

27.1.1.3 Referencing Related Manifestations

LC practice: When the decision has been made to create a separate record for the reproduction, follow the guidelines below. The guidelines do not apply when the “single-record” or “provider neutral” technique is being used.

Relationship to the original: on the record for the reproduction, use a structured description to give the attributes of the original.

1. MARC field:
 - a. Carrier of reproduction is the same as the carrier of the original: use MARC field 775.
 - b. Carrier of reproduction is not the same as the carrier of the original: use MARC field 776.
2. Use the relationship designator “Reproduction of (manifestation)”

Relationship to the reproduction for serials: on the record for the original, use a structured description to give the attributes of the reproduction. (Generally do not give this reciprocal relationship for monographs and integrating resources.)

1. MARC field:
 - a. Carrier of reproduction is the same as the carrier of the original: use MARC field 775.
 - b. Carrier of reproduction is not the same as the carrier of the original: use MARC field 776.
2. Use the relationship designator “Reproduced as”

If the manifestation is a compilation containing reproductions of works not published earlier as a compilation, give a bibliographic history note, rather than MARC 775/776 linking fields, about the individual works if you think that information would be helpful to the user.

If the reproduction is a facsimile of a manuscript and attributes of the original for use in a MARC 775/776 linking field are not readily ascertainable, give a bibliographic history note with the information you have.
