the United States, and for other purposes," it is, among other things, provided that whenever the President, upon investigation of the differences in costs of production of articles wholly or in part the growth or product of the United States and of like or similar articles wholly or in part the growth or product of competing foreign countries, shall find it thereby shown that the duties fixed in this act do not equalize the said differences in costs of production in the United States and the principal competing country he shall, by such investigation, ascertain said differences and determine and proclaim the changes in classifications or increases or decreases in rates of duty provided in said act shown by said ascertained differences in such costs of production necessary to equalize the same;

Vol. 42, p. 942.

Whereas in and by section 315 (c) of said act it is further provided that in ascertaining the differences in costs of production, under the provisions of subdivisions (a) and (b) of said section, the President, in so far as he finds it practicable, shall take into consideration (1) the differences in conditions in production, including wages, costs of material, and other items in costs of production of such or similar articles in the United States and in competing foreign countries; (2) the differences in the wholesale selling prices of domestic and foreign articles in the principal markets of the United States; (3) advantages granted to a foreign producer by a foreign government, or by a person, partnership, corporation, or association in a foreign country; and (4) any other advantages or disadvantages in competition;

Whereas, under and by virtue of said section of said act, the United States Tariff Commission has made an investigation to assist the President in ascertaining the differences in costs of production of and of all other facts and conditions enumerated in said section with respect to the articles described in paragraph 737 of Title I of said tariff act of 1922, namely, cherries, sulphured, or in brine, being wholly or in part the growth or product of the United States, and of and with respect to like or similar articles wholly or in part the growth or product of competing foreign countries;

Vol. 42, p. 893.

Whereas in the course of said investigation a hearing was held, of which reasonable public notice was given and at which parties interested were given reasonable opportunity to be present, to produce evidence, and to be heard;

And whereas the President upon said investigation of said differences in costs of production of said articles wholly or in part the growth or product of the United States and of like or similar articles wholly or in part the growth or product of competing foreign countries, has thereby found that the principal competing country is Italy and that the duty fixed in said title and act does not equalize the differences in costs of production in the United States and in said principal competing country, namely, Italy, and has ascertained and determined the increased rate of duty necessary to equalize the same.

Increasing duty on cherries, sulphured, or in brine, to equalize differences in costs of production.

Now, therefore, I, Calvin Coolidge, President of the United States of America, do hereby determine and proclaim that the increase in the rate of duty provided in said act shown by said ascertained differences in said costs of production necessary to equalize the same is as follows:

Rate.

An increase in said duty on cherries, sulphured, or in brine, stemmed or pitted (within the limit of total increase provided for in said act), from 2 cents per pound to 3 cents per pound.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

A PROCLAMATION

Tariff on cotton rag rugs.
Preamble.
Statutory authorization.
Vol. 42, p. 941.

Whereas in and by section 315 (a) of Title III of the act of Congress approved September 21, 1922, entitled "An act to provide revenue, to regulate commerce with foreign countries, to encourage the industries of the United States, and for other purposes," it is, among other things, provided that whenever the President, upon investigation of the differences in costs of production of articles wholly or in part the growth or product of the United States and of like or similar articles wholly or in part the growth or product of competing foreign countries, shall find it thereby shown that the duties fixed in this act do not equalize the said differences in costs of production in the United States and the principal competing country he shall, by such investigation, ascertain said differences and determine and proclaim the changes in classifications or increases or decreases in rates of duty provided in said act shown by said ascertained differences in such costs of production necessary to equalize the same;

Vol. 42, p. 942.

Whereas in and by section 315 (b) of said act it is further provided that whenever the President upon such investigation shall find it thereby shown that the duties prescribed in said act do not equalize said differences, and shall further find it thereby shown that the said differences in costs of production in the United States and the principal competing country cannot be equalized by proceeding under the provisions of subdivision (a) of said section, he shall make such findings public, together with a description of the articles to which they apply, in such detail as may be necessary for the guidance of appraising officers, and that in such cases and upon the proclamation by the President becoming effective the ad valorem duty or duty based in whole or in part upon the value of the imported article in the country of exportation shall thereafter be based upon the American selling price, as defined in subdivision (f) of section 402 of said act, of any similar competitive article manufactured or produced in the United States embraced within the class or kind of imported articles upon which the President has made a proclamation under subdivision (b) of said section;

Vol. 42, p. 950.

Vol. 42, p. 942.

Whereas in and by section 315 (c) of said act it is further provided that in ascertaining the differences in costs of production, under the provisions of subdivisions (a) and (b) of said section, the President, in so far as he finds it practicable, shall take into consideration (1) the differences in conditions in production, including wages, costs of material, and other items in costs of production of such or similar articles in the United States and in competing foreign countries; (2) the differences in the wholesale selling prices of domestic and foreign articles in the principal markets of the United States; (3) advantages granted to a foreign producer by a foreign government, or by a person, partnership, corporation, or association in a foreign country; and (4) any other advantages or disadvantages in competition;

Whereas, under and by virtue of said section of said act, the United States Tariff Commission has made an investigation to assist the President in ascertaining the differences in costs of production of and of all other facts and conditions enumerated in said section with respect to the articles described in paragraph 1022 of Title I of said tariff act of 1922, namely, rag rugs, composed wholly or in chief value of cotton, of the type commonly known as "hit-and-miss", being wholly or in part the growth or product of the United States, and of and with respect to like or similar articles wholly or in part the growth or product of competing foreign countries;

Vol. 42, p. 904.

Whereas in the course of said investigation a hearing was held, of which reasonable public notice was given and at which parties interested were given reasonable opportunity to be present, to produce evidence, and to be heard;

Whereas the President upon said investigation of said differences in costs of production of rag rugs, composed wholly or in chief value of cotton, of the type commonly known as "hit-and-miss", wholly or in part the growth or product of the United States and of like or similar articles wholly or in part the growth or product of competing foreign countries, has thereby found—

That the principal competing country is Japan;

That the duty fixed in said title and act does not equalize the differences in costs of production in the United States and in said principal competing country, namely, Japan;

That the differences in costs of production in the United States and the principal competing country are greater than the amount of the present duty at the rate of 35 per centum ad valorem increased by the total maximum increase authorized under said section, subdivision (a);

And that said differences in costs of production in the United States and the principal competing country cannot be equalized by proceeding under the provisions of subdivision (a) of said section and act, that is to say, by increasing the duty to the extent of 50 per centum of the existing duty applied to the value of the imported article in the country of exportation.

Increasing duty of cotton rag rugs, known as "hit-and-miss."

Now, therefore, I, Calvin Coolidge, President of the United States of America, do hereby determine and proclaim that the rate of duty shown by said differences in costs of production of rag rugs, composed wholly or in chief value of cotton, of the type commonly known as "hit-and-miss", in the United States and in the principal competing country necessary to equalize such differences, within the limit provided in said section, is the rate of 35 per centum ad valorem based and assessed upon the American selling price as defined in subdivision (f) of section 402 of said act, of similar rag rugs, composed wholly or in chief value of cotton, of the type commonly known as "hit-and-miss", manufactured or produced in the United States.

Rate.

Vol. 44, p. 952.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

A PROCLAMATION

American Forest Week, 1928. Preamble.

For several years a special week has been set apart for public discussion of our forests and of what must be done to safeguard and restore them. Among the agencies making for progress in this direction, American Forest Week has proved its usefulness and I am glad to proclaim it again and to announce that Canada is again concurrently observing a similar week.

The rehabilitation of our forests demands first of all that the forest fire evil be suppressed. Many of the forested States, with the cooperation of timberland owners, have undertaken organized protection against forest fires; and in recent years, under the Clarke-McNary law, the Federal Government has given its support to the movement. This great cooperative enterprise must be extended and strengthened until every forested county in the United States is safeguarded against forest fires.

But we are still far from the goal of complete protection. Every year, on the average, 80,000 fires scourge our woodlands, steadily undermining their vitality. For this bad situation, the blame falls equally on us all. Public agencies rarely provide adequate protection against fire, the timberland owner is too often indifferent to his property, the forest worker is too often neglectful of the future forest, the average citizen is too often careless with fire in the woods. We must all gain such respect for the forest that its destruction through indifference or carelessness shall be unthinkable.

We cannot permanently abuse our forests with impunity. The soil is the ultimate source of all our wealth and of life itself. One-fourth of our American soil is best suited for forests. Much of this land is already idle. More of it is being made idle by destructive logging and fire. Yet we cannot safely permit our forest land to lie fallow and useless any more than we can permit our farms and factories to lie idle.

To make our vast empire of forest land fully productive of continuous crops of timber will have momentous consequences in our national life. It will give agriculture the advantage of a new and valuable crop. It will afford permanent employment to millions of men in the forest industries. It will provide raw materials for many industries. It will furnish traffic for our railroads. It will maintain foreign and domestic commerce. It will restore our forests as conservers of soil and water, and as givers of health and pleasure to our people.

We already have made a beginning in forest renewal; but the task is stupendous, and we should permit no satisfaction over what has been done to blind us to the magnitude of what remains to be done.

Designating week of April 22-28, 1928, for observing, and Arbor Day.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, CALVIN COOLIDGE, President of the United States of America, do hereby designate and set aside as American Forest Week the week beginning April 22 and ending April 28, in this year of 1928. I recommend to the Governors of the various States that they also designate this week for special observance by all our people; and that where practicable and not in conflict with law or custom, Arbor Day be observed during the course of the same week. I urge that during that week all citizens and appropriate organizations—including public officials, legislators, business organizations, educators, editors, clergymen, landowners, and others—give thought to the preservation and wise use of our forests, to the end that energetic forest policies will be adopted in all communities.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

A PROCLAMATION.

Protection of migratory birds. Preamble. Vol. 40, p. 755.

WHEREAS, The Secretary of Agriculture, by virtue of the authority vested in him by section three of the Migratory Bird Treaty Act (40 Stat., 755), has submitted to me for approval, regulations further, amendatory of the regulations approved and proclaimed July 31, 1918, which the Secretary of Agriculture has determined to be suitable amendatory regulations permitting and governing the hunting, taking capture, killing, possession, sale, purchase, shipment, transportation, carriage, and export of said birds and parts thereof and their nests and eggs, as follows:

Vol. 39, p. 1702.

Ante, p. 2901.

Regulation 3, Means by which Migratory Game Birds may be Taken, is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

Means for taking birds.

REGULATION 3.—MEANS BY WHICH MIGRATORY GAME BIRDS MAY BE TAKEN.

Restrictions modified.

The migratory game birds specified in regulation 4 hereof may be taken during the open season with a gun only, not larger than No. 10 gauge, fired from the shoulder, except as specifically permitted by regulations 7, 8, 9, and 10 hereof; they may be taken during the open season from the land and water, with the aid of a dog, the use of decoys, and from a blind or floating device; but nothing herein shall be deemed to permit the use of an airplane, powerboat, sailboat, any boat under sail, any floating device towed by powerboat or sailboat, or any sinkbox (battery), except that sinkboxes (batteries) may be used in the taking of migratory waterfowl in coastal sounds and bays (including Back Bay, Princess Anne County, State of Virginia) and other coastal waters; and nothing herein shall be deemed to permit the use of an airplane, or a powerboat, sailboat, or other floating device for the purpose of concentrating, driving, rallying, or stirring up migratory waterfowl.

Regulation 4, Open Seasons on and Possession of Certain Migratory Game Birds, is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

REGULATION 4.—OPEN SEASONS ON AND POSSESSION OF CERTAIN MIGRATORY GAME BIRDS.

Open seasons.

For the purpose of this regulation, each period of time herein prescribed as an open season shall be construed to include the first and last days thereof.

Time prescribed. Ante, pp. 2901, 2905.

Waterfowl (except wood duck, eider ducks, and swans), rails, coot, gallinules, woodcock, Wilson snipe or jacksnipe, and mourning doves may be taken each day from half an hour before sunrise to sunset during the open seasons prescribed therefor in this regulation by the means and in the numbers permitted by regulations 3 and 5 hereof, respectively, and when so taken may be possessed any day in any State, Territory, or District during the period constituting the open season where killed and for an additional period of 10 days next succeeding said open season, but no such bird shall be possessed in a State, Territory, or District at a time when such State, Territory, or District prohibits the possession thereof.

Water fowl, etc.

A PROCLAMATION

Tariff on barium carbonate, precipitated.
Preamble.
Statutory authorization.
Vol. 42, p. 941.

Whereas in and by section 315 (a) of Title III of the act of Congress approved September 21, 1922, entitled "An act to provide revenue, to regulate commerce with foreign countries, to encourage the industries of the United States, and for other purposes," it is, among other things, provided that whenever the President, upon investigation of the differences in costs of production of articles wholly or in part the growth or product of the United States and of like or similar articles wholly or in part the growth or product of competing foreign countries, shall find it thereby shown that the duties fixed in this act do not equalize the said differences in costs of production in the United States and the principal competing country he shall, by such investigation, ascertain said differences and determine and proclaim the changes in classifications or increases or decreases in rates of duty provided in said act shown by said ascertained differences in such costs of production necessary to equalize the same;

Vol. 42, p. 942.

Whereas in and by section 315 (c) of said act it is further provided that in ascertaining the differences in costs of production, under the provisions of subdivisions (a) and (b) of said section, the President, in so far as he finds it practicable, shall take into consideration (1) the differences in conditions in production, including wages, costs of material, and other items in costs of production of such or similar articles in the United States and in competing foreign countries; (2) the differences in the wholesale selling prices of domestic and foreign articles in the principal markets of the United States; (3) advantages granted to a foreign producer by a foreign government, or by a person, partnership, corporation, or association in a foreign country; and (4) any other advantages or disadvantages in competition;

Whereas, under and by virtue of said section of said act, the United States Tariff Commission has made an investigation to assist the President in ascertaining the differences in costs of production of and of all other facts and conditions enumerated in said section with respect to the article described in paragraph 12 of Title I of said tariff act of 1922, namely, Barium carbonate, precipitated, being wholly or in part the growth or product of the United States, and of and with respect to a like or similar article wholly or in part the growth or product of competing foreign countries;

Vol. 42, p. 860.

Whereas in the course of said investigation a hearing was held, of which reasonable public notice was given and at which parties interested were given reasonable opportunity to be present, to produce evidence, and to be heard;

And whereas the President upon said investigation of said differences in costs of production of the said article wholly or in part the growth or product of the United States and of the like or similar article wholly or in part the growth or product of competing foreign countries, has thereby found that the principal competing country is Germany and that the duty fixed in said title and act does not equalize the differences in costs of production in the United States and in said principal competing country, namely, Germany, and has ascertained and determined the increased rate of duty necessary to equalize the same.

Increasing duty on barium carbonate, precipitated, to equalize differences in cost of production.

Now therefore, I, Calvin Coolidge, President of the United States of America, do hereby determine and proclaim that the increase in the rate of duty provided in said act shown by said ascertained differences in said costs of production necessary to equalize the same is as follows:

Rate.

An increase in said duty on Barium carbonate, precipitated (within the limit of total increase provided for in said act), from 1 cent per pound to 1½ cents per pound.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

A PROCLAMATION

Labor dispute, Kansas City, Mexico and Orient Railroad and employees. Preamble.

WHEREAS, The President, having been duly notified by the Board of Mediation that a dispute between the Kansas City, Mexico and Orient Railroad Company, a carrier, and certain of its train service employees which has not been heretofore adjusted under the provisions of the Railway Labor Act, now threatens substantially to interrupt interstate commerce in the States of Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas along the line of said Kansas City, Mexico and Orient Railroad and its connecting carriers, Emergency board created to investigate and report thereon. Vol. 44, p. 586.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Calvin Coolidge, President of the United States, by virtue of the power vested in me by the constitution and laws of the United States, and by virtue of and under the authority in me vested by Section 10 of the Railway Labor Act, do hereby create a board to be composed of five persons not pecuniarily or otherwise interested in any organization of railway employees or any carrier, to investigate such dispute and report their findings to me within thirty (30) days from this date.

Compensation, etc.

The members of this board shall be compensated for and on account of such duties in the sum of one hundred dollars for each member for every day actually employed with or upon and on account of travel and duties incident to such board. The members will be reimbursed for and they are hereby authorized to make expenditures for necessary expenses of themselves and of the board including traveling expenses and expenses actually incurred for subsistence, in conformity with said Act.

Payment of expenditures.
Vol. 44, p. 1072.
Ante, p. 575.

All expenditures of the board shall be allowed and paid out of the appropriation "Emergency Boards," Act approved February 11, 1927, Vol. 44 Stat. L. 1072 on the presentation of itemized vouchers properly approved by the Chairman of the board hereby created.

Done this twenty-eighth day of April, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twenty-eight, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred fifty-second.

A PROCLAMATION

Child Health Day.
Preamble.

WHEREAS the protection and development of the health of the children of today are fundamental necessities to the future progress and welfare of the Nation;

AND WHEREAS, the conservation and promotion of child health places upon us a grave responsibility;

Ante, p. 617.

AND WHEREAS, it is appropriate that a day should be set apart each year for the direction of our thoughts towards the health and well being of our children;

Setting apart May 1, as, and recommending observance thereof.

NOW, therefore, I, Calvin Coolidge, President of the United States of America, do hereby set apart May 1, of this year, as Child Health Day and do invite the people of the United States and all agencies and organizations interested in Child Welfare to unite upon that day in the observance of such exercises as will acquaint the people of the Nation with the fundamental necessity of a year-round program for the protection and development of the health of the Nation's children.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington, this 28th day of April, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twenty-eight, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and fifty-second.

PROCLAMATION

Copyrights. Preamble.

WHEREAS it is provided by the Act of Congress approved March 4, 1909, entitled "An Act to Amend and Consolidate the Acts Respecting Copyright", that the copyright secured by the Act, except the benefits under Section 1 (e) thereof as to which special conditions are imposed, shall extend to the work of an author or proprietor who is a citizen or subject of a foreign state or nation, only upon certain conditions set forth in Section 8 of the said Act, to wit:

Vol. 35, p. 1075.

Vol. 35, p. 1077.

(a) When an alien author or proprietor shall be domiciled within the United States at the time of the first publication of his work; or

(b) When the foreign state or nation of which such author or proprietor is a citizen or subject grants, either by treaty, convention, agreement, or law, to citizens of the United States the benefit of copyright on substantially the same basis as to its own citizens, or copyright protection substantially equal to the protection secured to such foreign author under this Act or by treaty; or when such foreign state or nation is a party to an international agreement which provides for reciprocity in the granting of copyright, by the terms of which agreement the United States may, at its pleasure, become a party thereto:

AND WHEREAS it is provided by Section 1 (e) of the said Act of Congress, approved March 4, 1909, that the provisions of the Act "so far as they secure copyright controlling the parts of instruments serving to reproduce mechanically the musical work, shall include only compositions published and copyrighted after this Act goes into effect, and shall not include the works of a foreign author or composer unless the foreign state or nation of which such author or composer is a citizen or subject grants, either by treaty, convention, agreement or law, to citizens of the United States similar rights";

AND WHEREAS the President is authorized by the said Section 8 to determine by proclamation made from time to time the existence of the reciprocal conditions aforesaid, as the purposes of the Act may require;

Action by Rumania.

AND WHEREAS satisfactory official assurances have been received that citizens of the United States may obtain copyright for their works in Rumania which is substantially equal to the protection afforded by the copyright laws of the United States, including rights similar to those provided by Section 1 (e) of the Copyright Act of the United States, approved March 4, 1909.

Benefits extended to citizens of Rumania, including mechanical reproductions.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Calvin Coolidge, President of the United States of America do declare and proclaim

That the conditions specified in Sections 8 (b) and 1 (e) of the Act of March 4, 1909, exist and are fulfilled in respect to the citizens of Rumania and that citizens of Rumania are entitled to all the benefits of the Act of March 4, 1909, including Section 1 (e) thereof and the Acts amendatory of the said Act.

Conditions.

PROVIDED, that the enjoyment by any work of the rights and benefits conferred by the Act of March 4, 1909, and the Acts amendatory thereof, shall be conditional upon compliance with the requirements and formalities prescribed with respect to such works by the copyright laws of the United States.

AND PROVIDED FURTHER, that the provisions of Section 1 (e) of the Act of March 4, 1909, in so far as they secure copyright controlling the parts of instruments serving to reproduce mechanically musical works shall apply only to compositions published after July 1, 1909, and registered for copyright in the United States which have not been reproduced within the United States prior to May 14, 1928, on any contrivance by means of which the work may be mechanically performed.

WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the City of Washington this Fourteenth day of May in the year of Our Lord one thousand nine hundred and [SEAL] twenty-eight and of the independence of the United States of America the one hundred and fifty-second.

A PROCLAMATION

Ozark National Forest, Ark.
Preamble.
Vol. 36, p. 961; Vol. 43, p. 655.

Whereas, certain lands within areas adjoining the Ozark National Forest, in Arkansas, may be acquired by the United States under authority of the act of Congress approved March 1, 1911 (36 Stat. 961), as amended June 7, 1924 (43 Stat. 653);

And Whereas, it appears that the public good will be promoted by including said lands and other lands in such areas within the Ozark National Forest, and by designating and setting aside, under the provisions of the act of February 28, 1925 (43 Stat. 1091), certain lands within said national forest for the protection of game animals, birds, or fish;

Vol. 43, p. 1091.

Area enlarged.
Vol. 36, p. 963.
Vol. 30, p. 36.

Now, Therefore, I, CALVIN COOLIDGE, President of the United States of America, by virtue of the power in me vested by section eleven of the aforesaid act of March 1, 1911, and by the act of Congress approved June 4, 1897 (30 Stat. 11 at 34 and 36), and by the said act of February 28, 1925, do proclaim that the boundaries of the Ozark National Forest are hereby changed to include the areas indicated as additions upon the diagram hereto annexed and forming a part hereof, and that there are hereby designated and set aside, for the protection of game animals, birds, and fish, all lands of the United States within the Ozark National Forest, as also indicated on said diagram, to be known as National Game Refuge number five.

National Game Refuge No. 5 within, set aside.

Prior legal rights not affected.

The withdrawal made by this proclamation shall, as to all lands which are at this date legally appropriated under the public land laws or reserved for any public purpose, be subject to, and shall not interfere with or defeat legal rights under such appropriation, nor prevent the use for such public purpose of lands so reserved, so long as such appropriation is legally maintained, or such reservation remains in force.

Warning against unauthorized hunting, etc.

Warning is hereby given to all persons not to hunt, catch, trap, wilfully disturb or kill any kind of game animal, game or nongame bird, or fish, or to take the eggs of any such bird, on the lands hereby designated as a game refuge or in or on the waters thereof, except under such general rules and regulations as may be prescribed from time to time by the Secretary of Agriculture.

In Witness Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

A PROCLAMATION

Huron National Forest, Mich. Preamble.

Whereas, it appears that a portion of the Michigan National Forest, in the State of Michigan, should constitute the Huron National Forest;

Vol. 36, p. 961.

And Whereas, certain lands within areas adjoining said National Forest have been and may be acquired by the United States under authority of the act of Congress approved March 1, 1911 (36 Stat. 961), as amended June 7, 1924 (43 Stat. 653);

Vol. 43, p. 655.

And Whereas, it appears that the public good will be promoted by including said lands and other lands in such areas, within the Huron National Forest, and by excluding certain areas therefrom;

National Forest, Michigan.

Now, Therefore, I, CALVIN COOLIDGE, President of the United States of America, by virtue of the power in me vested by section eleven of the aforesaid act of March 1, 1911, and by the act of Congress approved June 4, 1897 (30 Stat. 11, at 34 and 36), do proclaim that the boundaries of the Huron National Forest shall be as shown on the diagram hereto annexed and forming a part hereof.

Vol. 36, p. 961; Vol. 30, p. 36.

Prior legal rights not affected.

The withdrawal made by this proclamation shall, as to all lands which are at this date legally appropriated under the public land laws or reserved for any public purpose, be subject to, and shall not interfere with or defeat legal rights under such appropriation, nor prevent the use for such public purpose of lands so reserved, so long as such appropriation is legally maintained, or such reservation remains in force.

In Witness Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Whereas in and by section 315 (a) of Title III of the act of Congress approved September 21, 1922, entitled "An act to provide revenue, to regulate commerce with foreign countries, to encourage the industries of the United States, and for other purposes," it is, among other things, provided that whenever the President, upon investigation of the differences in costs of production of articles wholly or in part the growth or product of the United States and of like or similar articles wholly or in part the growth or product of competing foreign countries, shall find it thereby shown that the duties fixed in this act do not equalize the said differences in costs of production in the United States and the principal competing country he shall, by such investigation, ascertain said differences and determine and proclaim the changes in classifications or increases or decreases in rates of duty provided in said act shown by said ascertained differences in such costs of production necessary to equalize the same;

Vol. 42, p. 942.

Whereas in and by section 315 (b) of said act it is further provided that whenever the President upon such investigation shall find it thereby shown that the duties prescribed in said act do not equalize said differences, and shall further find it thereby shown that the said differences in costs of production in the United States and the principal competing country can not be equalized by proceeding under the provisions of subdivision (a) of said section, he shall make such findings public, together with a description of the articles to which they apply, in such detail as may be necessary for the guidance of appraising officers, and that in such cases and upon the proclamation by the President becoming effective the ad valorem duty or duty based in whole or in part upon the value of the imported article in the country of exportation shall thereafter be based upon the American selling price, as defined in subdivision (f) of section 402 of said act, of any similar competitive article manufactured or produced in the United States embraced within the class or kind of imported articles upon which the President has made a proclamation under subdivision (b) of said section;

Vol. 42, p. 950.

Vol. 42, p. 942.

Whereas in and by section 315 (c) of said act it is further provided that in ascertaining the differences in costs of production, under the provisions of subdivisions (a) and (b) of said section, the President, in so far as he finds it practicable, shall take into consideration (1) the differences in conditions in production, including wages, costs of material, and other items in costs of production of such or similar articles in the United States and in competing foreign countries; (2) the differences in the wholesale selling prices of domestic and foreign articles in the principal markets of the United States; (3) advantages granted to a foreign producer by a foreign government, or by a person, partnership, corporation, or association in a foreign country; and (4) any other advantages or disadvantages in competition;

Whereas, under and by virtue of said section of said act, the United States Tariff Commission has made an investigation to assist the President in ascertaining the differences in costs of production of and of all other facts and conditions enumerated in said section with respect to the article described in paragraph 5 of Title I of said tariff act of 1922, namely, sodium silicofluoride, being wholly or in part the growth or product of the United States, and of and with respect to the like or similar article wholly or in part the growth or product of competing foreign countries;

Vol. 42, p. 859.

Whereas in the course of said investigation a hearing was held, of which reasonable public notice was given and at which parties interested were given reasonable opportunity to be present, to produce evidence, and to be heard;

Whereas the President upon said investigation of said differences in costs of production of sodium silicofluoride, wholly or in part the growth or product of the United States and of the like or similar article wholly or in part the growth or product of competing foreign countries, has thereby found—

That the principal competing country is Denmark;

That the duty fixed in said title and act does not equalize the differences in costs of production in the United States and in said principal competing country, namely Denmark;

That the differences in costs of production in the United States and the principal competing country are greater than the amount of the present duty at the rate of 25 per centum ad valorem increased by the total maximum increase authorized under said section, subdivision (a);

And that said differences in costs of production in the United States and the principal competing country can not be equalized by proceeding under the provisions of subdivision (a) of said section and act, that is to say, by increasing the duty to the extent of 50 per centum of the existing duty applied to the value of the imported article in the country of exportation.

Increasing duty on sodium silicofluoride, to equalize differences in cost of production.

Now, therefore, I, Calvin Coolidge, President of the United States of America, do hereby determine and proclaim that the rate of duty shown by said differences in costs of production of sodium silicofluoride, in the United States and in the principal competing country necessary to equalize such differences, within the limit provided in said section, is the rate of 25 per centum ad valorem based and assessed upon the American selling price as defined in subdivision (f) of section 402 of said act, of similar sodium silicofluoride manufactured or produced in the United States.

Rate.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

A PROCLAMATION.

Fire prevention week, 1928. Preamble.

The economic and social progress of the nation is dependent to a large degree upon the proper direction and control of all elementary forces within it. Fire, a friendly aid and comfort when used properly, becomes a deadly foe when permitted to rage unchecked. The dangers of fire, and to some extent the means of controlling it, have been understood generally from a very early period. However, year by year fire has resulted in the destruction of thousands of lives and much material wealth. In 1927 property loss alone in the United States due to fire is estimated to have totaled more than $475,000,000, while loss of life from the same cause was likewise heavy.

A certain measure of encouragement is to be derived from the fact that fire losses in the United States were decreased in 1927 as compared with 1926. Cooperative efforts on the part of our citizenry in recent years have shown that many types of fires are preventable. Widespread interest and activity in fire prevention have had a marked influence in bringing about a realization of public responsibility in dealing with the fire waste problem. Cities, towns and farming communities, engaging in a constructive campaign to inculcate sound principles of fire prevention in the minds of thinking inhabitants, are accomplishing highly desirable and satisfactory results. There is urgent need, however, to translate this effort into further remedial action. Increased vigilance on the part of all citizens is necessary, for their cumulative efforts will determine the future reduction or increase in our national fire waste.

Recommending week beginning October 7, 1928, to be observed as.

Therefore, I, Calvin Coolidge, President of the United States, do recommend that the week beginning Sunday, October 7, 1928, be observed throughout the nation as Fire Prevention Week. United and coordinated endeavor in reaching the consciousness of every citizen is desired and can be obtained by the concerted action of our press, our schools, our churches and the civic and welfare organizaitons of every community, rural and municipal. During the last few years the observance of Fire Prevention Week has furnished a stimulus and guide for activity throughout the year. With this precedent it is to be hoped that every community will strive continuously for the elimination of fire hazards and put into practice the fundamentals which will be stressed during Fire Prevention Week. The adoption of simple precautionary measures at all times will be rewarded by a higher degree of security to individual life and property.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Tariff on fluorspar.
Preamble.
Vol. 42, p. 941.
Statutory authorization.

Whereas, in and by section 315 (a) of Title III of the act of Congress approved September 21, 1922, entitled "An act to provide revenue, to regulate commerce with foreign countries, to encourage the industries of the United States, and for other purposes," it is, among other things, provided that whenever the President, upon investigation of the differences in costs of production of articles wholly or in part the growth or product of the United States and of like or similar articles wholly or in part the growth or product of competing foreign countries, shall find it thereby shown that the duties fixed in this act do not equalize the said differences in costs of production in the United States and the principal competing country he shall, by such investigation, ascertain said differences and determine and proclaim the changes in classifications or increases or decreases in rates of duty provided in said act shown by said ascertained differences in such costs of production necessary to equalize the same;

Whereas in and by section 315 (c) of said act it is further provided that in ascertaining the differences in costs of production, under the provisions of subdivisions (a) and (b) of said section, the President, in so far as he finds it practicable, shall take into consideration (1) the differences in conditions in production, including wages, costs of material, and other items in costs of production of such or similar articles in the United States and in competing foreign countries; (2) the differences in the wholesale selling prices of domestic and foreign articles in the principal markets of the United States; (3) advantages granted to a foreign producer by a foreign government, or by a person, partnership, corporation, or association in a foreign country; and (4) any other advantages or disadvantages in competition; Vol. 42, p. 942.

Whereas, under and by virtue of said section of said act, the United States Tariff Commission has made an investigation to assist the President in ascertaining the differences in costs of production of and of all other facts and conditions enumerated in said section with respect to the article described in paragraph 207 of Title I of said tariff act of 1922, namely, fluorspar, being wholly or in part the growth or product of the United States, and of and with respect to a like or similar article wholly or in part the growth or product of competing foreign countries; Vol. 42, p. 869.

Whereas in the course of said investigation a hearing was held, of which reasonable public notice was given and at which parties interested were given reasonable opportunity to be present, to produce evidence, and to be heard;

And whereas the President upon said investigation of said differences in costs of production of the said article wholly or in part the growth or product of the United States and of the like or similar article wholly or in part the growth or product of competing foreign countries, has thereby found—

That the change of duty indicated by the cost data should be limited to fluorspar containing not more than 93 per centum of calcium fluoride;

That the principal competing country for such fluorspar is England;

And that the duty fixed in said title and act does not equalize the differences in costs of production of said fluorspar in the United States and in said principal competing country, namely, England;

And has ascertained and determined the increased rate of duty necessary to equalize the same.

Increasing duty on fluorspar to equalize differences in costs of production.

Now, therefore, I, Calvin Coolidge, President of the United States of America, do hereby determine and proclaim that the increase in the rate of duty provided in said act shown by said ascertained differences in said costs of production necessary to equalize the same is as follows:

Rate.

Containing not more than 93 per cent of calcium fluoride.

An increase in said duty on fluorspar, containing not more than 93 per centum of calcium fluoride (within the limit of total increase provided for in said act), from $5.60 per ton to $8.40 per ton.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

A PROCLAMATION.

Thanksgiving Day, 1928. Preamble.

The season again approaches when it has been the custom for generations to set apart a day of thanksgiving for the blessings which the Giver of all good and perfect gifts has bestowed upon us during the year. It is most becoming that we should do this, for the goodness and mercy of God which have followed us through the year deserve our grateful recognition and acknowledgment. Through His Divine favor peace and tranquillity have reigned throughout the land; He has protected our country as a whole against pestilence and disaster and has directed us in the ways of National prosperity. Our fields have been abundantly productive; our industries have flourished; our commerce has increased; wages have been lucrative, and comfort and contentment have followed the undisturbed pursuit of honest toil. As we have prospered in material things, so have we also grown and expanded in things spiritual. Through divine inspiration we have enlarged our charities and our missions; we have been imbued with high ideals which have operated for the benefit of the world and the promotion of the brotherhood of man through peace and good will.

Thursday, November 29, 1928, designated as Thanksgiving Day.

Wherefore, I, Calvin Coolidge, President of the United States, do hereby set apart Thursday, the twenty-ninth day of November next as a day of general thanksgiving and prayer, and I recommend that on that day the people shall cease from their daily work, and in their homes and in their accustomed places of worship, devoutly give thanks to the Almighty for the many and great blessings they have received, and seek His guidance that they may deserve a continuance of His favor.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the great seal of the United States.

A PROCLAMATION

Armistice Day, 1928. Preamble.

WHEREAS, the 11th of November, 1918, marked the cessation of the most destructive, sanguinary, and far-reaching war in human annals; and

Whereas, it is fitting that the recurring anniversary of this day should be commemorated with thanksgiving and prayer, and by exercises designed to further the cause of permanent peace through the maintenance of good will and friendly relations between nations; and

Whereas, by concurrent resolution of the Senate and the House of Representatives, in 1926, the President was requested to issue a proclamation for the observance of Armistice Day: Vol. 44, p. 1982.

Now, therefore, I, Calvin Coolidge, President of the United States of America, in pursuance of the said concurrent resolution, do hereby order that the flag of the United States be displayed on all Government buildings on November 11, 1928, and do invite the people of the United States to observe the day in schools and churches, and other suitable places, with appropriate ceremonies, giving expression to our gratitude for peace and the hope and desire that our friendly relations with other peoples may continue. Directing display of flags and inviting observance of, on November 11, 1928.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the great seal of the United States.

Done at the city of Washington this third day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twenty-eight, and of the Independence of the United States of America, the one hundred and fifty-third.

A PROCLAMATION

Whereas in and by section 315 (a) of Title III of the act of Congress approved September 21, 1922, entitled "An act to provide revenue, to regulate commerce with foreign countries, to encourage the industries of the United States, and for other purposes," it is, among other things, provided that whenever the President, upon investigation of the differences in costs of production of articles wholly or in part the growth or product of the United States and of like or similar articles wholly or in part the growth or product of competing foreign countries, shall find it thereby shown that the duties fixed in this act do not equalize the said differences in costs of production in the United States and the principal competing country he shall, by such investigation, ascertain said differences and determine and proclaim the changes in classifications or increases or decreases in rates of duty provided in said act shown by said ascertained differences in such costs of production necessary to equalize the same; Tariff on potassium permanganate. Preamble. Statutory authorization. Vol. 42, p. 941.

Whereas in and by section 315 (c) of said act it is further provided that in ascertaining the differences in costs of production, under the provisions of subdivisions (a) and (b) of said section, the President, in so far as he finds it practicable, shall take into consideration (1) the differences in conditions in production, including wages, costs of material, and other items in costs of production of such or similar articles in the United States and in competing foreign countries; (2) the differences in the wholesale selling prices of domestic and foreign articles in the principal markets of the United States; (3) advantages granted to a foreign producer by a foreign government, or by a person, partnership, corporation, or association in a foreign country; and (4) any other advantages or disadvantages in competition; Vol. 42, p. 942.

Whereas, under and by virtue of said section of said act, the United States Tariff Commission has made an investigation to assist the President in ascertaining the differences in costs of production of and of all other facts and conditions enumerated in said section with respect to the article described in paragraph 80 of Title I of said tariff act of 1922, namely, potassium permanganate, being wholly or in part the growth or product of the United States, and of and with respect to a like or similar article wholly or in part the growth or product of competing foreign countries;

Vol. 42, p. 868.

Whereas in the course of said investigation a hearing was held, of which reasonable public notice was given and at which parties interested were given reasonable opportunity to be present, to produce evidence, and to be heard;

And whereas the President upon said investigation of said differences in costs of production of the said article wholly or in part the growth or product of the United States and of the like or similar article wholly or in part the growth or product of competing foreign countries, has thereby found that the principal competing country is Germany and that the duty fixed in said title and act does not equalize the differences in costs of production in the United States and in said principal competing country, namely, Germany, and has ascertained and determined the increased rate of duty necessary to equalize the same.

Increasing duty on potassium permanganate to equalize differences in costs of production.

Now, therefore, I, Calvin Coolidge, President of the United States of America, do hereby determine and proclaim that the increase in the rate of duty provided in said act shown by said ascertained differences in said costs of production necessary to equalize the same is as follows:

Rate.

An increase in said duty on potassium permanganate (within the limit of total increase provided for in said act), from 4 cents per pound to 6 cents per pound.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington this sixteenth day of November in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and [SEAL] twenty-eight, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and fifty-third.

A PROCLAMATION

Copyrights. Preamble.

WHEREAS it is provided by the Act of Congress approved March 4, 1909, entitled "An Act to Amend and Consolidate the Acts Respecting Copyright", that the copyright secured by the Act, except the benefits under Section 1 (e) thereof as to which special conditions are imposed, shall extend to the work of an author or proprietor who is a citizen or subject of a foreign state or nation, only upon certain conditions set forth in Section 8 of the said Act, to wit:

Vol. 35, p. 1075.

Vol. 35, p. 1077.

(a) When an alien author or proprietor shall be domiciled within the United States at the time of the first publication of his work; or

(b) When the foreign state or nation of which such author or proprietor is a citizen or subject grants, either by treaty, convention, agreement, or law, to citizens of the United States the benefit of copyright on substantially the same basis as to its own citizens, or copyright protection substantially equal to the protection secured to such foreign author under this Act or by treaty; or when such foreign state or nation is a party to an international agreement which provides for reciprocity in the granting of copyright, by the terms of which agreement the United States may, at its pleasure, become a party thereto:

AND WHEREAS it is provided by Section 1 (e) of the said Act of Congress, approved March 4, 1909, that the provisions of the Act "so far as they secure copyright controlling the parts of instruments serving to reproduce mechanically the musical work, shall include only compositions published and copyrighted after this Act goes into effect, and shall not include the works of a foreign author or composer unless the foreign state or nation of which such author or composer is a citizen or subject grants, either by treaty, convention, agreement or law, to citizens of the United States similar rights";

AND WHEREAS the President is authorized by the said Section 8 to determine by proclamation made from time to time the existence of the reciprocal conditions aforesaid, as the purposes of the Act may require;

Action by Finland.

AND WHEREAS satisfactory official assurances have been received that on and after January 1, 1929, citizens of the United States shall be entitled to obtain copyright for their works in Finland which is substantially equal to the protection afforded by the copyright laws of the United States, including rights similar to those provided by Section 1 (e) of the Copyright Act of the United States, approved March 4, 1909.

Benefits extended to citizens of Finland, including mechanical reproductions.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Calvin Coolidge, President of the United States of America, do declare and proclaim

That on and after January 1, 1929, the conditions specified in Sections 8 (b) and 1 (e) of the Act of March 4, 1909, will exist and be fulfilled in respect to the citizens of Finland and that on and after January 1, 1929, citizens of Finland shall be entitled to all the benefits of the Act of March 4, 1909, including Section 1 (e) thereof and the Acts amendatory of the said Act.

Conditions.

PROVIDED that the enjoyment by any work of the rights and benefits conferred by the Act of March 4, 1909, and the Acts amendatory thereof, shall be conditional upon compliance with the requirements and formalities prescribed with respect to such works by the copyright laws of the United States.

AND PROVIDED FURTHER that the provisions of Section 1 (e) of the Act of March 4, 1909, in so far as they secure copyright controlling the parts of instruments serving to reproduce mechanically musical works shall apply only to compositions published after July 1, 1909, and registered for copyright in the United States which have not been reproduced within the United States prior to January 1, 1929, on any contrivance by means of which the work may be mechanically performed.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the City of Washington this fifteenth day of December in the year of Our Lord one thousand nine hundred and [SEAL] twenty-eight and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and fifty-third.

A PROCLAMATION

Tariff on onions. Preamble. Vol. 42, p. 941. Statutory authorization.

Whereas in and by section 315 (a) of Title III of the act of Congress approved September 21, 1922, entitled "An act to provide revenue, to regulate commerce with foreign countries, to encourage the industries of the United States, and for other purposes," it is, among other things, provided that whenever the President, upon investigation of the differences in costs of production of articles wholly or in part the growth or product of the United States and of like or similar articles wholly or in part the growth or product of competing foreign countries, shall find it thereby shown that the duties fixed in this act do not equalize the said differences in costs of production in the United States and the principal competing country he shall, by such investigation, ascertain said differences and determine and proclaim the changes in classifications or increases or decreases in rates of duty provided in said act shown by said ascertained differences in such costs of production necessary to equalize the same;

Vol. 42, p. 942.

Whereas in and by section 315 (c) of said act it is further provided that in ascertaining the differences in costs of production, under the provisions of subdivisions (a) and (b) of said section, the President, in so far as he finds it practicable, shall take into consideration (1) the differences in conditions in production, including wages, costs of material, and other items in costs of production of such or similar articles in the United States and in competing foreign countries; (2) the differences in the wholesale selling prices of domestic and foreign articles in the principal markets of the United States; (3) advantages granted to a foreign producer by a foreign government, or by a person, partnership, corporation, or association in a foreign country; and (4) any other advantages or disadvantages in competition;

Whereas, under and by virtue of said section of said act, the United States Tariff Commission has made an investigation to assist the President in ascertaining the differences in costs of production of and of all other facts and conditions enumerated in said section with respect to the article described in paragraph 768 of Title I of said tariff act of 1922, namely, onions, being wholly or in part the growth or product of the United States, and of and with respect to a like or similar article wholly or in part the growth or product of competing foreign countries;

Vol. 42, p. 896.

Whereas in the course of said investigation a hearing was held, of which reasonable public notice was given and at which parties interested were given reasonable opportunity to be present, to produce evidence, and to be heard;

And whereas the President upon said investigation of said differences in costs of production of the said article wholly or in part the growth or product of the United States and of the like or similar article wholly or in part the growth or product of competing foreign countries, has thereby found that the principal competing country is Spain and that the duty fixed in said title and act does not equalize the differences in costs of production in the United States and in said principal competing country, namely, Spain, and has ascertained and determined the increased rate of duty necessary to equalize the same.

Increasing duty on onions to equalize differences in costs of production.

Now, therefore, I, Calvin Coolidge, President of the United States of America, do hereby determine and proclaim that the increase in the rate of duty provided in said act shown by said ascertained differences in said costs of production necessary to equalize the same is as follows:

Rate.

An increase in said duty on onions (within the limit of total increase provided for in said act), from 1 cent per pound to 1½ cents per pound.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

And whereas the President upon said investigation of said differences in costs of production of the said articles wholly or in part the growth or product of the United States and of the like or similar articles wholly or in part the growth or product of competing foreign countries, has thereby found that the principal competing country is China and that the duty fixed in said title and act does not equalize the differences in costs of production in the United States and in said principal competing country, namely, China, and has ascertained and determined the increased rate of duty necessary to equalize the same.

Increasing duty on eggs, etc., to equalize differences in costs of production.

Now, therefore, I, Calvin Coolidge, President of the United States of America, do hereby determine and proclaim that the increase in the rate of duty provided in said act shown by said ascertained differences in said costs of production necessary to equalize the same is as follows:

Rate.

An increase in said duty on whole eggs, egg yolk, and egg albumen, frozen or otherwise prepared or preserved, and not specially provided for, from 6 cents per pound to 7½ cents per pound.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the City of Washington this twentieth day of February, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and fifty-third.

[SEAL]

CALVIN COOLIDGE

By the President:

FRANK B KELLOGG
Secretary of State.
